Creating Space for Family Bible Study

As September passes by in a flash, some of us may be surprised that a whole month of Sunday School has gone by without finding the time to review the first handful of lessons with our children.

What can we do to be more intentional and successful with creating space to review the lesson with our children? It starts with blocking out time on the calendar to sit down and make it happen!

Make it a goal this month to sit down and find a time that works for your family. Is it first thing in the morning, after dinner, or just before bedtime? There is no wrong answer.

As I shared before, my family has blocked off one night a week after dinner. We all know when it is and work together to make it happen. We even plan out the dessert together on grocery day, so it is ready to go.

Without being intentional and carving out space in the calendar, our busy lives will not allow us to remember this important part of the week. I would love to hear what works best for your family!

Psalm 1:1

Blessed is the man who walks not in the council of the wicked, nor stands in the way of sinners, nor sits in the seat of scoffers;

We believe that God has called both the church and home to raise up the next generations to know, honor, and treasure God.

BOOK CLUB

Good Pictures Bad Pictures

Want a natural and comfortable way to talk to your kids about pornography? This newly revised edition of the original bestseller makes that daunting discussion easy! Good Pictures Bad Pictures is a read-aloud story about a mom and dad who explain what pornography is, why it's dangerous, and how to reject it.

The Serpent Slayer (Ages 9-13)

What starts as a normal day running away from bullies and mundanity turns into much, much more for the twins Nomi and Emmet when they discover a strange artifact. Soon they find themselves traveling through a mysterious scroll into a world of Biblical stories, filled with riddles to unravel and questions of whom to trust. But will the twins be able to solve the mysteries, or will they never return home again?

Henry's Big Mistake (Ages 4-7)

Halle gets new braces and has trouble saying some words. Her brother, Henry is irritated and teases her in front of their friends. Now Henry is feeling bad, and tries to be nice to Halle, but that doesn't help anything. With the help of his parents and Sunday school teacher, Henry learns that good deeds never make up for sin. Sin requires confession, repentance and forgiveness.
