

EMILIA PÉREZ

A musical written and directed by Jacques Audiard

In collaboration with Thomas Bidegain

Songs:

Lyrics: Camille et Jacques Audiard

Music: Clément Ducol and Camille

EXT. MEXICO CITY - NIGHT

Top shot and perpendicular zoom: Mexico City. Lights shimmer like stars, building facades lit up like video games, etc.

In the far distance, a peddler's saturated chant: "Se compran colchones."

WOMAN (FROM AFAR)

Se compran,
colchones, tambores,
refrigeradores, estufas,
lavadoras,
micro-ondas...
¿o algo de fierro viejo que vendan?

EXT. APARTMENT MENDOZA - NIGHT

As we approach the buildings, we first discover empty offices, then apartments. On the top floor of a luxury building, we make out silhouettes behind the curtains.

WOMAN (FROM AFAR)

Se compran,
colchones, tambores,
refrigeradores, estufas,
lavadoras,
micro-ondas...
¿o algo de fierro viejo que vendan?

A woman tries to escape a man's attack. Extreme violence. Suddenly he grabs her, pulls her to the bay window, lifts her up and throws her like a bundle over the railing.

Just as she hits the ground, the image freezes in a flash of light.

INSERT COMPUTER SCREEN:

A cascade of letters form the file heading:

CASE: "GABRIEL MENDOZA" DEFENSE SPEECH

A woman's voice. Almost internal, and halting, as if groping for her words in what sounds like a defense speech.

1M1 EL ALEGATO

RITA (O.S.)

Este caso, este caso, este caso
This case, this case, this case.

INT. 7-ELEVEN MARKET - EVENING

A mixed noise of radio and television broadcasting video surveillance images.

RITA MORA CASTRO is 27. Wearing braided stretch pants, a shapeless jacket, and gold loafers, she does not look like much. A heavy bag is slung over her shoulder.

She continues with her speech that no one seems to be listening to.

RITA

Señor presidente, señor juez
Honorables defensores de la familia de la difunta

Mr. President, Mr. Judge
Honorable advocates for the family of the deceased,

Honorables colegas de la parte civil Estimados miembros del jurado, estoy de acuerdo con mis colegas de la fiscalía, Honorable colleagues of the civil party
Dear members of the jury, I agree with my colleagues from the prosecution,

Este caso es un caso demasiado mundano
Es un caso de violencia

This case is too mundane a case.
It is a case of violence,

She sees her reflection in the fridge doors...

... opens a door, takes out a pack of frozen food. She checks the ingredients, scowls and puts it back.

She goes to the register to pay. The cashier wears an eye patch behind his glasses. She leaves.

EXT. STREET IN CHAPULTEPEC - NIGHT

Rita walks out into the empty street. She walks for a moment, lost in thought.

RITA

Ir hacia arriba, ir hacia abajo.
Ir hacia arriba, ir hacia abajo.
Ir hacia arriba, ir hacia abajo
Ir hacia arriba, ir hacia abajo

Going up, going down.
Going up, going down.
Going up, going down.
Going up, going down.

Her words are suddenly repeated by voices behind her. She turns around. At the end of the street, a dense crowd coming her way. It looks like a demonstration. It engulfs her, overtakes her... The crowd is made up of dog walkers, scooters, hawkers selling cigarette lighters and gaudy toys, bubble machines, sandwich men...

RITA (CONT'D)

Hablamos de Violencia.

De Amor. De Muerte

De un País que sufre.

What are we talking about today and now?

We are talking about Violence.

About Love. About Death.

About a Country that suffers.

Rita is carried away by the flow. At times her feet no longer touch the ground. The milling crowd repeats her words like a slogan: "Violence, love, death, a suffering country..."

CUT TO:

Insert: a computer screen, words: "What are we talking about today? Violence. Love. Death. A suffering country..."

BACK TO:

RITA (CONT'D)

¿De quién hablamos hoy y ahora?

Hablamos de una pareja.

La pareja que formaba mi cliente con su esposa la que fue asesinada.

Who are we talking about today and now?

We are talking about a couple.

The couple my client and his wife, the one who was killed.

In the middle of what looks like a bustling market: a sidewalk café with high stools, steaming dishes and a sizzling barbecue. Stalls are set up, laden with goods, awnings are stretched over Rita. Shops, conversations, commotion... Rita is caught up in the movement.

Una pareja próspera, envidiada pero una pareja pródiga

¿Quién dime quién en México no les quera?, por favor?

A prosperous couple, much envied, but a prodigal couple.

Who, tell me who, in Mexico didn't love them, please?

No es ningún cuento de hadas, es una historia de amor

This is no fairy tale.
This is a love story

Vuelvo a los hechos.
Back to the facts.

On the ground in the dark: a man is knifed and beat to a pulp.
Money changes hands. A shopkeeper counts it and hands the customer some money.

EXT. STREET IN CHAPULTEPEC - NIGHT

Insert: images of the MENDOZAS (both in their 50s).
Husband elegant and fit. Wife, same age, overly coiffed and made up.

Rita walks through the crowded market. Young women accompany her, repeating her words in unison.

RITA

De qué hablamos hoy y ahora?
De justicia que se compra?
¿Con veredictos pagados,
que engordan periodico, cuellos cortados al lado derecho,
las chicas bonitas
al lado izquierdo y el morbo corriendo en las calles?

What are we talking about now and today?
Of a justice that can be bought?
With paid verdicts,
fattening tabloids,
cut necks on the right side,
and gossip running in the streets?

The crowd occasionally joins in the refrain.

CHORUS

Ir hacia arriba, ir hacia abajo
Ir hacia arriba, ir hacia abajo
Ir hacia arriba, ir hacia abajo
Ir hacia arriba, ir hacia abajo

Going up, going down.
Going up, going down.
Going up, going down.
Going up, going down.

RITA

¿Con veredictos pagados, cuellos cortados,
las chicas bonitas
el morbo corriendo
en las calles?

With paid verdicts,
cut necks, pretty girls and gossip in the streets?

RITA (CONT'D)

Distinguir lo verdadero de lo falso
Distinguish the true from the false

A table and chair appear. Rita places her computer on the oilcloth and types. A refreshment stand has materialized around her.

Insert: a printer churns out her defense speech.

Vengan, todos, abran las Puertas del Tribunal de su Conciencia ¡Oigan, respondan mi pregunta!
¿Podrían dar a mi cliente, el señor
Gabriel Mendoza, el derecho de amar a su esposa?

Come, all of you, open the Doors of the Court of your Consciousness.
Answer my question! Will you please give my client, Mr.
Gabriel Mendoza, the right to love his wife?

CUT TO:

Insert: computer screen: "the right to love his wife?"

BACK TO:

CHORUS

Su Señoría, pido el triunfo del
Amor, de la Inocencia, la derrota de la Mala Fe
Fe, fe, fe, fe

Your Honor, I ask for the triumph of Love, of Innocence, the defeat of Bad Faith, faith, faith, faith, faith, faith.

Rita continues to type frenziedly. The owner of the stand reads over her shoulder.

RITA

Cuando hablemos de Violencia
Hablemos de Compasión.
Hablemos de nuestros Muertos
Hablemos de nuestras Sombras Acojamos nuestro Mundo.

When we speak of Violence
 Let us speak of Compassion
 Let us talk about our Dead,
 Let us talk about our Shadows
 Let us embrace our World

 Abramos el Corazón
 Amemos a las Mujeres
 Perdonemos a los Hombres
 Abracemos la Miseria,
 ¡La Miseria!
 ¡La Miseria!
 ¡La Miseria!

When we speak of Violence
 Let us Open our Hearts
 Let us Love Women
 Let us Forgive Men
 Let us Embrace Misery, Misery!
 Misery!
 Misery!

Pages come out of the printer. Rita takes them mechanically while rereading in a hurry:

... Aún así es víctima de estos mismos medios que se han encargado de calumniarlo. Han sometido a mi cliente y a su pareja al escrutinio público. Ahora todos, nos sentimos con el derecho de apuntar con el dedo y tener una opinión condenatoria hacia ellos dos...

... Yet he is a victim of these same media that have been responsible for slandering him. They have put my client and his partner under public scrutiny. Now, we all feel we have the right to point fingers and have a condemning opinion towards the two of them.

OWNER

¿Más café?
 More coffee?

RITA

Sí, por favor.
 Yes, please.

OWNER

Ya es hora, vas a llegar tarde.
 It's time, you're going to be late.

Rita finishes the plea while packing up the sheets and putting the computer in her briefcase.

RITA (ON/OFF)

Sí, sí... Me parece haber desmontado no una, sino todas las pruebas de la acusación.

Pido pura y simplemente la liberación de mi cliente, el señor Gabriel Mendoza.

Yes, yes... I seem to have refuted not one, but all of the prosecution's arguments.

I ask purely and simply that the case against my client Gabriel Mendoza be dismissed...

She melts into the crowd of workers taking down stands and leaving.

Over a neutral background, we segue to: feet and lower bodies replaced by other feet and bodies. Feet of the rich soon replace those of the poor.

EXT/INT. COURTHOUSE

We follow two chairs being carried by two hands. We enter what seems to be another place: noise, reverberating echoes...

A loud amplified voice:

MAN

¡Corte, pónganse de pie!
All rise! The judge!

Ya pueden sentarse.
Please sit.

Chairs scrape. An audience takes its place in a courtroom.

INT. MEXICO CITY COURTROOM - NIGHT

Rita watches her boss, the lawyer BERLINGER, unfold "his" plea with poses of torero. Occasionally she mouths the words of "her" closing argument. She pushes a sheet of paper on the table so that Berlinger can discreetly read it.

BERLINGER

Ahora todos, nos sentimos con el derecho de apuntar con el dedo y tener una opinión condenatoria hacia ellos dos. Hoy quisiera apelar a sus conciencias señoras y señores.

¿Ustedes creen que Gabriel Mendoza ha levantado un dedo no en contra de su mujer sino en contra de cualquier mujer o persona cuando ha hecho tanto bien a la gente de esta ciudad?

Now, we all feel we have the right to point fingers and have a condemning opinion towards the two of them. Today I would like to appeal to your consciences. Ladies and gentlemen, do you believe that Gabriel Mendoza has raised a finger not only against his wife but against any woman or person when he has done so much good for the people of this city?

Me parece haber desmontado no una, sino todas las pruebas de la acusación. Pido pura y simplemente la liberación de mi cliente, el señor Gabriel Mendoza.

I seem to have refuted not one, but all of the prosecution's arguments.

Next to him, Gabriel Mendoza follows the plea with a regretful look.

Like a flash: the body of the woman in sequence 1 continues to plummet and crashes on the sidewalk.

On the twelfth floor, a grey-haired, well-dressed man looks over the railing: GABRIEL MENDOZA.

INT. COURTHOUSE - NIGHT

In the foreground, Rita's face on the phone, behind Mendoza and Berlinger in the spotlight of the TV cameras.

RITA

... ¿Bueno, mamá? Ganamos. Sí, ganamos... sí, sí estoy contenta... Pero tengo un mal sabor en la boca... te decía que... Nada, olvídalo... ¿el domingo? No puedo..Tengo un buen de pendientes... Yo también, besos bye...

... Hello, Mom? We won. Yes, we won... Yes, yes, I'm happy... Just a little bad taste in my mouth... I was telling you that... Nothing, never mind... Sunday? I won't be able to... I have a lot of work... Me too, kisses bye...

She hangs up. Rita looks for a moment at Mendoza and Berlinger...

BERLINGER

Ni mi cliente, ni yo no dudamos jamás de la justicia de mi país.
Neither my client nor I ever doubt the justice of my country.

... Suddenly something seems to annoy her, as if her pants were too tight.

RITA

...¡No, vale madre!
shit!

She understands. She turns around looking for someone. She goes to a secretary deep in discussion with a lawyer.

RITA (CONT'D)

Disculpa... (al oído de la chica) ¿No tendrás un tampón porfa? Soy un desmadre en este momento...
Excuse me... (into the girl's ear) Do you have a tampon?
I'm a mess right now...

INT. WOMEN'S RESTROOM COURTHOUSE - DAY

We hear bathroom noises. Toilets flushing, faucets, blowers, etc.

Blood on her hands. Her phone vibrates. She wipes her hand on toilet paper and grabs her phone with two fingers so it won't get bloodied.

She looks at the screen. Unknown caller.

She answers.

RITA

¿Sí, qué?
Hello?

RITA (CONT'D)

¿Bueno?
Hello?

MAN (O.S.)

¿Señora Rita Mora Castro?
Señora Rita Mora Castro?

RITA

Sí.
Yes.

MAN (O.S.)

... ¿Pero qué anda haciendo en el baño? A quien deberían aplaudirle es a usted.

So what are you doing in the crapper? You're the one who should be lauded.

Rita instinctively looks around.

...

MAN (O.S.)

¿Le gustaría ser ama y señora de su propio destino, aunque sea una vez?

How would you like to be master of your fate for once?

RITA

¿Quién habla?

Who are you?

MAN (O.S.)

Si le interesa va a buscarla un carro en diez minutos al puesto de periódicos.

If it interests you, a car will pick you up in ten minutes at the newsstand.

RITA

Es que yo...

But I...

He has hung up.

INT. COURTHOUSE - NIGHT

She is back in the corridor.

A WOMAN

Ahí ya está cerrado, hay que pasar por la sala.

It's closed that way. Go in through the courtroom.

She stumbles into a crew of cleaning ladies wearing pink smocks.
Rita follows them, singing, at first with her inner voice, as if a thought were grazing her lips.

TATTOOED GUY (O.S.)

¡Señora!
 Señora!

RITA

Sí.
 Yes.

She swings around. An SUV appears out of nowhere. Through the windshield, she can distinguish the pixelated face of the driver: NB in the film, as in the press and documentaries, sicarios' faces will be pixelated.

Another "pixelated" sicario climbs out of the back seat.

TATTOOED MAN

¿Señora Mora Castro?
 Señora Mora Castro?

RITA

... sí.
 ...Yes.

He slips a hood over her head...

RITA (CONT'D)

 Ooh!

EXT. CHIHUAHUA DESERT - NIGHT

1M3 SUV Instrumental

Top shot: an SUV zooms through the desert. The headlights project two beams onto the sand.

A trail of dust lingers behind. On the radio, the guttural inflections of a cheesy narco-corrido song.

INT. SUV - NIGHT

The music continues. Rita is still hooded.

A sudden shock: The car hits a bump. Rita is brutally sent flying to one side.

RITA

¡Ah!

Ah!

One of the men sits her up straight. Her hood slips enough to leave a chink through which she sees: the silhouettes of the men up front, the lights on the dashboard, the monotonous landscape whipping by...

EXT. DESERT - NIGHT

... Then, suddenly, a ruined bridge with corpses hanging from the railings.

EXT. DESERT - NIGHT

The SUV dims its lights and drives in the night.

On closer look, what first looked like specks of light and clouds of dust becomes a convoy of thirty trucks in the desert. Pickup trucks equipped with machine guns, trailers, armored SUVs, etc.

The SUV drives alongside the convoy that slows down to stop.

End 1M3

EXT. DESERT - NIGHT

The convoy is now stopped with the engine still on.

Still hooded, Rita is escorted by the two sicarios.

On the platforms of the pickups, there are armed and sometimes masked men, covered with dust.

In the back of a pickup there are also wounded men who are being bandaged or given local painkillers.

We hear a noise from the sky. It's a drone that a sicario picks up.

Rita's POV: men's feet, guns, voices.

SICARIO (OFF)
Dile al patrón que están a 30 km, que tenemos que ir.
Tell the boss they are 30 kilometers away, we have to go.

... An animal presence. Suddenly a dog burrows its nose in her crotch...

EXT/INT. MANITAS' TRAILER - NIGHT

... a few metal steps... knocks on a door... the door opening...

SICARIO 2 (OFF)
Rosario los vió, están a 30

Rosario saw them, they are 30 kilometers away. We gotta get out of here.

No comment, just the atmosphere has changed. She is sat down and secured with a seat belt. Sound of door being closed.

After a while.

 Usted es Manitas Del Monte.
 You are Manitas Del Monte.

MANITAS (OFF)
 ¿Y qué sabe de mi situación abogada
 Mora Castro?
 Counselor Mora Castro, and what do you know of my situation?

She hesitates.

RITA
 Al parecer el cártel Del Monte tiene algunos problemas actualmente. La prensa dice que sus fuentes de abastecimiento se encuentran en manos del Cártel de Los Tiburones y que las elecciones pasadas no favorecieron a los políticos que lo respaldan. Quienes todavía no lo han abandonado lo harán muy pronto.
 It seems the Del Monte cartel is having some problems at the moment. According to the papers, the Los Tiburones cartel has taken over your supply chain, and the last elections didn't favor the politicians who support you.
 The ones who haven't dumped you yet, will dump you soon enough.

 dark on the other side of a desk. He tosses aside the hood and sits back down.

They are in an armored trailer with three rows of seats to either side of a table littered with cell phones. The light comes from ceiling spots and reading lights. Above Rita, a CCTV screen showing: interiors of truck cabs, the road behind and ahead.

Manitas speaks softly, as if fatigued or disgusted.

MANITAS

No... No puedo seguir escondiéndome, cambiando de casa, de departamento, como se cambia de camisa ... La jubilación no existe para la gente como yo.

No... I can't go on hiding, changing houses, flats, the same way I would change a shirt... Peace does not exist for people like me.

RITA

¿En qué le puedo ayudar?
How may I help you?

MANITAS

Contestar esta pregunta supondría que ya aceptó la misión y el secreto que conlleva. Si te digo de qué se trata, ya no hay vuelta atrás. Oírlo es aceptarlo.
Debes saber también que si te digo de qué se trata y entonces aceptas, considerables sumas de dinero se transferirán en Suiza, las Caimán, de las que sólo tú y yo conoceremos la existencia. Cifras y códigos, cuentas y millones. Sólo tú y yo..

To answer that question would mean that you have already accepted the mission and the secrecy that goes with it. If I tell you what it is about, there is no turning back. To hear it is to accept it. You must also know that if I tell you what it is about and then you accept, considerable sums of money will be transferred in Switzerland, the Caymans, of which only you and I will know the existence. Figures and codes, accounts and millions. Only you and I...

RITA

Ok, dígame ¿qué quiere de mí?
Ok, tell me, what do you want from me?

MANITAS

¿Estás segura?
Are you sure?

RITA

Sí.
Yes.

END 1M4 EL ENCUENTRO

He slides a sheet of paper over to Rita. She hesitates before looking at it. Manitas insists with a nod. Rita looks at the sheet: numbers with lots of zeros.

RITA (CONT'D)

¿A qué me arriesgo?

What do I risk?

MANITAS

A volverse rica.

Becoming rich.

Suddenly Rita feels as if the lights have dimmed and the sound has become muffled. The white glow of the paper with numbers on it.

Rita catches her breath.

RITA

(suspirando) ...está bien.

(in a breath) All right.

MANITAS

No oí.

I didn't hear.

RITA

Está bien.

All right.

MANITAS

¿Qué está bien?

All right, what?

She swallows and points to the sheet of numbers.

Manitas takes his time.

¿Qué no entiende?

(en voz baja, como en secreto)
 ...quiere decir: ¿físicamente mujer?
 (softly, like a secret) You mean a woman... physically?

MANITAS

Sí.
 Yes.

RITA

¿Quiere volverse mujer físicamente?
 You want to physically become a woman?

MANITAS

Sí.
 Yes.

RITA

No entiendo. ¿Quiere cambiar de vida o cambiar de sexo?
 I don't understand, do you want a new life or a new gender?

MANITAS

¿Cuál es la diferencia?
 Is there a difference?

RITA

Pues... es qu... (intentando sonreír)
 ¡soy abogada, señor Del Monte, no

 But... uh... (trying to smile) I'm a lawyer, Mr. Del Monte, not a surgeon!

MANITAS

Para eso acabo de contratarla, para

 You've just been hired to find a good one.

RITA

 But... mmm... well... it doesn't simply happen that way,

MANITAS

Ya empecé el tratamiento, hace dos

 I started treatment two years ago.

Manitas takes her hand and slips it under his shirt.

He rips open his jacket and shows her his developing breasts.

MANITAS (CONT'D)

¿Qué te pasa? ¿Te quieres echar pa' atrás? Ya no se puede, ni tú, ni yo podemos salir de esto.

What's the matter? You looking for a way out? There's no way out. Not for you, not for me.

She stares at him, flabbergasted.

INT. BERLINGER'S OFFICES - NIGHT

Rita sits behind a pile of files in Berlinger's offices. Her glass cubicle is in the back of the landscaped space. She seems to be at work like everyone else.

MANITAS (O.S.)

Habrá que buscar un lugar seguro para el "reseteo", lejos de aquí, ni en este país, ni en Estados Unidos... un lugar donde sea imposible encontrarme. Búscame alguien difícil de rastrear, alguien competente, intachable... El que te precedió me hizo perder el tiempo... Señora Mora Castro, cuentas con todos mis recursos, y a escala humana, son ilimitados.

For the "reset" we'll need a safe place, far from here, not in this country. And not in the US... A place where no one could ever find me. Look for someone untraceable, someone of the highest moral fiber and surgical prowess...
The person before you, made me waste my time...
Mrs. Mora Castro, you have all my resources, and on a human scale, they are unlimited.

She slides her hand in her bag and pulls out a matte black credit card. The card reads: INFINITE.

In CU on her computer screen: images of vaginoplasties, mammoplasties, facial plastic surgery, etc...

While glancing at the screen and typing, Rita answers the phone:

RITA

¿Bueno? no... sí, no... mamá, tengo que colgar... sí, no... me están llamando, voy a colgar mamá... voy a colgar...

Hello? No... yeah, no... mom, I have to go... yeah... I have another call, I'm hanging up, mom... I'm hanging

She hangs up.

Then videos in which smiling Asian surgeons vaunt the quality of their technique in English. Rita jots down a few addresses.

Rita is now on the phone, speaking softly so that no one else will hear.

Well, Business... but it's much more expensive. Is your company paying?

 What kind of card?

Rita takes the Infinity card from her bag.

Rita makes her way against the flow of stretchers on which operations take place.

Patients Face-Time their new faces and bodies.

A new human race marches behind Rita: people in their sixties, women, men, entirely remade, smiling with big white teeth that look like kitchen sinks.

RITA AND CHORUS

 Men to women, women to men
 Men to women, women to men

Her cohorts disappear. Rita is alone, contented and exhausted.

A plastic sheet billows in a draft behind her.

Suddenly a plastic bag is pulled over her head. Hands grab her neck. A man whose face is pixelated sticks a phone in her face.

MAN

¡Oye bien, pendeja!
 Listen, bitch!

We hear Manitas' distorted voice on the loudspeaker:

MANITAS (O.S.)

Rita sits back down in front of the stunned doctor.

WASSERMAN

Can... Can I at least talk to him?

RITA

WASSERMAN

On what?

RITA

On you. If you are not willing to accept, it's not worth it to talk to him. To listen to him is to accept.

EXT. CHIHUAHUA DESERT - NIGHT

Ah! (yelling) Could you ask them to lower their shitty music?

RITA (O.S.)

(gritando) Oigan muchachos, ¿pueden bajarle un poco al volumen por favor?

(yelling) Hey guys, can you please turn it down!

The music stops.

EXT. MANITAS' COMPOUND - NIGHT

Five cars are parked in a circle around Manitas' compound.

A cloud of dust, the doors open... the hoods are pulled off...

A finger presses a button, turning on the generator.

Projectors on the vehicles light up to shape a circle. Stakes are unloaded from the cars. Ropes are tied and canvas stretched.

Holding his bag, Wasserman takes an anthropologist's look at the crowd. Neither the weapons nor the sinister looks frighten him.

But it is also true that the atmosphere is very different from scene 14, tonight there is like a smell of freedom.

EXT. MANITAS' COMPOUND - NIGHT

A hand reaches into the frame..

Rita makes the introductions in English:

RITA
Manitas Del Monte... Professor
Wasserman.

Wasserman shakes his hand.

MANITAS
Good evening, Professor, did you have a good trip?

WASSERMAN
Besides the shitty music, excellent.

MANITAS
Are you hungry, would you like to rest?

WASSERMAN
Neither... We can start whenever you want.

Rita watches them disappear into Manitas' armored vehicle.

We approach until her face fills the frame.

Start of 1M13 Chiaroscuro

On this image are superimposed:

EXT. MANITAS' COMPOUND - NIGHT

- A guy fiddles with a record player. Throbbing music.
- Tilted down: infared images of the camp and the landscape. These are the images of a drone remote control. The pilot with other armed guards are set up on a height overlooking the camp.

Walkie-talkies crackle and the sound system echoes as it is set below.

The music will cover all of the following:

- In the halo of directional spotlights, two pickups arrive. Inside, young and not-so-young women dressed for the party.

From the welcome they receive from the occupants of the camp, we understand that they are their regulars, or their escorts. In the light of the LEDs the colors flash.

- From a pickup are unloaded solid and liquid provisions: Reserves of water, beer and mezcal. People help themselves before everything is unpacked.

- Rita accepts the can of beer that is offered to her.

She observes while drinking.

- The faces of Manitas and Wasserman. The former speaks, the latter listens and takes notes in a red notebook.

- A rising moon.

- The red notebook.

- Through the blinds over a window of Manitas' car: Manitas' and Wasserman's silhouettes.

- Wasserman's pen on a page of the red notebook.

A pigsty. You have no idea what it is like growing up in pigsty? You know the show "The Sopranos"? Doesn't ring a bell? In the beginning, there's a character named Vito Spatafore. He's the capo of the DiMeo family... I've seen it a hundred times... Vito works with Tony Soprano.

Over Manitas' narration:

- A succession of men's faces: tough, sometimes tattooed, their weapons in their hands, or on their arms.

- A group shoots guns while dancing.

- A couple fucking in a car.

They get on well and do good business together until word gets out that Vito is gay.

Then Phil Leotardo goes and beats him to death. The problem in my life, is that I'm both poor Vito and that scumbag Leotardo. To keep his true nature hidden, Vito had to be the worst fucking scumbag of them all... I can't take it anymore... I've thought about killing myself, about ending up as a few lines in a newspaper, like the others. But then I thought it wasn't fair, I couldn't die without living... I was entitled to another life, a life of my own.

- Rita's face lit up by what appears to be a campfire. She is looking at something.

EXT. COMPOUND - NIGHT

Silence. We are still on Rita, who is watching.

In front of her: men and women dance around a campfire. Sicarios, wives of sicarios, children of sicarios.

The music has changed but not the source. Normal volume. Strident.

A woman's voice from behind.

JESSI (O.S.)

¿Qué está haciendo aquí?
What are you doing here?

She turns around.

RITA

¿Y usted?
What about you?

JESSI

¿Yo? Soy su mujer. Soy Jessi Del Monte.
I'm his wife. I'm Jessi Del Monte.

JESSI DEL MONTE is pretty and wears expensive clothes that catch the eye, especially given the location. She is about 20, a bit shy. When she smiles, she exposes small, sharp teeth.

RITA

Yo soy Rita Mora Castro, abogada.
Trabajo para su marido.

I am Rita Mora Castro, a lawyer. I work for your husband.

JESSI

Sí, me imagino, ¿pero qué hace para él?

I figured, but what do you do exactly for him?

RITA

Muchas cosas...

Many things...

She cuts Rita off.

JESSI

¿Es cierto que nos va a sacar del país?

Is it true that he's getting us out of the country?

RITA

No lo sé, no estoy al tanto.

I do not know, I am not aware of it.

Jessi smiles, not believing her.

JESSI

¿Y quién es ese tipo que viene con usted?

And who's the guy coming with you?

MANITAS (O.S.)

Ah, ya se conocieron.

So you've met?

Jessi turns around, feeling uncomfortable.

JESSI

Sí. Le preguntaba a Rita quién era el tipo que está contigo.

Yes. I was asking Rita who the guy with you was.

Manitas shrugs his shoulders.

MANITAS

Los negocios... ¿Dónde están los niños?

Business stuff... Where are the kids?

JESSI

Están bailando con los demás.

MANITAS

¿Vamos con ellos?

Shall we join them?

JESSI

(a Rita) ¿Viene con nosotros?
(to Rita) Are you coming with us?

RITA

No, gracias... estoy bien aquí.
No, thanks. I'm fine here.

She lifts her glass of beer in a toast.

CUT TO:

The music and the party continue. Manitas, Jessi and their children lie on the ground in the desert. He points at stars, teaching them their names. The family stares up at the sky.

Manitas sees Rita watching them. They exchange glances.

EXT. COMPOUND - NIGHT

Smoke rises from the dead fire. The party is over. Sicarios sleep off their mezcal in their pickup trucks.

EXT. CAMPEMENT - NIGHT

With a blanket draped over her shoulders, Rita smokes a cigarette, watching the sun rise over the desert.

Wasserman hands Rita the burner phone. At his feet, his travel bag.

Rita takes the phone and points to the red notebook sticking out of his pocket.

RITA

Under normal circumstances, a single word in this notebook would condemn to death the person who wrote it, the person who reads it and all their families!

He hands it to her.

WASSERMAN

I told him I would give it to you. I don't need it anymore. The operation and recovery will take place back home in Tel Aviv. Goodbye, Rita.

RITA

Goodbye, Doctor.

They shake hands.

RITA (CONT'D)

I think Manitas told them about the music...

Behind them, the loud engines sputter, ready to leave.

INT. MANITAS' TRAILER

Out the windows, on CCTV screens, the desert landscape speeds by: the convoy, the cabs' interiors, the drivers... Rita sits across from Manitas.

Rita is sitting in front of Manitas. She hands him three passports.

RITA

...los pasaportes con sus nuevos nombres. Tienen que aprendérselos de memoria.

The passports with their new names. They'll have to memorize them.

She hands him other papers but Manitas cannot take his eyes off his children's passport photos.

...estas son las cuentas. Programé y codifiqué todas las transferencias. Seguí sus instrucciones: serán ricos.

...These are the accounts. I programmed and coded all the transfers. I followed your instructions: you will be rich.

She shows him photos of a house.

Aquí es donde van a vivir, es en Lausana, a la orilla del lago... es grande, tranquilo... Suiza, pues. Voy a acompañarlos y ayudarlos a establecerse. No va a ser fácil al principio, pero con el tiempo lo olvidarán.

They will be living here, in Lausanne, a lakefront property, spacious, calm... Switzerland. I'll go with them and help them settle in. It won't be easy at first but they'll eventually forget you.

She has become the perfect executive woman she always wanted to become.

She is having a conversation with a young man in front of her.

RITA

I believe if we change the text here with what you proposed - which was very good, by the way. He will get him to sign off on the agreement by Monday. He's a mercurial client...

RITA

It means today he says yes, tomorrow he says no. By Monday he will cave in and agree to the proposal, I can guarantee it.

She feels a glance on her.

EMILIA

¿Nada más mi voz?
Just my voice?

RITA

No me digas que viniste por
casualidad,
que pasabas por aquí así nada más.
casualidad

Don't tell me you came by chance, that you were passing by just like that.
Don't tell me you came by chance

No me digas que viniste por
casualidad,
Dime que viniste a borrar el pasado, a callar al último puto testigo molesto: ¡Yo!

No me, ah, por casualidad.
Don't tell me you came by chance
Tell me you came to erase the past
To silence the last annoying witness: Me!
Don't tell me that you came by chance.

No me digas que viniste por
casualidad.
Dime que viniste hasta aquí a matarme, para hacer la limpieza, para que
nadie
se dé cuenta quien fuiste y sepa lo que sé.

casualidad
Don't tell me you came here by chance
Tell me you came all the way here to kill me
To do a last clean-up, so that no one knows who you were and what I know
Don't tell me you came here by chance
Don't tell me you came by chance

Emilia gently interrupts.

EMILIA

No, no, no.
No Rita, no vine por casualidad.
No vine tampoco por amistad, a agradecerte otra vez,
a echarte más flores,
No Rita, no vine por casualidad.

No, no, no
No Rita, I didn't come by chance
I didn't come either by friendship
To thank you again
To throw more flowers at you
But no Rita I didn't come by chance

No Rita, no vine por casualidad.
 Puedes huir, correr, no te detengo, Pero tal vez un día entenderás lo que es cambiar de vida y dejarlo todo atrás.

No Rita I didn't come by chance
 You can hide, you can run, I won't stop you, but maybe one day you'll understand
 What it's like to change life and to leave it all behind.

Vine a pedirte algo
 I came to ask you something

RITA

¿No viniste a pedirme algo de
 casualidad?

Did you come to ask me something by chance?

EMILIA

Necesito que me lleves a mis hijos

I need you to take my children to Mexico.

RITA

Olvídalo.
 Forget it.

¿México? ¿pero por qué regresaría yo? A ver dime ¿quién se preocupó por mí los últimos cuatro años?
 ¡Nadie!

Mexico? Why would I go back there? Tell me, who cared about me for the last four years? Nobody!

In close-up, Jessi, blonde now, is on the phone, annoyed.

JESSI (CONT'D)

Y de la noche a la mañana una tía caída del cielo nos dice que regresemos ¿y resulta que tenemos que regresar? ¿En dónde se ha visto eso? Tengo toda la lana que quiero y estoy muy bien aquí.
 Sí... sí... y hazme un favor, porfis, ya no me llames.

And overnight an aunt from the sky tells us to go back and it turns out we have to go back? Where have you seen that? I have all the money I want and I am very well off here. Yes... yes... and do me a favor, please, don't call me anymore.

She hangs up.

EXT. LAUSANNE VILLA - DAY

Two parked MINIBUSES, trunks and doors open. Five men come and go, piling Vuitton suitcases and trunks into the back of the minibuses. Ángel and Diego are now teenagers. Their hair is dyed blond like their mother's. They climb into the vehicles, bickering.

Rita and Jessi discuss something a few meters away.

JESSI

¿Dónde vamos a vivir?
Where will we live?

RITA

En su casa, tiene una mansión en la Colonia Roma.
At her place. She has a huge villa in the Colonia Roma.

JESSI

¿Tú conoces a esa Emilia Pérez?
You know this Emilia Pérez?

RITA

No, pero Manitas me había hablado de una prima lejana suya con quien podrían contar un día si le pasaba algo. Ella sabía cómo localizarme y, llegado el momento, fue ella quien me dijo que los llevara.

No, but Manitas did mention a distant cousin you could count on, if anything happened to him. She knew how to reach me. And, when the time came, she was the one who told me to take you guys.

Jessi walks to the cars.

JESSI

Yo no sabía nada de eso.
I knew nothing about this.

RITA

Nadie debía saberlo.
No one was supposed to know.

EXT. EMILIA'S VILLA - DAY

Another pan shot. Tighter this time. We see a magnificent modern villa clinging to a hillside. Luxuriant greenery, birdsong and sprinkling systems:

WOMAN (O.S.)

¡Doña Emilia, Doña Emilia, ahí vienen!

Mrs. Emilia, Mrs. Emilia, they're here!

EMILIA (O.S.)

¡Ya voy!
I'm coming!

Car doors slam.

Oh, the children, Jessi, my family!

INT. EMILIA'S VILLA - DAY

The spacious ground floor with a staircase to the second floor.

Rita watches Emilia slowly go and take Jessi's face in her hands. She looks deep into her eyes. Jessi stands dumbstruck with bated breath. Like a statue.

After a beat:

EMILIA

No nos conocemos ¿verdad Jessi, o sí?

We've never met before, Jessi, have we?

Jessi is moved, dazed.

JESSI

... no, no creo, no...
No, I don't think so...

EMILIA

Tú eras la mujer de Manitas. Se nos fue, descanse en paz... ahora tú eres como mi hermana. Tú y los niños ya están de vuelta y esta es su casa. ¿Entendido?

You were Manitas' wife. He's gone now, God rest his soul. You're like my sister now. You and your children have come home, and your home is here. Understand?

The two women hug and cry.

JESSI

Gracias señora.
Thank you, Madame.

EMILIA

(corrigiéndola) Emilia, por favor.
(correcting her) Emilia, please.

Rita sees Emilia kiss the children again and again. Emilia's mouth on the children's cheeks. Then her thumb rubbing off lipstick from their cheeks.

EMILIA (CONT'D)

Pero deben estar cansadísimos...
Vengan, voy a enseñarles sus recamaras. No dijiste Rita, ¿te quedas con nosotros, no?
You must be exhausted... Come let me show you your rooms.
You're staying here, Rita, right?

RITA

No, tomé un cuarto en el Four Seasons. Tengo que trabajar y no me queda mucho tiempo antes de volver a Londres.

No. I took a room at the Four Seasons. I have to work and I don't have much time left before I go back to London.

Rita watches them disappear upstairs.

Feet run up and down the stairs. Maids carry up suitcases.

INT. VILLA - NIGHT

Rita in the entrance puts on her coat.

EMILIA

(en voz baja) ¿Cómo la ves?
(quietly) How do you see her?

Emilia points the upstairs floor with her finger.

RITA (CONT'D)

Totalmente perdida. Vas a tener que hacerte cargo de ella, distraerla... Pero tú la conoces mejor que yo, ¿no?
Totally lost. You're going to have to take care of her, distract her... But you know her better than I do, huh?

EMILIA

La conocía antes, ahora me da la impresión que ya no es la misma.
I knew her before. I get the impression she's not the same.

RITA

No vamos a insistir en los cambios de los demás, ¿no?
We are not going to insist on others' changes, are we?

Emilia smiles.

EMILIA

Tienes razón.
You're right.

RITA

Ten cuidado con los niños.
And be careful with the children.

EMILIA

¿Por qué?
Why?

RITA

Deja de besarlos a cada rato. Jessi no entiende por qué lo haces. Eres su tía, no su madre.
Stop kissing them all the time. Jessi doesn't understand. You're their aunt, not their mother.

Emilia nods. The two women kiss good night. Emilia holds Rita back.

EMILIA

Rita, que Dios te bendiga por todo esto.

Rita, God bless you for all of this.

EMILIA

What's wrong? You don't like it?

Silence.

The maid leaves.

She sits up. Discovers a dark and empty space instead of her room. In the dark, in the middle of the space, ghost-like silhouettes thrash about. Let us call them "Jessi's Dark Thoughts". The Dark Thoughts' perfectly synchronized movements are both frenzied and mechanical. Their choreography exists in total contrast to Jessi's song.

End of 3M20 Bienvenida

Later...

Her forehead pressed against the window, Jessi blows smoke rings. She looks pensive. At times her lips seem to form words.

 al grano, Gustavo: tú eres la única persona por quien volvería... hasta me duele la pinche vulva nada más de acordarme de ti...

I don't know if this is Gustavo Brun's number... It's Jessi calling... If this is your number, Gustavo, I wanted to tell you that the lawyer, Rita Mora... She called me to tell me I could come back, that I no longer risk being shot as I step off the plane... I... I told her I didn't give you're the only person I would go back for... My pussy still hurts when I think of you...

Fade to black over Jessi's face.

CUT TO:

EXT. STREET - DAY

A busy street. A market. The same taqueria as earlier. Rita speaks with the owner and her daughter. They recognize each other. The atmosphere is friendly. The owner calls the surrounding shop owners to come say hello to Rita. Emilia smiles, watching. Her bodyguard hangs back, discreet but dissuasive.

Rita leaves apologetically with a bag of tortillas and tacos.

She offers some to Emilia who refuses, mimicking horror.

EMILIA

¡Cómo crees! ¡Diez minutos en la boca y diez años en la lonja!

How dare you! Ten minutes in the lips, ten years in the hips!

¡Tengo una idea! ¿Y si te pago?

I have an idea! What if I pay you?

RITA

¿Para qué?

What for?

EMILIA

Para que te quedés.

For you to stay.

RITA

¿Y qué hago acá?

And what do I do here?

EMILIA

Nada, sólo estar.

Nothing, just hanging around.

Rita looks at Emilia, who mimics De Niro.

RITA

Es muy amable, pero no.

It's very kind, but no.

EMILIA

Mujer... por lo menos intenté.

At least I gave it a try.

A woman sings in the middle of the commotion. We see a woman distributing flyers to the indifferent crowd. Rita looks at a flyer. A photocopy, like a wanted poster: a young man's face, a place, a date.

RITA

¿Quién es?
Who is he?

WOMAN IN BLACK

Octavio, mi hijo mayor, tenía veinte años. Desapareció en el 2013, el 18 de noviembre en el estado de Michoacán.

Octavio, my eldest son. He was 20. He disappeared on November 18th, 2013 in Michoacán.

RITA

¿Para quién trabajaba su hijo?
¿Para una banda? ¿Para un cártel?
Who was your son working for? A gang? A cartel?

WOMAN IN BLACK

No, señora, él era estudiante. Desapareció durante un viaje al sur. Quería ser maestro de primaria.

No, ma'am. He was just a student. He disappeared on a trip down south. He wanted to be a teacher.

RITA

Lo siento mucho.
I'm so sorry.

The woman's presence makes her feel awkward. She hails her driver/bodyguard.

EMILIA

Ve a buscar el carro, te esperamos allá.

Get the car, we'll be waiting over there.

RITA

(en voz baja) ¿No piensas de vez en cuando en lo que hizo Manitas... en todas sus barbaridades...?

(in a low voice) Do you ever think about what Manitas did... all the horror?

Emilia's face darkens.

EMILIA

Ya no sé quién es Manitas. (después de cierto tiempo) Obvio que pienso en eso, ¡cómo no!

I don't know who Manitas is anymore. (after some time) Of course I think about it, of course!

A beat.

Pásame la foto del estudiante.

Rita hands her the flyer. Emilia looks at it for a beat.

RITA

¿Qué te pasa?

What's wrong with you?

EMILIA

Ay no sé... (levantando la cabeza)
Putra madre, me estoy asfixiando, aquí apesta a muerte. ¿Dónde está el chofer?

I don't know... (looking up) I'm suffocating. It reeks of death here. Where is the driver?

INT. EMILIA'S VILLA - NIGHT

Emilia is home late. Exhausted.

She drops the photo of the young desaparecido on a table and goes to the stairs.

INT. EMILIA'S VILLA - NIGHT

ÁNGEL

No, I can't.

Emilia, on the side of his bed, strokes his hair.

EMILIA

He closes his eyes. She leans over and kisses him. He hugs onto her. She can feel him breathing her in.

79/80 OUT

EXT. CENTRAL PRISON - DAY

The camera sweeps over an inscription on a wall, or the letters scroll by: P-R-I-S-O-N

A man in clerical garb watches the car arrive. He waves.

Emilia's car parks alongside him.

When the CHAPLAIN gets in the front seat, the driver/bodyguard steps out to let him speak with Emilia. On the wall behind we read in big letters: CENTRAL PRISON.

We see a mute discussion take place behind the closed windows.

INT. CENTRAL PRISON/CONFESSIONAL - DAY

A few religious symbols suggest a kind of parlor-confessional. Lurid neon lighting. The din of a televised soccer game echoes deep inside the prison.

The chaplain sits and waits, staring at his hands. After a beat, a guard armed like Pancho Villa brings in a prisoner. A skinny sicario, EL FLACO, sits across from the chaplain.

EL FLACO

...no, ni madres, no reconozco su cara... Chance y fue la vez que les chingamos unos rehenes a los Tiburones... se puso fea la cosa y tuvimos que deshacernos de ellos en la ciudad...

His face means nothing to me... Maybe it was the time we stole hostages from the Tiburones... Things didn't go well, we had to dispose of them in town...

PRIEST

Where?

EL FLACO

En la antigua refinería de Ciudad Juárez.
At the old Ciudad Juarez refinery.

The priest slips him a wad of dollars.

EXT. PRISON, PARKING LOT - DAY

The priest leaves the prison and heads for the waiting limousine. When he gets in the back seat, the driver steps out to leave them alone.

We see them speak through the window.

EXT. ABANDONED REFINERY, CIUDAD JUAREZ - DAY

An abandoned refinery in Ciudad Juarez. Ten men dig.

Shovel after shovel. The repetitive sounds of scraping shovels and laborers speaking.

Hands with rubber gloves. Remnants appear, tangled in the earth and roots. Clothes, limbs, and then something that looks like a skull.

CUT TO:

INT. HANGAR - DAY

In a lateral tracking shot: a black plastic body bag, then another... ten body bags.

We pull back onto the surroundings: a vast open hangar. One side dazzlingly bright, the other dark. Off to one side, Rita watches. Standing in front of a body bag, against the light, Emilia embraces the woman from the cemetery. The two women speak softly.

In consolation and gratitude, the woman takes and squeezes Emilia's hand.

Start 3M22 LA LUCECITA

The woman's lips on Emilia's hands.

Softly at first, as if to herself:

EMILIA

Rita, Rita, oye Rita, sentí sus lágrimas, y por primera vez me amé a mí misma.

Rita, Rita, listen Rita, when she kissed my hands,
I felt her tears, and for the first time
I loved myself.

EMILIA (CONT'D)

Rita, Rita, oye Rita,

RITA

¿Emilia qué quieres decir?

Emilia, what do you mean?

EMILIA

Rita, Rita, dime, Rita,
¿Quién ahora va a ayudarlos?

Rita Rita, tell me Rita
Who will help them now?

No, no, no, no. Really? Emilia are you serious?
Without blackmail and without violence, tell me how would I do it?!

EMILIA

You'll gain their trust.

¡¿Cómo se llama tu chingada cosa esa?!
And what's the name of your bloody thing?!

The chorus continues...

Te voy a dar dos o tres nombres de tipos que se salieron de los cárteles a quienes podría interesarles hacer el Bien.
I'll give you the names of two or three guys who've distanced themselves from the cartels. And who may be interested in doing good.

Rita looks at her.

They reach a plastic double door. Behind it, silhouettes and photo flashes.

What do I tell the London office?

EMILIA

Yo qué sé... ¿Que te quedas un poco más? ¿No?

I don't know... That you're staying a little longer, right?

She pushes the door open.

EXT. STREET - DAY

Behind them, reporters, sound engineers and cameras.

REPORTER 1

¿Por qué La Lucecita?

Why the Lucecita?

RITA

En el nombre se encuentra el objetivo: dar un poco de esperanza a quienes ya no la tienen.

Our aim is in the name: a ray of hope to those who've lost hope.

REPORTER 2

¿Con qué dinero se va a financiar la asociación?

What money will be financing this NGO?

EMILIA

Con el mío, pero la gente generosa que quiera participar es bienvenida.

Mine, but the generals are more than welcome to join us.

They are about to leave.

REPORTER 3

Señora Pérez, señora Pérez, una pregunta más...

Señora Pérez, Señora Pérez, one more question...

EMILIA

Sí...

Yes...

REPORTER 3

¿De dónde viene su dinero?

Where does your money come from?

The brutality of the question is disconcerting. Emilia hesitates, is about to answer, when Rita interrupts:

RITA

La señora Pérez no tiene porque rendirle cuentas a nadie. Pero no se preocupen pues daremos toda la información cuando entreguemos los estatutos de la asociación. Disculpen, nos están esperando
Mrs. Pérez does not have to justify herself. Don't worry, the information will be provided when we file the papers to establish an NGO. Sorry, we have to go..

She pulls Emilia away. Entering the building, they pass by a brass plaque. We read:

LA LUCECITA
Investigations in Family Interests

INT. LUCECITA HEADQUARTERS - DAY

They are now in an empty building.

RITA

¡Ahí está, ya empezó el desmadre...
para qué te hago caso!
There it is, the madness has already started... why did I listen to you!

EMILIA

No te preocupes, yo sé cómo son, les encanta pasarse de listos pero hasta ahí.
Don't worry. They love to blabber on, but it'll lead nowhere.

RITA

Ajá, claro. ¿Y qué tal que sí pase de ahí? No, tú no los conoces, yo sí... van a hacer su trabajo.
Oh yeah? What if it leads somewhere? You don't know them, I do, they'll do their job.

EMILIA

Sí... como todos: pues los compramos.
We buy them off, as usual.

RITA

¿Y nada más?
And then?

EMILIA

¿Cómo que "y nada más"?
What do you mean "and then"?

RITA

Yo voy a darles qué comer, veremos si tu leyenda resiste...
I'll feed them. We'll see if your legend holds up..

EMILIA

¿Una leyenda? ¿Ya tan rápido?
A legend? Already?

RITA

No los subestimes Emilia, hay que ser aguerrido para ser periodista en este país.
Don't underestimate them, Emilia, you need courage to be a journalist in this country.

Emilia smiles.

They walk under a flat screen showing an institutional film.
Emilia is on screen, wearing dark glasses:

EMILIA

"Somos una ONG y actuamos legalmente. No reemplazamos a los poderes públicos ni nos interponemos a sus labores, no los juzgamos... estamos simplemente al lado, somos libres de prestarle servicio a quienes lo necesitan.
Ayudamos a las familias a encontrar a sus seres queridos. Aquí no hay culpables, no estamos para juzgar, solo tenemos un objetivo: el bienestar de las familias.
Ofrecemos un servicio de eliminación de tatuajes para quienes deseen borrarlos y abriremos clases de alfabetización para quienes deseen asistir.
Para empezar de nuevo, para buscar nuevos horizontes: La Lucecita!"

"We are an NGO and we act legally. We do not replace the public authorities, nor do we interfere with their work, we do not judge them... we are simply on the side, we freely provide a service to those who need it. We help families to find their loved ones. Here there are no culprits, we are not here to judge, we only have one goal: the well-being of the families.
A tattoo removal service is offered on a voluntary basis, and adult reading classes are available to those who wish. For a new start, a new horizon: 'La Lucecita'!"

INT. LUCECITA HEADQUARTERS - DAY

In a lateral tracking shot: women of every age, some with children in their arms. They are sitting in what looks like a waiting room.

A DESAPARECIDO'S MOTHER, WIFE OR SISTER

Para poder contar el fin a los que él amó
Para que todos sus amigos le puedan llorar

So that I am be able to tell about the end to those he

So that all his friends can mourn him

Para hablar del color de su cara

So that I know where the bad guys hid him.
So that we can engrave a date

Still in a tracking shot, men of every age wait in line:

So that there is a life before and a life afterwards

We linger on the singer.

So that the child and the mother can be together again

So that we look at the nightmare face to face

So that there is strength and hope in the end

Para vengarnos de las burlas de la sociedad
 Para acercarse al otro lado a encontrar el

So that we avenge us of society's mockery

So that we change sides and fight evil

So that our hearts cry out the truth.

 So that we can eat again, live again, breathe again
 Here we stand
 So that we can ask forgiveness and forgive
 Here we stand

We abandon the photos. We return to La Lucecita, to a wide angle shot on the crowd.

EXT. EMILIA'S VILLA - NIGHT

The lights of Mexico City, then Emilia's villa. Through the bay windows, we see Emilia's silhouette dancing alone.

EXT. VILLA EMILIA - NUIT

Headlights at the gate. A car door opens. Jessi steps out. Before shutting the door, she leans in to wish the driver good night. We can tell that they are kissing. A long kiss.

She walks up the white gravel path, almost phosphorescent in the night. Her shoes crunch on the gravel. The headlights sweep over her legs. She turns around and smiles. Then she takes off her shoes and continues walking. Smiling.

INT. EMILIA'S VILLA - NIGHT

Emilia continues to dance. Suddenly she sees Jessi, who enters the room with her shoes in the hand. Emilia startles a moment, stops, smiles and continues to dance amused.

EMILIA
 ¿Quieres tomar algo?
 Would you like a drink?

Emilia pours herself a drink.

JESSI
 Bueno.
 Sure.

EMILIA
 ¿Te divertiste?
 Did you enjoy yourself?

JESSI
 Sí
 Yes.

Jessi plops on the couch. She is high. Emilia hands her a glass.

EMILIA
 ¿Te puedo preguntar algo, bonita?

May I ask you a question, dear?

JESSI

Mmm.

Mm.

EMILIA

¿Cómo estabas con tu marido?

What was it like with your husband?

Jessi's eyes are half shut.

JESSI

No sé.

I don't know.

EMILIA

¿Cómo no vas a saber? ¿Lo querías?

What do you mean you don't know? Did you love him?

A beat.

JESSI

Claro que lo quería... estaba bien morra, fue el primero... estaba loca por él...

Of course I loved him. I was young, he was my first... I was head over heels in love with him..

EMILIA

Y él... te quería a ti?

And did he love you?

Jessi opens one eye.

JESSI

Psss no sé... Después tuve a los niños y ya no fue igual.

Pff... I don't know... After I had the children, it wasn't the same.

EMILIA

¿Para ti o para él?

For you or for him?

JESSI

Para él.

For him.

EMILIA

Y eso te puso triste.

And that made you sad.

Jessi shrugs her shoulders. No answer.

Si no estuviera muerto ¿qué crees que hubiera pasado?

If he were not dead, what do you think would have happened?

JESSI

Quieres decir: ¿entre nosotros?

You mean: between us?

EMILIA

Sí.

Yes.

JESSI

No sé. Él habría hecho como los demás: se habría encontrado otra más joven, tenido hijos con ella y a mí me habría mandado al diablo.

I don't know. He'd have done like other guys: found a younger girl, had kids with her and dumped me.

JESSI (CONT'D)

O tal vez habría sido yo la que encontrara a otro tipo...

Or maybe I'd have found another guy...

EMILIA

¿Y entonces?

So?

Jessi gestures, as if the answer were obvious.

JESSI

¿Tú qué crees?

What do you think?

A beat.

EMILIA

¿Lo engañaste?

Did you cheat on him?

JESSI

Mmm.

Mmm.

EMILIA

¿Con quién?

With whom?

Emilia feels she was too abrupt.

JESSI

¿Por qué me preguntas eso?

Why are you asking me this?

EMILIA

No, por nada, así nada más.
No, no reason, just like that.

JESSI

¿Quieres saber "así nada más" si anduve cogiendo con otro güey?
You want to know "for no reason" if I fucked another guy?

Emilia is worried.

EMILIA

¿Duró mucho tiempo?
Did it last long?

Jessi shakes her head "no".

¿Por qué?
Why?

JESSI

Era demasiado intenso... Ya no podía pensar en nada más... nunca me había pasado algo así.
It was too powerful... He was all I could think of... I'd never experienced anything like it.

EMILIA

¿Y qué pasó?
And what happened?

JESSI

Pues, nada. Ahí le paré. Ya no quise volverlo a ver.
Nothing. I called it quits. I didn't want to see him anymore.

EMILIA

¿Y no pensaron fugarse juntos?
And you didn't consider eloping together?

Jessi giggles in disbelief, baring her small pointed teeth.

JESSI

¿Conocías un poquito a tu primo o para nada? ¿Veías las noticias de vez en cuando?
Did you know your cousin or not at all? Did you ever watch the news?

JESSI (CONT'D)

Hubiéramos podido ir a donde sea, él nos habría encontrado, nos habría destrozado y dado de comer a los perros.

We could have gone anywhere, he would have found us, torn us apart and fed us to the dogs.

Jessi finishes her drink.

JESSI (CONT'D)

Bueno, me voy a dormir, buenas noches.

I'm going to bed. Good night.

She picks up her shoes and leaves.

EMILIA

¿Y volviste a ver al tipo ese?
And did you see this guy again?

Jessi smiles.

JESSI

Mmm.
Hmm.

EMILIA

... buenas noches.
Good night.

Emilia stops smiling when she hears Jessi's footsteps in the stairway.

INT. FUNDRAISER GALA - NIGHT

A crowd has gathered around the red carpet and the paparazzi.
Journalists brandish recorders.

REPORTER

¿Qué espera de esta velada?
What do you expect from this gala?

EMILIA

Simpatía y apoyo.
Sympathy and support.

REPORTER 2

¿Apoyo? ¿Quiere decir dinero?
Support? You mean money?

EMILIA

Ajá, una lana pues, si prefiere, un buen varote.

Dough, if you prefer. Good old greenbacks!

Laughter.

REPORTER

¿Es cierto que encuentra desaparecidos con la ayuda de sicarios?

Is it true that sicairios help you find the remains of the disappeared?

RITA

Así es, La Lucecita además de acompañar a las familias de las víctimas, da la oportunidad a los arrepentidos, no de enmendar sus actos porque nada podrá enmendarlos, sino de hacer un poco de bien a quienes hicieron daño. Disculpe, nos están esperando.

That's right, La Lucecita, besides supporting the families of the victims, gives the opportunity to those who are repentant, not to make up for their actions, because nothing can make up for them, but to do a little good to those they have harmed. Excuse me, they are waiting for us.

She walks away.

Vi la lista de invitados... ¿Quién es esa gente que añadiste?

I checked the guest list. Who are all the people you added?

EMILIA

Puros hampones, narcos, corruptos... ¿Te molesta?

Just gangsters, drug dealers, corrupt people... Do you mind?

RITA

Que La Lucecita vaya a buscar dinero sucio, sí, me molesta.

La Lucecita going after dirty money, yes, I mind.

EMILIA

Mientras no conozca a nadie de la corona inglesa, voy a seguir invitando a los ricos que conozco.

As long as I don't know anyone in the English crown, I'm going to keep inviting the rich people I know.

She looks at her.

Rita, venimos a pedir dinero, no a planear un asalto...

Rita, we're here to ask for money, not to rob a bank..

RITA

¿Por qué me dices eso?
Why do you say that?

EMILIA

No denunciemos a nadie. ¡Cabrón, a veces me parece que eres peor que yo!
We're not turning anyone in. Sometimes I think you're worse than me.

BERLINGER (OFF)

¡Rita!
Rita!

Rita turns around and sees Berlinger. He takes her hand and kisses it. Rita observes the gesture in slow motion. His mouth on her hand.

Ven a verme cuando tengas tiempo.
Come see me when you have time.

His face fades into the shadows.

INT. FUNDRAISING GALA - NIGHT

Emilia asks for silence and begins her speech.

Ministers, senators, representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, Governor of the Province, ladies and gentlemen...

She applauds. The assembly does too. She asks for silence.

Ustedes me sacan ventaja: todo mundo los conoce. A mí, nadie...
You have the one-up on me: you all know each other, whereas I know no one...

The audience disagrees.

...se los aseguro... o muy poco.

I mean it... Or very little.

Laughter.

Emilia continues. All eyes are on her. Rita walks up between the tables. She speaks, sings, but the audience is listening to the speech, and no one seems to hear her.

INT. LA LUCECITA BUILDING - DAY

Morning. Emilia arrives at her office floor. She responds distractedly to the greetings of those she runs into.

INT. LA LUCECITA TOILETS - DAY

A beautiful woman in her forties, simply but tastefully dressed.

She opens her bag and takes out a sheathed knife. She takes the knife out of its sheath and replaces everything in the bag.

INT. LUCECITA WAITING ROOM - DAY

The woman returns to her seat in the waiting room.

INT. LUCECITA EMILIA'S OFFICE - DAY

Emilia is sitting at her desk.

A secretary enters and announces.

SECRETARY

La señora Epifanía Flores.
Señora Epifanía Flores.

Emilia looks up to see the woman we saw in the bathroom.

EMILIA

Siéntese por favor.
Please, have a seat.

Suspicious, EPIFANÍA looks over her shoulder before sitting down.

EMILIA (CONT'D)

¿Qué puedo hacer por usted?
What can I do for you?

EPIFANÍA

Usted encontró a mi marido.
You found my husband.

Epifanía hands her a summons.

EMILIA

Ah sí.
Oh yes.

Close-up: a photocopy of a young tattooed man.

EPIFANÍA

¿Dónde está?
Where is he?

EMILIA

Por ahora, en la morgue.
For now, in the morgue.

EPIFANÍA

¿Y qué chingados hace en la morgue?
What the hell is he doing at the morgue?

EMILIA

(algo sorprendida) Está muerto.
(a little surprised) He's dead.

EPIFANÍA

¡¿No?! ¿Está segura de que es él?
No! Are you sure it's him.

EMILIA

Sí, al 99.9%. Lo siento mucho...
Yes, 99.9% sure. I'm sorry...

EPIFANÍA

¿Es en serio? ¿De veras está muerto?
You're not bullshitting me? He's really dead?

EMILIA

Sí.
Yes.

EPIFANÍA

¿Está segura?
And you're sure?

EMILIA

Ya me está haciendo dudar, pero sí, totalmente segura.
You're making me hesitate now, but yes, absolutely sure.

Epifanía is at first stunned, but then bursts into laughter.

EPIFANÍA

...!Ah chingá!
...Fuck!

The laugh becomes a sob.

She stands up and goes to the window to hide her tears.

EPIFANÍA (CONT'D)

Discúlpeme...
Excuse me...

Emilia joins her.

Pensé que iba a estar aquí, me moría de miedo.

I thought he was going to be here. I was scared shitless..

Epifanía sobs. Emilia takes her in her arms.

Me dejó en paz cinco años, ya lo había olvidado y de repente usted me manda ese papel. Me pegaba... se llevaba mi dinero...

I had five years of peace, then I got your letter. He used to hit me, steal my money.

Emilia can't take her eyes off of her lips.

(entrecortada por los sollozos) ...me ...me violaba... Tenía tanto miedo de que regresara... si no estuviera muerto... sería yo la que lo... hasta agarré un cuchillo...

(sobbing) He... he raped me... I was so afraid he'd come back. If he weren't dead... I brought a knife...

EMILIA

Shhhhh.

Shhh.

Emilia draws back as if to escape temptation.

INT. LA LUCECITA CORRIDORS - DAY

Emilia and Epifanía silently walk up a hallway. They part on the stairs.

EMILIA

Hasta luego.

Goodbye.

EPIFANÍA

Hasta luego señora.

Goodbye, ma'am.

Emilia heads back to her office, but can't help turning back around. Just before Epifanía disappears:

EMILIA

¡Señora Flores!

Señora Flores!

INT. LUCECITA CORRIDORS - DAY

Epifanía looks up.

EMILIA

Hay algo que no me dijo, ¿qué hacemos con el cuerpo de su marido?
You didn't tell me: what do we do with your husband's corpse?

EPIFANÍA

Tírelo
Throw it away.

They laugh.

EMILIA

(murmurando fuerte) ¿De verdad traía un cuchillo?
(whispering) Did you really have a knife?

Epifanía nods and surreptitiously takes the knife out of her bag.

Emilia appreciates and surreptitiously takes out her Glock of her bag.

Both ladies smile.

¿Podemos volver a vernos?
Can I see you again?

EPIFANÍA

¿Volver a vernos? ¿Para qué?
See me again? Why?

EMILIA

Para nada en especial, así nada más... para vernos.
No reason, just... to see you again.

EPIFANÍA

...sí.
...Yes.

INT. EPIFANÍA'S HOUSE - DAY

Early morning. Emilia is dressed. She finishes making coffee in the kitchen-living room-bathroom in Epifanía's tiny house. She looks at the walls with their peeling blue paint and religious imagery. StrÁNGELY ordered disorder, it is a cozy kind of cave.

Emilia is happy. She feels at home. An "at home" that she never had before. Out the window, she sees her neighbor open her shutters. The two women greet each other from afar.

Noise behind her. Epifanía is coming out of her bedroom.

EPIFANÍA

¿Sí encontraste todo?
Dif you find everything?

EMILIA

Mm Mm.

They kiss.

EPIFANÍA

¿Ya te vas?
Are you leaving?

EMILIA

Tengo que estar en la casa antes de que los niños se despierten.
I have to be back home before the kids wake up.

EPIFANÍA

¿Tienes hijos?
You have children?

EMILIA

Sí, o más bien no... pero es lo mismo.
Yes, well, no, but it's the same.

Epifanía smiles.

EPIFANÍA

¿Cómo que es lo mismo?
What do you mean "it's the same"?

EMILIA

Su padre murió, yo soy su tía.
Their father died. I'm their aunt.

A beat.

EPIFANÍA

¿Vamos a volvernos a ver?
Can I see you again?

EMILIA

¿Quieres? (como sorprendida) ¿De veras?
You want to? (surprised) Really?

Epifanía takes Emilia into her arms.

 Ámame, protégeme. Siempre quiero eso ...
 Love me, protect me. I always want that...

The two women entwined.

INT. EPIFANÍA'S HOUSE - DAY

Emilia begins to sing. Epifanía does not seem to see her although they are in the same frame. She begins her day: washing up, dressing, housekeeping. All her gestures are weighed down by love.

Enamorada

Who am I, I don't know
I was born an instant ago
I was born from her desire
I was born from her womb
Life without desire was like a mountain
Now my desire takes me to a river
I am in love! I am in love
In love
In love

INT. LA LUCECITA OFFICES - DAY

The two women are in Emilia's office. Emilia looks out the window. La Lucecita is in full swing. Hustle and bustle in the corridors. Women in waiting rooms. ÁNGEL and Diego are having snacks in the cafeteria, etc... Emilia surprises Rita looking at her.

EMILIA

¿Qué?

What is it?

RITA

Te admiro...

I admire you...

EMILIA

Ah mira, qué chingón.

Oh shit.

RITA

¿Dónde aprendiste eso?

Where did you learn all this?

¿...?

...?

RITA

Estás cambiando la vida de la gente Emilia... No sólo la de ellos, la mía, la de todos. Yo estudié toda la vida ¿y qué hice cuando acabé? Ayudar a los ricos a ser más ricos, y a los puercos a ser más puercos. You're changing people's lives, Emilia... Not only theirs. Mine too. Everyone's. I studied my whole life and what did it get me? I helped rich people get richer and gross people become grosser.

EMILIA

Rita ¿estás bien?
Rita, are you all right?

EMILIA (CONT'D)

Ya tengo cuarenta años Emilia... mi vida amorosa es un desierto y mi vida profesional una pinche cloaca. I'm 40, Emilia... My love life is a disaster. My work life, a sewer.

Emilia places her hand on Rita's.

¿Qué te puedo decir?
What can I say?

RITA

Nada.
Nothing.

A beat.

EMILIA

¿Qué esto no existiría sin ti?
That none of this would exist without you?

RITA

Gracias.
That's kind.

EMILIA

Es cierto. Está es tu vida profesional. Puedes estar orgullosa... ¿A poco no? It's the truth. It's your professional life. You can be proud of it. Isn't that right?

Rita's eyes are shining.

On a computer screen: a muted report on the Veracruz excavations: the images of the mass graves, the body bags... then, Emilia and Rita interviewed in front of the site.

Rita points to the screen.

RITA

Vamos a incomodar a muchas personas. ¿No te da miedo ?
We may upset a lot of people. Doesn't that scare you?

Emilia thinks.

EMILIA

Creo que me vale madres.
I don't think I give a shit now.

Rita nods and smiles.

EXT. STREET - NIGHT

Rita walks alone in a busy street. She seems to know where she goes and knows the door she pushes. It is the one of a night bar.

INT. NIGHTCLUB - NIGHT

Dark atmosphere, other music, another ambience.

Six men turn towards us, undressing us with their eyes.

Rita bellies up to the bar, next to a hot guy. She orders a drink. When it arrives, she feels the guy's hand run over her body. She likes what she feels. And she doesn't mind him whispering in her ear.

Noise and laughter from another room. One laugh in particular.

Rita breaks free...

RITA

Espera aquí, ahora vuelvo.
Wait, I'll be right back.

... and goes to the other room.

In the other room, at a table in the back, people are laughing and drinking. Hugged to a thin man, Gustavo Brun, Jessi is the queen bee. Their hands, loaded with jewels, join on the white tablecloth. Jessi sees Rita. She calls to her:

JESSI

¡Ey, Rita!
Hey, Rita!

Rita approaches. Jessi introduces everyone:

JESSI (CONT'D)

Gustavo, mi amigo... y los otros.

My friend Gustavo... and the others.

RITA

Buenas noches... buenas noches "los otros".

Good evening... good evening, "the others".

RITA

... tengo un amigo esperándome abajo.

... I have a friend waiting for me downstairs.

She sits down.

JESSI

¿Estás en una misión o sólo divirtiéndote?

Are you on a mission or just having fun?

RITA

Sólo me divierto.

Just having fun.

JESSI

¡¿Tú?! ¿divirtiéndote?

You?! having fun?

RITA

... Yo sé, hasta me suena raro decirlo.

... I know, I hesitated before saying it.

JESSI

Pensé que te devolvías a Londres.

I thought you were going back to London.

RITA

Me estoy dando un tiempo. ¿Y tú?

¿qué tal el regreso a México?

I'm taking some time off. How about you? How is the return to Mexico?

JESSI

INT. EMILIA'S VILLA - DAY

Emilia finishes having breakfast with the children, who are playing Fortnite. A cheerful atmosphere. Emilia looks fulfilled.

Out the window, she suddenly sees a silhouette in the garden: Jessi coming home from an interminable night out.

The two women's eyes meet through window glass. Emilia discreetly points to the children and shakes her head 'no'.

Jessi disappears in the stairway.

EXT. EMILIA'S VILLA - DAY

Emilia accompanies the children out to the porch, where their driver-bodyguard is waiting.

She hands them their school bags.

EMILIA

Hasta la tarde amores, vengo a buscarlos a la salida.

See you this afternoon, my little darlings. I'll pick you up after school.

She gives them a kiss.

She goes upstairs. The corridor that leads to Jessi's room seems inordinately long.

She knocks. Since there is no answer she enters.

INT. VILLA JESSI'S BEDROOM - DAY

The room is dark. We hear Jessi through the bathroom door.

Jessi comes out in her bathrobe, drying her hair. She does not notice Emilia watching her from the shadows.

A beat:

EMILIA

Jessi...
Jessi...

Jessi jumps.

JESSI

¡Ay güey! ¡Me espantaste!
Fuck, you scared me!

EMILIA

Toqué. Solo quería decirte: tú eres libre de hacer lo que quieras, pero...

I knocked. I wanted to tell you: you're free to do as you please, but...

JESSI

Sí, sí, ya sé, los niños...
Yes, I know, the children...

EMILIA
Sólo tener algo de cuidado...
Just be a little careful...

JESSI
¡Ya te dije que ya sé!
I already told you I know!

After a while, in a sudden way.

JESSI (CONT'D)
Me voy a casar.
I am getting married.

EMILIA
¿Qué? ¿Con quién?
What? With whom?

JESSI
Con Gustavo.
With Gustavo.

EMILIA
El tipo del que...
The guy who...

JESSI
Sí.
Yes.

Emilia looks at Jessi.

EMILIA
¿Estás segura? ¿No crees que te estás precipitando?
Are you sure? You don't think this is a little hasty?

JESSI
Hace cinco años que estoy esperando.
I've waited for 5 years.

EMILIA
Bueno, adelante entonces. Si tú eres feliz, yo también.
Well, go ahead then. If you're happy, so am I.

Emilia opens the arms, the two women hug each other.

Y, ¿ya sabes dónde van a vivir?
Do you know where you're going to live?

JESSI
Estamos buscando una mansión en Polanco.
We're looking for a villa in Polanco.

EMILIA

Ah, sí... ¿Y los niños?
Really. What about the children?

JESSI

¿Los niños qué?
What about them?

EMILIA

Se quedan aquí.
They stay here.

JESSI

Ah, no, ¿por qué? Van a vivir con nosotros.
No. Why? They're going to live with us.

Beat.

Taking it upon herself.

EMILIA

¿Y dónde está esa mansión de Polanco? ¿Al menos tiene jardín?
Where is this house in Polanco? Is there a garden?

JESSI

Sí, tiene todo lo necesario.
Yes, it has everything needed.

EMILIA

¿Y hay buenas escuelas en Polanco?
Are there good schools in Polanco?

JESSI

Todavía no vemos.
We haven't looked yet.

A beat. Emilia's gaze hardens.

EMILIA

Cuando dices "los niños van a vivir con nosotros" ¿quieres decir: vivir contigo y con tu padrote?
When you say "the children are gonna live with us", you mean you and your pimp?

JESSI

¿Qué?
Excuse me?

EMILIA

Que tú vas a donde se te dé la gana con tu pinche padrote, pero los niños se quedan aquí.
Go wherever the fuck you want with your stupid pimp, but the kids stay here.

JESSI

¡¿!Mi padrote!?! ¿Y tú quién chingados te crees para decirme eso pinche vieja lencha? ¿Quieres que yo también te diga algo de tu putita?

My pimp?! And who the fuck do you think you are, you fucking old dyke? Do you want me to tell you something about your little whore too?

Jessi tries to hit Emilia who pushes her on the sofa. Emilia grabs a vase, hesitates to smash her skull, then shatters it on the ground near Jessi.

EMILIA

¡Tú no tocas a mis hijos y punto!
You don't touch my children, period!

Emilia goes away.

JESSI

¿!¿Tus hijos!?! ¿!¿TUS HIJOS!?!
¿!¿TE VOLVISTE LOCA O QUÉ?!?
¡SON MIS HIJOS!

Your children?!? Your children?!? Have you lost it or what? They're my children!

EXT. STREET - NIGHT

Two guys are beating up a third, who slips under a car to escape the beatings. The camera passes under the car: we recognize Gustavo Brun.

Once he stops moving, one of his assailants slips a fat wad of money into his pocket and whispers into his ear.

HENCHMAN (O.S.)

Tienes 100 mil dólares en la bolsa del pantalón. Te largas de la ciudad y no te vuelves a acercar a menos de 80 kilómetros. Si desobedeces, te corto los brazos y se los doy de comer a los perros.
¿Entendiste?

There's a hundred thousand dollars in your pocket. Leave Mexico City and never come back within 50 miles. If you do, I'll cut off your arms and feed them to the dogs.
Understand?

INT. EMILIA'S VILLA - DAY

Early morning. Followed by the maids, Emilia hurries from room to room: the closets and drawers in both the children's room and Jessi's have been emptied.

EMILIA

¿A qué hora se fueron?
At what time did they leave?

MAID

No sé señora, todo mundo estaba durmiendo...
I don't know, ma'am. Everyone was asleep...

EMILIA

¿No dejó una nota?
She didn't leave a note?

MAID

No encontré ninguna, señora.
I didn't find one, ma'am.

Emilia calls Jessi. Straight to voicemail. She leaves a message:

EMILIA

(al teléfono) Soy yo Jessi... no entiendo... no entiendo por qué hiciste eso... tenemos que hablar, llámame.

(On the phone) Jessi, it's me... I don't understand... I don't understand why you've done this... We need to talk.
Call me back.

The screen splits in three: Emilia to the left, Jessi in her car to the right and Rita in the middle at the Lucecita offices. The three women speak and sing at the same time.

EXT/INT. EMILIA'S CAR - DAY

Emilia sitting in the back of her limousine. Her head churns with ideas, like black clouds. She looks focused on the electric wires that appear and disappear as they should. And then, as if it were obvious:

EMILIA

Se va a morir.
She is going to die.

The driver's screams wake her out of her daydream. The car swerves. She sees two pixelated faces. Their automatic weapons fire. The windshield shatters..

She lies on the back seat, opens her bag and sees her Glock shining inside.

Inside the bag, the Glock, black.

Black.

EXT/INT LUCECITA WAITING ROOM - EVENING

Evening. Epifanía sits on a bench in the waiting room. She watches the personnel leave, wishing each other "Good Night. See you tomorrow." Rita is in her office, putting away her things. Just as she is about to leave, she sees a woman waiting on a bench.

She opens her office window.

RITA

Las oficinas abren de las 9 de la mañana a las 5 de la tarde, ya estamos por cerrar. ¿Tenía cita?

The offices are open from 9 to 5. We're closing. Did you have an appointment?

EPIFANÍA

Sí... bueno, no, no aquí.

Yes... well, no, not here.

RITA

¿Le puedo ayudar?

May I help you?

EPIFANÍA

Tenía cita con la señora Pérez.

I had an appointment with Mrs. Pérez.

Rita looks at her closely. Bemused.

RITA

¿Su nombre es...?

What's your name?

EPIFANÍA

Epifanía Flores.

Epifanía Flores.

RITA

¿Tú eres Epifanía?

You're Epifanía?

EPIFANÍA

Sí, tú eres Rita, ¿no?

Yes. You're Rita, right?

RITA

Sí, buenas noches.

Yes, good evening.

EPIFANÍA

Buenas noches.

Good evening.

The two women smile at each other for a beat. Slightly embarrassed.

RITA
Bueno, ya está.
Well, it's done...

EPIFANÍA
¿Qué?
What is?

RITA
Al fin nos conocemos. Ya era hora ¿Habían quedado de verse?
We've finally met. It was about time, wasn't it? Had you planned to see each other?

EPIFANÍA
Sí, pero como no llegó, me preocupé.
Yes, but she didn't show up, so I got worried.

RITA
Sube. (señala la escalera)
Me imagino que le habrás marcado,
¿no?
Come. (pointing to the stairs) I guess you called her?

INT. LUCECITA OFFICES - EVENING

Epifanía has joined Rita, who is on the phone.

RITA
Soy yo, márcame cuando oigas el mensaje. (tapa el auricular) ¿Le digo que estás aquí?
It's me. Call me when you get this message. (covering the phone) Can I tell her you're here?

Epifanía nods.

RITA (CONT'D)
Aquí está Epifanía, te espera conmigo. Llama pronto.
Epifanía is here. We're waiting together. Call back.

She hangs up.

EPIFANÍA
Ya le marqué cuatro veces.
I called her four times.

RITA

Tenía una cita antes, y nadie la vio... quién sabe qué chingados andará haciendo.

She had an appointment before, and she didn't show up either. I don't know what the hell she's up to.

They look at each other.

Se me hace curioso eso de conocerte antes de conocerte.

Emilia me habla mucho de ti.

It's strange, I feel like I've already met you. Emilia speaks so much about you.

EPIFANÍA

(sorprendida) ¿Habla de mí? ¿Qué dice?

(surprised) About me? What does she say?

RITA

No te preocupes. Cosas de mujeres enamoradas. Desde que se conocieron, parece que tuviera quince años. Una quinceañera, efusiva.

Don't worry. Woman-in-love stuff. Since you met, she's like a teenager. A 15-year-old girl took her place.

Smiles. A beat.

EPIFANÍA

A mí también me habla de ti.

She talks about you too.

RITA

¿Ah sí?

Really?

Epifanía hesitates.

RITA (CONT'D)

¡Ya dime pues!

Go on, spit it out!

EPIFANÍA

Que eres como su hermana. Que le cambiaste la vida.

You're like a sister. You changed her life.

Rita stiffens.

RITA

¿Qué vida?

What life?

EPIFANÍA

Ay, pues no sé, su vida...
I don't know, her life...

RITA

¿Cuándo cambié su vida yo?
When did I change her life?

Epifanía is unsettled by Rita's change of tone.

¿...?
...?

RITA

¿Te habló de ella? ¿De su vida?
¿Qué te contó?
Did she speak about herself? What did she tell you?

EPIFANÍA

Nada... me habló de su familia, de sus sobrinos que quiere mucho...
Me dijo que todo esto (apunta a La Lucecita) es gracias a ti. Que tú la habías vuelto inteligente y generosa...
Nothing. She told me about her family, her nephews. She adores them... She said that all this... (pointing to La Lucecita) is thanks to you. That you turned her into someone smart and generous...

EPIFANÍA (CONT'D)

¿Qué? ¿Metí la pata?
Did I make a mistake?

RITA

No, no, para nada. Perdón, estoy muerta del cansancio. Es un poco exagerado pero me conmueve, sí, me conmueve. Creo que tú y yo somos sus únicas amigas.
No, no, not at all. I'm sorry, I'm exhausted. It's a bit of an overstatement but I'm moved, yes, I'm touched. I think you and I are her only friends.

Rita's phone rings. She answers.

RITA (CONT'D)

¿Sí...? Soy yo.
Yes? It's me...

Epifanía looks at her.

RITA (CONT'D)

¿Usted dónde está?

Where are you?

She goes to the window. She sees flashing police lights and then four police officers.

Epifanía is at the office window. She watches Rita speak with the officers for some time. Suddenly Rita looks at Epifanía. Rita has her hand clasped over her mouth, as if to hold back tears or stifle a scream.

INT. RITA'S CAR - EVENING

Rita drives, expressionless. On the passenger seat: two full bags. On the dashboard, a crackling walkie-talkie.

EXT. RITA'S CAR + COUNTRY ROAD - EVENING

While Rita's car continues a straight trajectory on the deserted road, two hundred meters behind three pickups follow. On the platforms, armed men of La Lucecita; within the cab of the lead pickup La Ponchis, a walkie-talkie in hand.

The convoy suddenly bifurcates: Rita to the left, the rest to the right. The second truck dims its lights.

You'll kill me?

JESSI

¡Cállate!
Shut up!

Jessi tears off the sheet, discovering the poor head of Emilia. The water bottle against the lips of Emilia.

A dull light slowly discovers the back of the space in which the men of Gustavo play cards while smoking joints.

Gustavo's POV: headlights in the distance.

GUSTAVO

¡Ahí viene!
She's coming!

EXT. LANDSCAPE - NIGHT

The face of La Ponchis appears in the frame. Followed by her men, she slides behind the white rocks of the quarry. She signals them to stop: a hundred meters below, Rita's pickup arrives on the road to the cabin.

A panning shot leaves the faces of La Ponchis in combat position and then sweeps the landscape with the hacienda in the background and ends in close-up on the door that Rita opens.

Rita gets down, puts the bag on the floor, arms her gun and slips it behind her back.

INT. GUSTAVO'S CABIN BAR - NIGHT

Gustavo puts on a pair of night vision goggles.

GUSTAVO

(gritando) ¡Apaga la luz!
(shouting) Turn off the light!

The light is turned off.

Gustavo's POV through his goggles: the car arrives... blinding headlights... Rita's white silhouette, suitcases... a tracking shot over the countryside... and back to Rita... blinding headlights...

GUSTAVO (CONT'D)

(a Rita) ¡Apaga tus faros!
(to Rita) Turn off your headlights!

EXT. LANDSCAPE - NIGHT

Two shots are fired.

Rita throws herself to the ground. The headlights are off.

Rita sees La Ponchis, who addresses a series of strategic signs, mysterious but reassuring. Rita pretends to understand.

EXT. GUSTAVO'S CABIN + LANDSCAPE - NIGHT

GUSTAVO

Párate y avanza.
Get up and move forward.

The white shape gets up, picks up the bag.

GUSTAVO (CONT'D)

¡Quiero ver tu mano izquierda!
I want to see your left hand!

A white hand rises. Rita moves forward.

GUSTAVO (CONT'D)

¡Llévala!
Take her!

Pointing to two of his men:

GUSTAVO (CONT'D)

Tú y tú vienen conmigo. (a los demás) Ustedes nos cubren.
(a Rita) ¡Hasta ahí, no te muevas!
You and you come with me. (to the others) You cover us.
(to Rita) That's it, stay there, don't move!

¡Pinche puta!
Fucking bitch!

He starts firing in bursts. The others follow. The bullets fly and roll... the flashes of the weapons that strobe the gestures and make the silhouettes on the walls move...

EXT. LANDSCAPE - NIGHT

Rita has taken shelter behind the pickup. She grabs her gun, checks the weaponry. What Rita sees:

- La Ponchis waiting for her orders.
- The traces of the bullets above her.
- The cabin drowned in the thick smoke of the weapons.

Rita's eyes are attracted by the cloud of smoke that grows above the cabin. Suddenly the phenomenon is reversed: instead of continuing its rise, the smoke flows back to the house, like water swirling around a sink. The smoke returns to the house.

INT. HACIENDA, KITCHEN - NIGHT

A tongue of smoke slides on the ground, passes between the feet of the men, on the shells which roll... crosses the room... finds Jessi and Emilia lying on the ground... and slips into the mouth of Emilia, who opens her eyes.

Emilia looks at Jessi, who protects herself as she can with her arms on her head. Emilia puts her hand on Jessi's head.

EMILIA

(unintelligible)Te conocí cuando tenías catorce años.

I met you when you were fourteen years old.

JESSI

¿Ah?

Huh?

EMILIA

Te conocí cuando tenías catorce años.
Entonces yo andaba con Juanita, tu hermana

I met you when you were fourteen years old.
At that time it was with your sister, with Juanita, that I was...

JESSI

¿Qué dices?

But what are you talking about?

EMILIA

Mi vida... Cuando andaba con Juanita era a ti a quien miraba... entonces un día en la Azucena en Jalapa, ahí te besé y fuimos a hacer lo demás arriba.

My life... When I was with Juanita it was you that I fancied and then one day, it was in Azucena in Xalapa, I kissed you and we went to do the rest upstairs

JESSI

Tú... ¿tú me besaste?

You... you kissed me?

EMILIA

... fuimos a hacer lo demás arriba...

...and we went to do the rest upstairs...

JESSI

¿Quién te contó esto?

Who told you that?

Suddenly in the distance: shouts, orders, gunfire. Bullets pierce the walls and send plaster flying around the two women, who drop to the floor. Their faces are now very close. Behind them we see Gustavo return alone to shoot. Flames of detonating guns, smoke, dust, impacts.

EMILIA

Cuando nos casamos te regalé dos collares. Me dijiste...

When we got married I gave you two necklaces. You told me...

JESSI

¡Cállate, cállate!

Shut up, shut up!

EMILIA

... que un día tú perdiste uno. Yo sé que se lo diste a Juanita para hacerte perdonar.

That one day you lost one. But I know you gave it to Juanita to make up for it...

EMILIA (CONT'D)

El día de la boda tu familia te daba tanta vergüenza que, para no verlos, los pusiste al fondo de la iglesia.

On our wedding day you were so ashamed of your family that, in order not to see them, you put them at the back of the church.

JESSI

¿Quién eres?

¿Quién eres?

Who are you?
Who are you?

EMILIA

... Emilia
Emilia

JESSI

Manitas
Manitas

...
...

JESSI

No, ¡ay no dios!, ¿qué nos pasó?!
No, my God, what happened to us?

EMILIA

¡Jessica!
Jessica!

JESSI

¡No!
No!

EMILIA

¡Perdóname! ¡Perdóname!,
Forgive me! Forgive me!

End PERDÓNAME

Gustavo's cowboy boots enter the frame.

GUSTAVO

¡Párate, nos largamos!
Stand up, we're leaving!

He has already seized Emilia by the scruff of her neck.

Emilia shakes her head "no".

EMILIA

No...
No...

The boot then crushes the bandaged hand of Emilia. A puddle of blood comes out of the bandage like a sponge.

Traveling on: a trace of blood on the ground... we go up it until...

INT/EXT. GUSTAVO'S CABIN - NIGHT

...Emilia is dragged in the trunk of the car of Gustavo.
When the trunk of the car is going to be closed on her, Emilia's eyes meet Jessi's.

EMILIA
(inaudible) ¡Jessica!
(inaudible) Jessica!

JESSI ¡No!
No!

The trunk is slammed shut.

JESSI (CONT'D)
(balbuceando, confundida) ¡Dios mío!, qué hemos hecho...
(mumbling, confused) My God, what have we done?...

GUSTAVO
(a Jessi) ¡Anda, muévete!
(to Jessi) Come on, move!

INT. GUSTAVO BRUN'S CAR - NIGHT

Gustavo Brun turns on the headlights and the turbo.

GUSTAVO
¡Perros hijos de su puta madre!
Those fucking motherfuckers!

On his side, Jessi is lost.

JESSI
En la cajuela...
In the trunk...

GUSTAVO BRUN
¿En la cajuela qué?
What? In the trunk?

JESSI
En la cajuela, está Manitas.
In the trunk, it's Manitas.

GUSTAVO BRUN
¡¿Eh?!
What?

JESSI
Mi marido... ¡es Manitas está en la cajuela, es mi marido! ¡Frena!
¡Para!

In the trunk, it's Manitas, my husband. Stop! Stop!

She grabs the wheel to force Gustavo to stop.

GUSTAVO

... ¡Eh!
Hey!

He yanks it back. Her again. He punches her. He sends her flying into the windshield...

Jessi opens the glove compartment in front of her. She grabs a gun. Aims it at Gustavo. He looks at the gun. Shakes his head, as if he has had enough.

GUSTAVO (CONT'D)

Ajjj...
Pfff...

JESSI

¡Detente!
STOP!

Gustavo hesitates, slows down, and looks in the rear view mirror. He slams on the brakes. Jessi flies forward. He tries to grab the gun. She resists. He accelerates again. A gun goes off. Shattering Gustavo's windshield. Another burst of gunfire. This time through the roof...

EXT. GUSTAVO BRUN'S CAR - NIGHT

The car arrives towards us zigzagging. Its race is punctuated by the detonations and the shots flashing the interior.

Suddenly the car swerves and flies down the embankment.

The camera closes in on the edge of the ravine.

EXT. GUSTAVO BRUN'S CAR - NIGHT

The car has crashed a hundred meters below.

EXT. GUSTAVO BRUN'S CAR - NIGHT

The camera slowly moves in on the trunk of the car. We hear twisting metal, the radiator whistling, other unpleasant noises, like creaks and groans.

Then suddenly, the car explodes in flames.

EXT. MOUNTAIN - NIGHT

Down in the ravine, the car is a blazing inferno.

Pulling back, we see Rita watching the car burn. Powerless.

The red flames reflected on her face.

INT. EMILIA'S HOUSE - DAY

Start 5M30 Las Damas

A window framed from the outside, it's an empty frame. Then a voice:

HOUSEMAID (OFF)

Ahí vienen señora Rita.

Here they come, Mrs. Rita.

Rita appears behind the window. She is dressed in black, her face defeated. In the reflection of the glass appear the small silhouettes of Diego and ÁNGEL. They are escorted by two policemen.

RITA

Mis hijos, mi familia.

My children, my family.

EPIFANÍA (O.S.)

Dedico este poema

A la que fuera tan amada

Durante fugaces instantes

I dedicate this poem

To the one who was so loved

During these fleeting moments

A la mujer de mis noches

A la que se iba al alba

To the woman of my nights

To the one who left at dawn

EPIFANÍA (CONT'D)

A quien bebió de mis fuentes

Y cuyo misterio me falta

Como una estrella lejana

A quien me dejó ser libre

Y tan libre como el aire

Tan libre como su perfume

To the woman of my nights

To the one who left at dawn

Without ever telling me about her

To the one who drank from my spring

And whose mystery I miss

Like a distant star

To the one who let me free

Free as the air

Free as her perfume

CHORUS

A quien en un segundo
Abriendo sus cálidos brazos
Atravesó nuestro camino

To the one who within a second Opening her warm arms,
Crossed our path.

EXT. MEXICO CITY SUBURBS - DAY

Epifanía in mourning walks and sings.

EPIFANÍA

A quien hizo el milagro
De cambiar el plomo en oro
Volviendo a soñar este mundo

To the one who accomplished the miracle
Of changing lead into gold
And enchanted the world again

EPIFANÍA (CONT'D)

A quien izo a nuestro lado
Al lado de los condenados
La bandera de la verdad

To the one who raised the flag of Truth
At our side, the damned

She is joined by a group of people who sing with her.
In low angle: a statue fills the entire screen, swaying in front of us to the rhythm of the people carrying it. It is a naive statue of Emilia. Hands slightly apart, she seems to show the three fingers that are missing.

Below and behind a brass band with drummers. Behind a line of mourners. Copper faces, poorly clothed, feet and dust..

A quien, ardiente figura,
Por su gracia maravillosa,
Nos llenó de felicidad

To her who, fiery figure, filled us,
Thanks to her wonderful grace, with happiness

A la que nunca regresará
A la que guardó su enigma
Que quizás conocen ustedes

To the one who will never return
To the one who will keep her secret forever
The secret you might know

A la que no acabé de amar
Con quien no terminé de bailar
Ofrezco un ramo de flores

To the one I will never finish loving
With whom I will never finish dancing
I offer this bouquet of flowers

Under and behind a brass and drum band. Behind a line of processionalists. Copper faces, poor people's clothes, feet and dust.

The music and the sound stop before the images: silent orchestra, silent faces, silent crowd. Just movement and colors.
