

Michael Douglas Jodie Foster

The Game

by

John Brancato & Michael Ferris

and Larry Gross

and

Andrew Kevin Walker

4/11/96

HOME MOVIES from the 50's, SILENT and grainy:

EXT. MANSION -- DAY -- HOME MOVIES

A stately mansion. A perfect lawn. A nanny in uniform, ILSA, carries a birthday cake with sparking sparklers...

Past wealthy MEN in crewcuts and thin ties, WOMEN in sunglasses. Everyone sings (silent) "Happy Birthday"...

CHILDREN follow the cake, in dresses and suits, gathering round NICHOLAS VAN ORTON, 7, guest of honor, who wears a blindfold. MOTHER comes to remove the blindfold and Nicholas ogles the cake, laughs. He reaches for a sparkler. STEP PRINT: Mother intercepts, fussing, fixing his hair...

Nicholas' FATHER sits near, smoking, nodding. He's intense, thin, wearing a party hat. He notices the camera without mugging for it, bends to snuff his cigarette in an ashtray.

SPLICE-JUMP TO/STEP PRINT: a Harlequin CLOWN ties balloon animals. Nicholas assists, distracted by the inattentive children who look into the camera and pull hair and stand on their chairs...

Men are drinking, storytelling, laughing. A fraternity...

The women are elsewhere, doing movie-vamp poses for the camera, blowing cigarette smoke, brightly dressed, pretty, lipstick perfect...

Servants clear the table. Father holds a piece of untouched cake. A man talks to him, but Father stares off, lost in thought. He's forgotten the party hat on his head...

STEP PRINT: Mother puts her arms around Father and makes him face the camera. He leans in, posing dutifully.

SPLICE-JUMP TO: children play tag. Across the lawn, Father heads to the house. He looks back, walks backwards. STEP PRINT: He gives a small wave, continuing away...

Kids chase past. Nicholas and two other kids huddle, arms locked, spinning round and round, till they stumble different directions, falling, laughing, dizzy...

Nicholas gets up, wearing a PUPPET on each hand. STEP PRINT: He walks CLOSE and peers in the camera, steps back, talking happily. We can't hear because it's SILENT...

DISSOLVE TO:

INT. VAN ORTON MANSION, BATHROOM -- MORNING

The emotionless face of NICHOLAS VAN ORTON, just today 48, looks upon itself in a mirror. He brings an electric shaver across his chin, shuts it off, wipes his face with a towel.

INT. VAN ORTON MANSION, MASTER BEDROOM -- MORNING

Nicholas crosses. The bedroom is spacious, devoid of clutter. A weight-machine in a far corner. A big T.V. shows CNN with no sound.

At a bedside table, Nicholas picks up a heavy, gold ROLEX, sliding it on, checking the time. 6:32.

INT. VAN ORTON MANSION, KITCHEN -- MORNING

Nicholas stands at the kitchen island, his tie thrown over his shoulder, eating breakfast. ILSA, now elderly, is across the way doing dishes.

The only sounds are the tiny clicks of Nicholas' knife and fork against his plate. He's reading a German newspaper.

Nicholas jabs the last piece of egg, skewers the last bit of ham and last square of toast. Plate's clean.

He sips his last swallow of juice, dabs his mouth with a napkin, picks up his briefcase and heads to a back door.

NICHOLAS
(without looking)
Thank you.

ILSA
Have a nice day.

EXT. VAN ORTON MANSION, BACKYARD -- MORNING

Nicholas walks down a garden pathway to a three-car garage. He looks at his Rolex.

CUT TO:

INT. NICHOLAS' BENTLEY -- MORNING

Bentley Continental Coupe. Quiet. Nicholas drives, begins humming, barely audible. The Smashing Pumpkins song, "Bullet with Butterfly Wings."

NICHOLAS
(sings, to self)
... despite all my rage, I am still just a rat in a cage...

(CONTINUED)

Nicholas changes lanes, HONKS the HORN, impassive. We can BARELY HEAR the BEEPING in here. He glances back.

He drives, adjusts his mirror. Resumes humming.

CUT TO:

EXT. VAN ORTON BUILDING -- MORNING

Distinctive SAN FRANCISCO skyline on the horizon. Nicholas' building is a brownstone bookended by skyscrapers. Old money dwarfed by new. The Bentley arrives...

INT. VAN ORTON BUILDING, UNDERGROUND GARAGE -- MORNING

The Bentley moves past a valet station. One VALET follows.

The Bentley takes its space. A brass plaque reads: "NICHOLAS VAN ORTON, Van Orton Enterprises." The valet opens the car door for Nicholas.

CUT TO:

INT. VAN ORTON OFFICE -- MORNING

Two objects on Nicholas' desk: phone and laptop computer. He's on the phone, operating the laptop with one hand. Business talk, mile-a-minute:

MALE VOICE (v.o.)

(from phone)

... might be perched on majority shares, you're not the only one who gets hurt if the actuals crash. Forecasts were fucked to begin with.

NICHOLAS

(into phone)

The moment Baer/Grant's P and L report is in my hand, I will be speed dialing your number.

Empty walls. No distractions. MARIA, the proper executive assistant, stands practically at attention.

MALE VOICE (v.o.)

That a promise?

NICHOLAS

I'm sorry... I'm unfamiliar with the term.

MALE VOICE (v.o.)

And if Alan calls me with a sob story about substantiation procedure?

(CONTINUED)

NICHOLAS

Take evasive action: have your secretary say you're in a meeting.
Goodbye, Jack.

MALE VOICE (v.o.)

Yeah.

Nicholas hangs up, shuffling computer windows: stock quotes, pie-charts, graphs, lists. Maria refers to an index card.

MARIA

Invitations: the Museum Gala.

NICHOLAS

No.

MARIA

The Fitzwilliam Botanical Annual Fundraiser.

NICHOLAS

No.

MARIA

The Hinchberger wedding.

NICHOLAS

Let me think...

(sits back, eyes closed)

Hordes of men in tuxedos. Everyone droning. Ludwell tries to break the ice by reciting an off-color limerick...

MARIA

(impatient)

I'll send your regrets. Honestly, must I bother?

NICHOLAS

If you don't know about society,
Maria, you don't have the satisfaction of avoiding it.

A KNOCK and a female ASSISTANT enters. There's a lot more NOISE and ACTIVITY behind her.

ASSISTANT

Elizabeth on line three.

Nicholas taps his fingers on his lips, considering.

MARIA

Your ex-wife.

(CONTINUED)

NICHOLAS
Second ex-wife.
(to assistant)
Take a message.

ASSISTANT
Um... Happy Birthday, sir.

Nicholas squints.

MARIA (icily)
Thank you, Maggie.

The assistant backs out. Nicholas returns to his computer.

NICHOLAS
I don't like her.

MARIA
I wouldn't mention the following, except she was very insistent...

NICHOLAS
What?

MARIA
A young woman left a message requesting a lunch, but I assured her...

NICHOLAS
What woman, Maria?

MARIA
Polly Flinders, she said.

Nicholas looks up. He sits back, lost in thought.

NICHOLAS
(to himself)
Little Polly Flinders... Sat among the cinders.

MARIA
Pardon me? I'm afraid I don't...

NICHOLAS
Cancel lunch. Make reservations at Tadich Grill for Ms. Flinders and me.

Maria nods, heading out, high heels clicking as she crosses.

NICHOLAS
Apologize for the late notice. Make sure I get my table.

CUT TO:

INT. TADICH GRILL RESTAURANT -- DAY

Upscale. Quiet. Nicholas is in a booth, studying a thick FINANCIAL STATEMENT, engrossed, making tiny notations. A WOMAN comes to stand at the table, waiting, mostly O.S.

WOMAN'S VOICE (o.s.)

Ready to order, sir?

NICHOLAS

I'm still waiting...

Nicholas motions to the plate across from him without looking up, then taps his empty glass with his pen.

NICHOLAS

This was iced tea.

He glances at his watch, then returns to the statement. The woman remains there. Nicholas turns a page, then notices her. He's annoyed, finally looking up...

NICHOLAS

Is there something... ?
(surprised recognition)
Grace...

The woman, GRACE, smiles, pretty, unkempt, tan. She slides into her seat just as he's rising to greet her.

NICHOLAS

I didn't...

GRACE

Happy Birthday, dad.
(of Nicholas' report)
Hate to interrupt the raucous celebration. Settle down or management's going to ask you to leave.

Nicholas sits back down, closing the report.

NICHOLAS

Always good to see you, "Polly."

GRACE

Little Polly Flinders, sat among the cinders, warming her pretty toes.

NICHOLAS

Father came and caught her, And whipped his little daughter, For spoiling her nice new clothes.

(CONTINUED)

Grace is amused, jumps back up and forces an awkward hug on Nicholas. He's stiff, a bit unsure.

NICHOLAS
This is... a surprise.

Grace releases and sits back down, looking around.

GRACE
Nice restaurant. I remember being here a long time ago...

NICHOLAS
I took you once.

GRACE
I think I used to buy crystal-meth from the maitre d'.

NICHOLAS
Really?

GRACE
In grad-school.

NICHOLAS
Which grad-school?

Grace smiles. Father and daughter take each other in for a moment. Long moment. They're a bit stunned to be reunited.

NICHOLAS
You look good.

GRACE
So do you. And to think I was worried...

NICHOLAS
About me?

GRACE
How long's it been? Since grandma's funeral... five years? How are you?

NICHOLAS
Never better.

GRACE
Elizabeth?

NICHOLAS
Divorced. Remarried to some pediatrician or gynecologist, or pediatric gynecologist, in Sausalito. How's your mother?

(CONTINUED)

GRACE
I assume she and the pharmaceutical tycoon are still sailing the globe.

NICHOLAS
You haven't kept in touch?

GRACE
No. It's too bad about Elizabeth. I liked her. So, you're all alone in the House of Pain?

NICHOLAS
I redecorated. What about you?

GRACE
You don't keep track of my whereabouts anymore?

NICHOLAS
Not since rehab. What brings you here? Is everything alright?

GRACE
Yeah.

NICHOLAS
You need anything?

GRACE
No.

NICHOLAS
Really?

GRACE
I don't need anything from you. I was laying on a beach in Havana, and it hit me -- daddy's birthday. So, here I am, four layovers and one donkey ride later. Not necessarily in that order.

Grace drops an envelope on the table.

GRACE
For you.

NICHOLAS
You shouldn't have.

Nicholas opens it, takes out a sappy, Hallmark B-day card. A BUSINESS CARD falls out. Nicholas picks it up...

(CONTINUED)

GRACE
What do you get the man who has everything?

The card: "Consumer Recreation Services." With a PHONE NUMBER and ADDRESS below.

GRACE
Call that number.

NICHOLAS
"Consumer Recreation Services..."
I have golf clubs.

GRACE
Trust me. Call that number.

NICHOLAS
Why?

GRACE
Because they make your life fun.

NICHOLAS Fun?

GRACE
You've heard of it. You've seen other people having it. It's an entertainment service, but more.

NICHOLAS
An escort service?

GRACE
A profound life experience.

NICHOLAS
Like being mauled by a wild boar?

GRACE
Call them.

The WAITRESS arrives, refilling Nicholas' iced tea. The tea overflows, spilling. Nicholas blots it with a napkin.

WAITRESS
Oh, I'm sorry. Let me get you another napkin.

NICHOLAS
I'll be fine... if we could just...

She moves off as Nicholas raises a finger to order, ignored.

(CONTINUED)

GRACE
Tell me you'll call.

NICHOLAS
Okay.

GRACE
Will you?

NICHOLAS
I said I would...

GRACE
But, will you?

NICHOLAS
Are you still on medication?

GRACE
(taken aback)
Why would you say that?

The waitress returns.

WAITRESS
Ready to order?

NICHOLAS
(ignores, to Grace)
I didn't mean it like it sounded...

GRACE
I'm not on anything anymore. I'm not seeing a shrink. I'm happy.
(notices waitress, turning to her)
Do you mind... ?!

The waitress gives her a look, leaves.

GRACE
(to Nicholas)
I thought you'd like this. If you don't want to do it, don't...

NICHOLAS
I'll call them, okay?

GRACE
It doesn't matter...

NICHOLAS
I'm going to call.

GRACE
Do it for you.

(CONTINUED)

NICHOLAS
 Okay, okay... okay?
 (pause, studies card)
 I just... you know I hate surprises.

GRACE
 I know...

Grace CLINKS her fork against a glass, motioning...
 Behind Nicholas, WAITERS, WAITRESSES and BUS-BOYS, lying in wait, now gather to SING "HAPPY BIRTHDAY."

Grace stands, loving it. Nicholas forces a fake smile.

CUT TO:

EXT. NICHOLAS' NEIGHBORHOOD -- NIGHT

The Bentley cruises hilly streets, ESTATES on all sides.

INT. NICHOLAS' BENTLEY -- NIGHT

Nicholas is on his CELLULAR PHONE. CLASSICAL MUSIC PLAYS.

FEMALE VOICE (v.o.)
 (from cellular)
 ... seen the profitability report.
 No one's happy with the numbers.

NICHOLAS
 (into cellular)
 Imagine how much more unhappy I am.

FEMALE VOICE (v.o.)
 You'll deal with Alan?

NICHOLAS
 Correct.

FEMALE VOICE (v.o.)
 Okay, Nicholas. Sleep well.

NICHOLAS
 I will.

He increases VOLUME on the CLASSICAL MUSIC, makes a turn.

He looks out his window, watching the street roll past...

FLASHBACK/GRAINY HOME MOVIES -- 1950'S -- DAY

SILENT, HOME MOVIE-ISH IMAGES as before: YOUNG NICHOLAS, 10, peers out from a LIMOUSINE, watching his neighborhood pass... PERIOD FASHIONS, PERIOD CARS and HOUSES...

BACK TO SCENE, IN THE BENTLEY

Nicholas faces front. The Bentley comes to the formidable FRONT GATE of the mansion. The gate begins to slide open.

Nicholas stares ahead, expressionless.

FLASHBACK/GRAINY HOME MOVIES -- 1950'S -- DAY

The LIMOUSINE pulls up the ungated driveway. Young Nicholas emerges, carrying books, waving goodbye to the CHAUFFEUR.

Young Nicholas runs past rose bushes, heading to the house, but slows, looking up...

High up, Nicholas' FATHER, in a robe, stands on a balcony railing, looking to the sky. He's weary, lowers his gaze...

Young Nicholas is puzzled, gives a tentative wave.

Father just stares, eyes dead, expression blank.

BACK TO SCENE, IN THE BENTLEY

Nicholas looks down, puts the car in gear and drives...

THRU THE WINDSHIELD: the Bentley's headlights sweep the stately Van Orton house.

CUT TO:

EXT. VAN ORTON MANSION, BACKYARD -- NIGHT

Nicholas exits the garage, walks up the garden path. Ahead, Ilsa's leaving through the kitchen door of the house, heading across the yard to the GUEST HOUSE.

ILSA

Dinner's in the oven.

NICHOLAS

Thank you. Goodnight.

At the rear door, Nicholas stops himself.

NICHOLAS

Oh, I saw Grace this afternoon.

Ilsa stops, perking up. They're far from each other.

ILSA

Did you? How is she?

NICHOLAS

Okay. I think she's into some sort of new personal improvement cult.

(CONTINUED)

ILSA
 (nods, at a loss)
 Well... send my love, if you see her again.

Nicholas nods. Ilsa leaves.

CUT TO:

INT. VAN ORTON MANSION, KITCHEN -- NIGHT

Nicholas uses mitts to remove a dinner plate from the oven, sets it on a waiting tray: huge cheeseburger and hand-cut french fries, perfectly presented.

Nicholas picks up a CUPCAKE with a B-day candle in it.

CUT TO:

INT. VAN ORTON MANSION, DEN -- NIGHT

Nose-bleed-high ceilings. Cavernous fireplace. THREE TVs in the ENTERTAINMENT WALL, the largest showing CNN. Nicholas is seated in a chair facing his meal, pouring a glass of champagne.

He toasts to no one, takes a sip. The PHONE RINGS. Nicholas looks to it, hesitates. He hits SPEAKERPHONE.

NICHOLAS
 (to speakerphone)
 Elizabeth.

ELIZABETH (v.o.)
 (from speakerphone)
 Happy Birthday, Nick.

NICHOLAS
 (looks at watch)
 Eleven forty. You almost didn't make it this year.

Nicholas uses a REMOTE to MUTE BERNARD SHAW on the TV.

ELIZABETH (v.o.)
 Did you have a great birthday?

NICHOLAS
 Does Rose Kennedy have a black dress?
 I went not once, but twice through the spanking-machine.

ELIZABETH (v.o.)
 I can imagine. How are you?

(CONTINUED)

NICHOLAS
Grace asked me the same thing today.

ELIZABETH (v.o.)
Grace, really? I always liked her.

NICHOLAS
Anyway...

ELIZABETH (v.o.)
I just thought this... might be difficult for you.

NICHOLAS
Another birthday.

ELIZABETH (v.o.)
I meant because of your father.

NICHOLAS
That's right. He was forty-eight, wasn't he? Hadn't thought about it, to tell you the truth, thanks for the reminder.

ELIZABETH (v.o.)
Why do I call you... ?

NICHOLAS
I honestly don't know. Listen, give my best to Doctor Mel and Rachel....

ELIZABETH (v.o.)
She has a little brother on the way.
We just did the ultrasound.

NICHOLAS
An official nuclear family. You must be pleased.

ELIZABETH (v.o.)
We are.

Nicholas smiles thinly, bored, waiting for more...

NICHOLAS
Well, so... thanks for calling.

ELIZABETH (v.o.)
I should let you go.

NICHOLAS
Take care of yourself.

(CONTINUED)

ELIZABETH (v.o.)
 You too, Nicholas. I mean that, I really do.

NICHOLAS
 Um-hm. Good luck. Bye.

He PUSHES OFF the PHONE in the middle of her "goodbye." He uses the t.v. remote to give BERNARD SHAW back his VOICE.

Nicholas eats, watching the news. He takes out the business card Grace gave him, looks at it, puts it on the table.

The card: "Consumer Recreation Services."

Nicholas sits back, chewing. He stares at the ceiling.

FLASHBACK/GRAINY HOME MOVIES -- 1950'S -- DAY

SILENT IMAGES: Nicholas' FATHER stands on the high balcony, as before. He looks skyward one last time, then LAUNCHES INTO SPACE... falling in EXTREME SLOW MOTION...

A head-first dive...

CUT TO:

INT. OFFICE BUILDING, 10TH FLOOR -- DAY

"DING," elevator doors open. Nicholas and TWO EXECUTIVES are talking. As PEOPLE get on, the two executives get off.

EXECUTIVE 1
 We're getting off here.

Nicholas follows. He and the executives huddle nearby.

NICHOLAS
 (voice low)
 So, we understand each other?

EXECUTIVE 2
 We do.

NICHOLAS
 Make it work on paper, and you can count on my full support.

EXECUTIVE 1
 Right-o. We'll talk. Soon.

They shake. The executives walk away. Nicholas returns to elevator, pushes the button, waiting. He turns, noticing...

A massive WALL OF TRANSLUCENT GLASS marks the offices of "C.R.S." Modern. Activity beyond it.

(CONTINUED)

Nicholas finds this disconcerting. He takes out his wallet, digging up the C.R.S. business card, studying it... looking again to the glass facade to double check.

He looks at his Rolex.

ON THE OTHER SIDE OF THE GLASS DOORS

Nicholas enters. A female RECEPTIONIST speaks into a HEADSET/PHONE. EMPLOYEES mill about. UTILITY MEN sort crawlspace wiring.

NICHOLAS
(to receptionist, shows "C.R.S." card)
Is this Consumer Recreation Services... ?

The receptionist takes the card. In the b.g., JIM FEINGOLD pays a DELIVERY GUY for CHINESE FOOD.

RECEPTIONIST
(into PHONE)
You shouldn't feel this reflects negatively upon yourself.
(to Nicholas)
Just a moment.
(back into phone)
We hope we haven't caused you any inconvenience. Thank you for considering C.R.S.

She studies the card, hangs up and motions to Feingold, a bald, amiable engineer-type who passes with his food bag.

RECEPTIONIST
Mister Feingold... could you assist this gentleman?

Feingold spins on his heels, looking, walking over with his hand out. Nicholas shakes.

FEINGOLD
Jim Feingold, V.P. Engineering and Data Analysis.

NICHOLAS
I'm not quite sure how this works.
My daughter...

FEINGOLD
Oh, here we go...

Feingold takes the card the receptionist offers, examines it, turns it over: finds FOUR NUMBERS on the back.

(CONTINUED)

FEINGOLD
(of the numbers)
Excellent. Let's get started.

Nicholas picks up his briefcase to follow Feingold.

INT. C.R.S. OFFICES -- DAY

Big operation. Feingold leads past partitioned cubicles that seem to go on forever. C.R.S. WORKERS abound. TELEPHONE CO. WORKMEN operate on the phones.

FEINGOLD
Sorry about about all the hullabaloo.
We're still moving. I've got an office around here somewhere.

Feingold reaches open BOXES, begins collecting pages from each, loading up on all sorts of forms. He holds out his leaking, greasy food bag to Nicholas.

FEINGOLD
Hold this...

Nicholas reluctantly takes it, keeping it at arms length.

INT. FEINGOLD'S OFFICE -- DAY

Feingold types at his computer. Nicholas stands, looking through the pile of forms on a clipboard.

FEINGOLD
(TYPES in keyboard)
V-A-N... O-R-T-O-N...
(studies screen)
A gift from Grace Van Orton.
Interesting...

NICHOLAS
What is?

Feingold picks up his Chinese food, eats using chop-sticks. The BOX features a grinning CARTOON PANDA mascot.

FEINGOLD
(still studying screen)
Your daughter was a client with our London branch. We do a sort of informal scoring. Her numbers were outstanding.

NICHOLAS
Really?

(CONTINUED)

FEINGOLD
 (holds up box)
 Sure you're not hungry... ? Tung
 Hoy, best in Chinatown...

NICHOLAS
 No, thank you.

FEINGOLD
 (eating, mouth full)
 You need to fill out those forms.
 Application, psych-tests: M.M.P.I. and T.A.T. For the financial questionnaire, don't answer anything you don't feel like. We'll run a T.R.W....

Nicholas looks through the densely written forms.

NICHOLAS
 (reading FORM)
 "I sometimes hurt small animals.
 True or False?" "I feel guilty when I masturbate..."

Nicholas looks up, skeptical. Feingold shrugs, embarrassed.

FEINGOLD
 We don't write the questions. We just review them.

NICHOLAS
 What's all this for?

FEINGOLD
 We want a sense of your overall capabilities, limitations, turns-ons, turn-offs...

NICHOLAS
 No, I mean, what is it for? What are you selling?

FEINGOLD
 Oh... it's a game.

NICHOLAS
 A game?

FEINGOLD
 Tailored specifically to each participant. Think of it as a great vacation, except you don't go to it, it comes to you.

(CONTINUED)

NICHOLAS
What kind of vacation?

FEINGOLD
It's different every time.

NICHOLAS
(patience waning)
Humor me with specifics.

FEINGOLD
We provide whatever's lacking.

NICHOLAS
And if nothing's lacking?

FEINGOLD
May I make two suggestions... ?

NICHOLAS
You really think I'll participate without knowing a single thing?

FEINGOLD
First, admit to yourself that it sounds intriguing. Second, you don't have to decide today. Take the silly tests, fill out the stupid forms.
One day, the game begins. You either love it or hate it. Decide then.
We're like an experiential Book-of-the-Month-Club; drop out at any time with no further obligation.
(smiles)
That was my sales pitch.

Nicholas thumbs thru the forms one last time...

NICHOLAS
How long will these take?

FEINGOLD
An hour for those... maybe another for the physical.

NICHOLAS
Physical?

FEINGOLD
Cursory examination. Turn-your-head-and-cough sort of thing. You'll be out of here in no time.

Feingold takes out a ballpoint pen, clicks it and offers it to Nicholas. Nicholas takes it.

(CONTINUED)

On the pen, in tiny letters: the "C.R.S." LOGO.

CUT TO:

TESTING MONTAGE -- VARIOUS C.R.S. OFFICES -- DAY

- Nicholas fills out an APPLICATION of endless questions.

- A #2 pencil fills in circles on a long M.M.P.I. form.

CLOSE ON: "I often feel someone is following me. True/False." "I hate vegetables. True/False." "Vegetables hate me. True/False."

- WHITE ROOM. A stone-faced PSYCHOLOGIST holds up CARDS. Nicholas gives his unenthusiastic interpretation into a TAPE RECORDER, checks his Rolex.

One CARD shows a large ant in an apron feeding a TV dinner to a human child. That card is replaced by another of a man slipping head over heels on a banana peel.

- Nicholas wears HEADPHONES, facing a TECHNICIAN, raising a finger on his left fist or right fist for each low BEEP. Nicholas sighs, can't believe he's doing this.

INT. C.R.S. OFFICES, EXAM ROOM -- MONTAGE CONTINUES

Electronic MONITORS and PRINTERS record Nicholas' EEG and EKG. He's on an exam table, wearing a paper gown, covered in SENSORS and WIRES, talking on a C.R.S. telephone.

NICHOLAS

(into phone)

... cancel. Push back to Wednesday afternoon.

A TECHNICIAN studies readouts. A NURSE takes BLOOD PRESSURE.

MARIA (v.o.)

(from phone)

Mister Sutherland called about Baer/Grant Publishing.

NICHOLAS

(into phone)

Tomorrow. Hold on...

(to NURSE)

How much longer?

NURSE

Almost done.

NICHOLAS

We were almost done two hours ago.

(CONTINUED)

The nurse smiles, pumping up the blood-pressure cuff.
Nicholas returns to the phone.

- DARK ROOM. Images FLASH on a screen: SHAPES, CURSE WORDS, PICTURES of U.S. PRESIDENTS, INSECTS...

In flickering light, Nicholas, still in his gown, watches with THREE BUTTONS before him, pushing one from time to time. Frustrated, he looks around. He stands and turns...

Directly into the projector's bright BEAM OF LIGHT.

NICHOLAS
Hello... ? Anyone there?
(squints, holds up hand)
Hello?!

CUT TO:

INT. C.R.S. OFFICES, EXAM ROOM -- DAY

Nicholas dresses, alone, pulling up his pants. He notices above: a MIRRORRED DOME in the corner, obviously a camera.

Nicholas pulls on his jacket as Feingold arrives.

FEINGOLD
Sorry to keep you waiting.

NICHOLAS
Don't worry. It's been terrific spending the entire day with your "crack team".

FEINGOLD
It's all down to this...

Feingold holds out a CLIPBOARD with PAPERWORK in it.
Nicholas takes it, studies it, wary.

FEINGOLD
An insurance company requirement. It states that you are aware "the game" exists and that you are a willing participant in said game, so on and so forth.

Nicholas flips a page and Feingold leans over, pointing.

FEINGOLD
(of the paperwork)
Our guarantee. Payment's entirely at your daughter's discretion and, as a gift, dependent on your satisfaction.

(CONTINUED)

NICHOLAS
(still reading)
You mean, I don't like it, she doesn't pay?

FEINGOLD
It's never happened. We've never had a unsatisfied customer.

NICHOLAS
You mean, disssatisfied.

FEINGOLD
(glances at form)
That's right -- you're a left-brain word fetishist.

Nicholas uses the C.R.S. pen to sign. Feingold turns pages.

FEINGOLD
Initials... initials, and...
(another page)
Sign here.

Nicholas is about to sign when Feingold grabs his wrist...

FEINGOLD
In blood.
(laughs)
Just kidding.

Nicholas signs. Feingold tears out a few PINK TINTED COPIES and hands them to Nicholas, kind of in a hurry now.

FEINGOLD
Your copies, thank you. Keep the pen. We'll let you know.

Feingold exits, gives a thumbs-up and a WINK, shuts the door. Nicholas is a bit bewildered. He continues dressing.

NICHOLAS
(muttering to self)
... grown man just winked at me.

CUT TO:

INT. ATHLETIC CLUB, RACQUETBALL COURT -- NIGHT

WHAM! -- a blue racquetball BALL SLAMS a wall...

THRU A WINDOW: Nicholas plays, alone, swatting violently at the ball. We HEAR a PHONE CONVERSATION in VOICE OVER:

GRACE (v.o.)
What about Monday or Tuesday?

(CONTINUED)

NICHOLAS (v.o.)
Bad for me.

GRACE (v.o.)
How 'bout tonight?

NICHOLAS (v.o.)
I'm working all evening. Wednesday's the only possibility right now...

GRACE (v.o.)
Okay.

NICHOLAS (v.o.)
Dinner?

GRACE (v.o.)
Fine. I pick the restaurant.

NICHOLAS (v.o.)
By the way, I went to your C.R.S...

GRACE (v.o.)
Really? What'd you think?

NICHOLAS (v.o.)
They seem a bit disorganized.

Nicholas finishes playing, exits. The ball keeps bouncing.

GRACE (v.o.)
Well, that office is new. I did it in London, where they've been around awhile. Are you going to do this?

NICHOLAS (v.o.)
Haven't decided yet.

CUT TO:

INT. ATHLETIC CLUB, LOCKER ROOM -- NIGHT

Carpeted floors and mahogany lockers. Nicholas sits at his locker, wet, in a monogrammed robe, toweling his hair.
VOICES can be HEARD O.S.: BUSINESSMAN 1 and BUSINESSMAN 2.

BUSINESSMAN 1 (o.s.)
... getting in on the ground floor of the next Disneyland.

BUSINESSMAN 2 (o.s.)
C.R.S. will not go public. They're family owned.

BUSINESSMAN 1 (o.s.)
Stranger things have happened.

(CONTINUED)

BUSINESSMAN 2 (o.s.)
No, they haven't, actually.

Nicholas leans to look around a locker. Businessman 1 and 2 dress, two fat-cats. Nicholas leans back, still listening.

BUSINESSMAN 1 (o.s.)
They opened here.

BUSINESSMAN 2 (o.s.)
The game in San Francisco? See, they're doing fine without any of us.

INT. ATHLETIC CLUB, LOUNGE/BAR -- NIGHT

Nicholas enters, looking around, spotting Businessman 1 and 2 across the room. He gets the BARTENDER'S attention, motioning to the businessmen.

NICHOLAS
New members?

BARTENDER
I believe so, sir.

NICHOLAS
This round's on me.

Nicholas moves casually toward the men...

INT. ATHLETIC CLUB, BAR/LOUNGE -- TIME CUT

LATER. Another round arrives at the table where Nicholas and Businessman 1 and 2 chat. The businessmen smoke cigars.

BUSINESSMAN 1
... last time I played Pebble, I swore I'd never pick up a club again.

NICHOLAS
Speaking of games... I couldn't help but overhear you talking about C.R.S.

Businessman 1 and 2 share a furtive glance. Nicholas discretely waves cigar smoke out of his face.

NICHOLAS
I only mention it because I took the test this afternoon, down on Montgomery.

BUSINESSMAN 2
Did you? Kudos.

BUSINESSMAN 1
So, yours hasn't started?

(CONTINUED)

NICHOLAS
Not yet. I was hoping you could tell me... uh...
(almost embarrassed)
What is it?

Businessman 1 and 2 smile. Shared enlightenment.

BUSINESSMAN 1
(to Businessman 2, knowingly)
Ahh, what is it?

BUSINESSMAN 2
The eternal question.

BUSINESSMAN 1
(to Nicholas)
I envy you. I wish I could go back and do it for the first time all over again...

He raises his glass. They toast.

BUSINESSMAN 1
Here's to... new experiences.
(gulps drink)
If you'll excuse me, I've got to be going. 'Night, Ted... Nicholas.

He leaves. Nicholas focuses on Businessman 2.

NICHOLAS
Did you play recently?

BUSINESSMAN 2
Hm? Oh, about a year ago. I was working out of Los Angeles.

NICHOLAS
(nodding)
I've heard good things about their London branch.
(leans in)
You have to admit, it sounds like some fantasy, role-playing nonsense.

BUSINESSMAN 2
You want to know what it is? What it's all about?
(off Nicholas' nod)
John. Chapter nine. Verse twenty-five.

(CONTINUED)

NICHOLAS

I, uh... haven't been to Sunday school in years...

BUSINESSMAN 2

"Whereas once I was blind, now I can see."

(rises)

Night, Nick. Best of luck.

Businessman 2 puffs his cigar, walks away. Nicholas watches him go, then pauses, puzzled, mouthing the words to himself.

CUT TO:

INT. LAW FIRM, CONFERENCE ROOM -- DAY

A table of unhappy LAWYERS. Nicholas goes thru a thick CONTRACT with a red pen, CIRCLING, CROSSING-OUT and SCRAWLING QUESTION MARKS ON paragraphs that displease him.

SUTHERLAND, trust personified, in his late 50's, stands behind Nicholas, imperturbable.

NICHOLAS

(still scrawling)

If the Baer/Grant meeting does not take place tomorrow, it might as well never take place at all.

Nicholas slides the contract to the center of the table.

SUTHERLAND

When Mr. Van Orton boards his plane in the morrow, he will have every contract, side agreement and addendum; the complete closing package, flawlessly revised.

INSTANT UPROAR as the contract is grabbed up. All the lawyers talk at once, fearful, arguing, protesting.

SUTHERLAND

This is why you're paid twice what you deserve. So you miss another opera you would've fallen asleep during anyway...

During this, Nicholas' CELLULAR PHONE is HEARD RINGING. Nicholas takes it out, irritated.

SUTHERLAND

You now have the opportunity to show our client how well you will rise to his exhilarating challenge.

(CONTINUED)

QUIET COMMOTION resumes as Nicholas takes his cellular phone to a corner, answering impatiently:

NICHOLAS
(into cellular)
Yes?

WOMAN'S VOICE (v.o.)
(from cellular)
Nicholas Van Orton?

NICHOLAS
Yes, who is this?

WOMAN'S VOICE (v.o.)
This is Cynthia from C.R.S...

NICHOLAS
How did you get this number?

WOMAN'S VOICE (v.o.)
We've finished processing your application...

NICHOLAS
I'm in a meeting...

WOMAN'S VOICE (v.o.)
... I'm afraid it was rejected.

NICHOLAS
(pause)
Pardon me?

WOMAN'S VOICE (v.o.)
You shouldn't feel this reflects negatively upon yourself. We hope we haven't caused you any inconvenience...

NICHOLAS
This is absurd...

WOMAN'S VOICE (v.o.)
Thank you for thinking of C.R.S.

CLICK -- she's hung up. Nicholas folds the phone and pockets it, his mind suddenly far away from the meeting behind him. Sutherland steps close, concerned, quiet...

SUTHERLAND
Anything wrong... ?

NICHOLAS
No. Nothing at all.

CUT TO:

EXT. FINANCIAL DISTRICT STREETS -- NIGHT

Nicholas guides the Bentley down streets lined with skyscrapers, staring ahead. A previous PHONE CONVERSATION is HEARD in V.O., a PHONE RINGING... RINGING... RINGING...

SWITCHBOARD OPERATOR (v.o.)
Would you like voice-mail?

NICHOLAS (v.o.)
I suppose.

SWITCHBOARD OPERATOR (v.o.)
I'll connect you. Thank you for calling the Four Seasons.

EXT. NICHOLAS' NEIGHBORHOOD -- NIGHT

The Bentley heads towards home. The V.O. PHONE CONVERSATION CONTINUES uninterrupted, CLICKING, then...

GRACE'S VOICE (v.o.)
(voice-mail recording)
This is Grace. Leave a message.

NICHOLAS (v.o.)
(waits till after BEEP)
Grace, it's dad. You... give me a ring when you get a chance...

INT. BENTLEY -- NIGHT

The Bentley reaches the VAN ORTON GATES, which open slow.
V.O. CONVERSATION CONTINUES:

NICHOLAS (v.o.)
About your birthday gift. Things are crazy right now. I'm not sure it'll fit my schedule. Anyway, see you at dinner tomorrow.

The PHONE is HEARD DISCONNECTING.

EXT. VAN ORTON MANSION -- NIGHT

The Bentley's headlights sweep the front of the Van Orton house. There's SOMETHING there, on the ground...

INSIDE THE BENTLEY

Nicholas stops the car, peering ahead, worried...

THRU THE WINDSHIELD: something lies in a heap on the edge of the driveway.

FLASHBACK/GRAINY HOME MOVIES -- 1950'S -- DAY

The BODY of Nicholas' FATHER, sprawled face-down, in nearly the same place, head twisted, mouth bloody.

BACK TO SCENE

Nicholas gets slowly out of the Bentley, reluctant. It looks like a BODY lying there.

NICHOLAS
Hello! What are you doing there?
(no reaction) Wonderful...

Nicholas CLAPS his hands. The body doesn't stir. Nicholas look all directions, then approaches.

NICHOLAS
Are you okay?

Nicholas nudges the body with his foot. He crouches, confused, turning the limp body. It's a grotesque HARLEQUIN, not unlike the clown from Nicholas' seventh birthday, with a shiny face of painted wood.

Nicholas looks around for an explanation.

CUT TO:

INT. VAN ORTON MANSION, FOYER -- NIGHT

The front door opens. Nicholas enters with the Harlequin, depositing it on a hallway BENCH, examines one of the Harlequin's wooden hands.

On the wall there are FRAMED PHOTOGRAPHS. Generations. NICHOLAS' MOTHER and FATHER. YOUNG NICHOLAS. NICHOLAS holding young GRACE. WEDDING PHOTOS of ELIZABETH.

Below, Nicholas stoops to examine -- a half-inch of RED RIBBON sticks out from the Harlequin's lips. Nicholas tugs the ribbon... pulling out a GOLD KEY tied to the other end.

Three letters embossed on the key: "C.R.S."

CUT TO:

INT. VAN ORTON MANSION, DEN -- NIGHT

Nicholas sits with his evening's meal, examining the key. CNN on TV. He looks across the room to the couch where the Harlequin is slumped staring back.

(CONTINUED)

BERNARD SHAW (v.o.)
 (from television)
 ... according to Nicholas Van Orton, millions of Americans will be affected by this legislation.

Nicholas hears this vaguely in the back of his mind, looks to the TV. BERNARD SHAW has moved on to the next story.

Nicholas goes to the Harlequin, opening its hinged mouth, attempting to look inside. He gets a knife from his tray, uses it to probe the Harlequin's mouth, jabbing, prying.

BERNARD SHAW (v.o.)
 ... number of criminals behind bars growing by record numbers, with Van Orton pointing the finger at stiff, anti-crime regulations...

Nicholas looks up. He heard that. He walks toward the TV.
 Bernard Shaw is reporting, nothing strange.

Nicholas waits. Nothing. He walks away...

BERNARD SHAW (v.o.)
 ... largest portion of population incarcerated. These figure were given at a press conference called today by Mr. Nicholas Van Orton.

Nicholas turns, disbelieving. Bernard Shaw apparently looks out FROM THE TELEVISION, perturbed...

BERNARD SHAW (v.o.)
 You going to spend the rest of the evening prying at that clown's mouth?

NICHOLAS
 (dumbfounded)
 I... I don't...

BERNARD SHAW (v.o.)
 It's frustrating for me if you don't even pretend to pay attention.

NICHOLAS
 What is this... ?

BERNARD SHAW (v.o.)
 This is your game, Nicholas, and welcome to it. I'm here to let you in on a few ground rules...

Bernard Shaw's FACE RIPPLES and GLITCHES occasionally, revealing its true, computer-generated nature.

(CONTINUED)

BERNARD SHAW (v.o.)
You've received the first key and others will follow. You never know where you'll find them, or when or how you'll need to use them, so keep your eyes open.

NICHOLAS
(waves his hand)
How do you... ? You can see me?

BERNARD SHAW (v.o.)
I see you, I hear you. Why don't we save the questions till...

NICHOLAS
How does this work?

BERNARD SHAW (v.o.)
There's a tiny camera looking at you right now.

NICHOLAS
That's impossible.

BERNARD SHAW (v.o.)
You're right. Impossible. You're having a conversation with your television.

Nicholas touches the TV, feeling the seams.

BERNARD SHAW (v.o.)
It's miniaturized.

Nicholas begins poking his butter knife between slots of the television's speaker, stabbing, poking...

BERNARD SHAW (v.o.)
Do you know how dangerous that is?

Nicholas pries at the plastic speaker cover. It's not easy, but he's determined, cracking the plastic...

ILSA (o.s.)
Mister Van Orton... ?

The speaker cover breaks off with a SNAP! and Nicholas spins, holding the broken piece.

NICHOLAS
Yes... Ilsa, what is it?

ON T.V., Bernard Shaw grabs up pages, resumes...

(CONTINUED)

BERNARD SHAW (v.o.)
 ... and in other news, auto workers vowed to remain on picket lines...

Ilsa's in the doorway, wondering.

ILSA
 Is everything alright?

NICHOLAS
 Fine.

ILSA
 I've finished for the evening. Will you be needing anything else?

NICHOLAS
 No, thank you. Goodnight.

ILSA
 Goodnight then.

She leaves. Nicholas throws the piece of television away.
 Bernard Shaw stops reading now that the coast is clear.

BERNARD SHAW (v.o.)
 Who was that?

NICHOLAS
 Never mind who that was.

BERNARD SHAW (v.o.)
 You're uncomfortable. You want to know how a camera got into your home, don't you?

NICHOLAS
 Yes, I do.

ON TELEVISION: Bernard Shaw is REPLACED by a FISH-EYED IMAGE of NICHOLAS' DEN. It shows Nicholas from behind.

The P.O.V. is not from the TV. Nicholas crosses the room, keeps his eye on the TV as a guide...

BERNARD SHAW (v.o.)
 (from t.v., o.s.)
 ... cold... cold... warmer...
 warmer...

ON TELEVISION: Nicholas gets bigger as he gets closer to...

The Harlequin. Nicholas leans, looks at the clown's eyes...

ON TELEVISION: Nicholas' face is huge, distorted.

(CONTINUED)

Nicholas pries one of the Harlequin's glass eyes with his knife, pulling it out and examining it.

ON TELEVISION: the Harlequin's P.O.V. turns to STATIC. Bernard Shaw returns with a PHONE NUMBER SUPERIMPOSED.

BERNARD SHAW (v.o.)
Write this number down. It's a 24-hour Consumer Recreation Services hotline, for emergencies only. But, don't call asking what the object of the game is; figuring that out is the object of the game.

Nicholas feels his pockets, finds the C.R.S. pen. He comes up with a VALET PARKING TICKET to scrawl the number on.

BERNARD SHAW (v.o.)
Good luck and congratulations on choosing C.R.S. We now return you to your regularly scheduled program...

STATIC and SNOW, then CNN's Bernard Shaw is back for real, newscasting. Nicholas reads the number he wrote.

CUT TO:

EXT. VAN ORTON MANSION -- NIGHT

Nicholas crouches at a coaxial CABLE LINE at the side of the house. He fingers a BOX with a miniature LOOP and RABBIT EAR ANTENNA that's been spliced into the line.

He starts to unscrew it... then thinks twice. He leaves it.

INT. VAN ORTON MANSION, KITCHEN -- NIGHT

Nicholas enters thru the back door. He pauses, looking out at the night.

INT. VAN ORTON MANSION, MASTER BEDROOM -- NIGHT

Nicholas slides into bed. He leans to a KEYPAD on the wall behind him, PUNCHES in the ALARM CODE.

CUT TO:

INT. SAN FRANCISCO INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT -- DAY

Nicholas enters the vast, busy terminal, briefcase in hand. He walks with purpose, but is extra-aware of the world around him. He notices...

A MAN and WOMAN engaged in a SIGN LANGUAGE conversation.

A MAN reading a newspaper peers from behind the pages.

(CONTINUED)

A JANITOR opens a door with a big KEY CHAIN full of keys.

A MAN on a payphone seems to be staring at Nicholas...

Nicholas turns his head to keep an eye on the man, practically bumping into a grimy HOMELESS BUM...

HOMELESS BUM

Help me out there? Used to be an affluent fella, till some folks did this to me...

Nicholas moves away, leaving the homeless man behind.

HOMELESS BUM

Don't ignore me. I got screwed.

INT. AIRPORT, RED CARPET LOUNGE -- DAY

Quiet MUSIC. Rich people's lounge. Nicholas sits with a cup of coffee, considering magazines on a coffee table. Two seats down, a BUSINESSMAN coughs and rises, leaving his newspaper on the empty seat between Nicholas and himself.

Nicholas glances down, curious when he sees... A smiling-clown-face INFANT'S RATTLE on the seat beside, sticking out from under the paper.

Nicholas catches only a glimpse of the exiting businessman. Nicholas looks around, picks up the rattle.

He rattles it, studies it, rattles it in his ear. He tries to see thru it by holding up to the light. He doesn't notice the MOTHER who enters with a baby, watching him.

MOTHER

Excuse me...

Nicholas looks up, realizes, awkward, offering the rattle. She takes it and exits.

There's a BESPECTACLED MAN watching Nicholas.

Nicholas notices. Tries to ignore.

But, bespectacled man is really staring.

NICHOLAS

(sits forward, fed up)
May I help you... ?

Nicholas' tone has turned other heads. Bespectacled man seems embarrassed, shy, taps his chest.

NICHOLAS

What... ? What is it?

(CONTINUED)

Bespectacled man taps his chest again, points at Nicholas.

Nicholas looks down. Inside his suit jacket -- a huge blue INK STAIN across his shirt. Nicholas stands, aghast, taking out the offending pen.

It's the "C.R.S." pen, dripping ink.

INT. AIRPORT, BATHROOM -- DAY

Running water. Nicholas tries to clean his shirt, blotting it ineffectually with wet paper towels. He looks in the mirror, crestfallen. The stain's worse.

DEEP VOICE (o.s.)
Hey, buddy... you still out there?

Nicholas looks around. He's alone, except for a MAN in a TOILET STALL. All we see are the man's brown shoes.

DEEP VOICE (o.s.)
(from toilet stall)
I'm in a little bit of trouble...

The man's hairy hand motions from below the stall. Nicholas backs away, nervous, grabs his briefcase.

DEEP VOICE (o.s.)
I need paper. There's none in here.
Come on, help a guy out...

Nicholas considers, then hurries to exit.

DEEP VOICE (o.s.)
Hello?! Anybody? Hello?

INT. AIRPORT, METAL DETECTORS -- DAY

Nicholas' briefcase rides into the x-ray machine.

Nicholas drops his keys, cellular phone and Rolex in a tray. He passes thru the metal detector. A SECURITY GUARD brings the tray to him.

SECURITY GUARD
Nice watch.

Nicholas smiles tolerantly, collects his belongings. He waits at the x-ray conveyor belt, which is stopped. A FEMALE GUARD studies the x-ray monitor.

NICHOLAS
Is there a problem?

The female guard looks up, turns the conveyor belt back on. Nicholas' briefcase arrives.

(CONTINUED)

Nicholas moves on, aggravated. Ahead, Sutherland rises from a seat along the concourse hallway, walking to meet him.

NICHOLAS
I wasn't expecting you.

SUTHERLAND
Wanted to wish you luck. Not that you'll need it.

Sutherland offers the contract, points to Nicholas' shirt.

SUTHERLAND
Attractive...

NICHOLAS
(paging thru contract)
Don't ask.

SUTHERLAND
I checked it personally.

Nicholas nods, props his briefcase up on a window ledge, opens it and drops the contract in.

CUT TO:

EXT. SEATTLE AIRPORT, RUNWAY -- DAY

Nicholas' jet touches down.

EXT. SEATTLE AIRPORT, LOADING ZONE -- DAY

Nicholas follows a CHAUFFEUR. The chauffeur opens a LIMO door. Several pressed SHIRTS hang waiting.

EXT. BAER/GRANT BUILDING -- DAY

In the shadow of the Baer/Grant Publishing offices, the limousine idles. Downtown Seattle.

INT. BAER/GRANT PUBLISHING, ALAN BAER'S OFFICE -- DAY

Meet ALAN BAER, elderly CEO, blue-blooded, pissed.

ALAN BAER
All these years... the first time ever you step foot in these offices, it's to ask me to step down?

Nicholas stands by CHILDREN'S TEXT BOOK mock-ups. "Math-Magic." "Wonder-Words." They're "Little Baer Books."

(CONTINUED)

NICHOLAS

You promised you'd meet projections, Alan. A dollar sixty per share you said. So, I don't think this is so surprising a visit.

ALAN BAER

Projections were far too optimistic.

NICHOLAS

Admittedly...

ALAN BAER

Our E.P.S. was one fifty last quarter. We're up eight cents per share.

NICHOLAS

But, the expectation was ten. And, in this case, expectation is everything.

ALAN BAER

Will you really hold me to it over pennies?

NICHOLAS

My stock's falling. Isn't yours? Those pennies are costing me millions.

ALAN BAER

The stock will turn.

NICHOLAS

It probably will. In fact, I'd go so far as to say it almost certainly will, but in time.

ALAN BAER

Give me next quarter. If you still feel this way, vote your shares...

NICHOLAS

You're talking tomorrow. Today is what counts.

ALAN BAER

You intractable son-of-a-bitch. If your father could see you now...

NICHOLAS

What?

(CONTINUED)

ALAN BAER

Your father was a friend. Goddamn it... I watched you grow up. How do you end up treating me like this?

This swings Nicholas into a new mode: acutely-focused anger.

NICHOLAS

It is totally inappropriate for you to mention my father. Or, did you think this, between us, was friendship? Just because you went fishing with my father, I should sit on my hands while you throw my money away?

ALAN BAER

Now, look...

NICHOLAS

(holds up his hand)
I'll be done in a minute. You misspoke before. You're not "stepping down." I'm taking you out at the knees. The whole point is to prove that you're not deciding anything anymore. I'm firing you. Action's taken. Confidence restored. Stock goes up. I sell my shares.

ALAN BAER

There is no Baer/Grant Publishing without Alan Baer.

NICHOLAS

Whatever happened to Daniel Grant of Baer/Grant publishing? He's gone sailing, Alan. He's out there enjoying his golden years, probably wondering where you are.

At Alan's desk, Nicholas clears a space for his briefcase.

NICHOLAS

You made a promise. You failed. The severance I'm offering is more than equitable. Valid tonight only.

Nicholas takes a pen from a holder, lays it on the blotter.

NICHOLAS

I'll step outside, so you'll have the privacy you need.

He tries to unlatch his briefcase clasp. It's stuck.

(CONTINUED)

ALAN BAER

I could fight you on this.

NICHOLAS

If I leave without your signature, this agreement begins to disintegrate; benefits shrink, options narrow, compensations shrivel...

Nicholas works on the briefcase the whole time, distraction growing as it becomes a true struggle...

NICHOLAS

It is in your best interest...

Nicholas sits, pulling the latch, trying to see what's jammed. It refuses to open. Nicholas stares at it, frustrated, then... an odd realization...

He takes his keys out, finds the C.R.S. KEY, tries it...

It doesn't fit. It was never meant for this lock. Alan Baer watches, wondering.

Forgetting himself, Nicholas grabs up the briefcase, pulling, grunting, desperate, striking it with his palm.

Nicholas straightens, immediately composed.

NICHOLAS

Well... as luck would have it, you've gotten a temporary reprieve.

(picks up briefcase)

I have a plane to catch. My attorneys will contact you.

Nicholas exits. Alan Baer doesn't know quite what to think.

CUT TO:

EXT. SEATTLE AIRPORT TERMINAL -- DAY

On the sidewalk, Nicholas bashes his briefcase over and over again against a fire hydrant.

EXT. SAN FRANCISCO AIRPORT, RUNWAY -- SUNSET

Nicholas' jet touches down.

INT. TADICH GRILL RESTAURANT -- NIGHT

Nicholas sits staring. His battered briefcase is near. He checks his watch, impatient, flags down a WAITER...

(CONTINUED)

NICHOLAS

Is there a message up front from a
Grace Van Orton?

The waiter goes. Nicholas drums his fingers. He slides out of the booth, rising, when a WAITRESS knocks into him with a tray. Wine spills. Glasses crash.

WAITRESS

Oh, excuse me...

Nicholas looks down at his wine-stained front. The waitress is CHRISTINE, same waitress as the other night. She tries to clean him up with a napkin.

CHRISTINE

I'm so sorry.

NICHOLAS

Please, don't do that...

Nicholas snatches the napkin from her, wiping his suit.

CHRISTINE

I apologize, sir, I'm really having a bad day...

NICHOLAS

A bad month. You did the same thing to me last week.

Christine's taken aback.

NICHOLAS

Don't help me, just get more napkins.
And some soda water.

CHRISTINE

The cleaning bill will be more than the suit...

NICHOLAS

I don't think so.

CHRISTINE

(getting more napkins)
It was an accident.

NICHOLAS

Terrific.

CHRISTINE

I said I was sorry...

Nicholas turns his back on her, throwing wet napkins, picking up clean ones, still patting at the stain.

(CONTINUED)

CHRISTINE
(stews) Asshole.

Nicholas turns, angry. The MAITRE D' arrives, shocked.

MAITRE D'
Christine! Mister Van Orton is a valued customer...

CHRISTINE
Then, you kiss his ass.

She's leaving, but the maitre d' pulls her aside.

MAITRE D'
Don't talk to me like that.

CHRISTINE
(quiet, evenly)
I apologized, I offered to help.

MAITRE D'
Clean out your locker.

CHRISTINE
What?

MAITRE D'
You heard me.

CHRISTINE
Fine, Dennis. Soon as I get my money for this week.

MAITRE D'
I'll be right with you.

Christine heads to the back. The maitre d' motions for BUS BOYS to clean, smoothly guiding Nicholas to a new table...

MAITRE D'
I'm terribly sorry, Mr. Van Orton.
If you're not too uncomfortable, will this table suit you for a complimentary meal... ?

NICHOLAS
Yes. Fine.

MAITRE D'
I'll fetch you a waiter.

Nicholas sits, keeps wiping his shirt as the maitre d' hurries away. After a moment, a uniformed WAITER moves past, leaves a CHECK...

(CONTINUED)

WAITER

Check, sir.

Nicholas picks up the check, indignant.

NICHOLAS

Excuse me...

But, the waiter is long gone. Nicholas shakes his head, then the check catches his eye... "DON'T LET HER GET AWAY" scrawled across it.

Nicholas turns to look. The waiter who brought the check crosses the room, goes out the front door.

Nicholas rises, following...

EXT. TADICH GRILL RESTAURANT -- NIGHT

Nicholas comes out the front, sees: the waiter has crossed the street, still moving...

The waiter gets in a CAR as the car pulls quickly away.

Nicholas is baffled, looks at the check, heads back inside.

EXT. ALLEY, BEHIND RESTAURANT -- NIGHT

Christine exits the kitchen door, purse over her shoulder.

CHRISTINE

(back to doorway)

Yeah... ? Well, fuck you and your vichyssoise, you prick.

She heads down this dark alley. After a moment, Nicholas follows, hurrying to catch up, briefcase in hand.

NICHOLAS

Pardon me... Miss... ?

CHRISTINE

Oh, no... you.

Christine picks up the pace.

NICHOLAS

I'm not sure how this works. Do you have something for me... ? I got this note...

CHRISTINE

What are you babbling about, psycho?

(CONTINUED)

NICHOLAS
I want to know what's going on. Are you part of this?

CHRISTINE
What's going on? I'm going on my second job since April, and now I'm going on unemployment.

She keeps walking. Nicholas stops, ponders. He follows.
They're nearing the end of the alley.

NICHOLAS
Excuse me, I need to explain...

CHRISTINE
Don't explain. Fuck off. Goodbye.

Nicholas steps in a deep, splattering pot-hole, stumbles, pants soaked, stopping, fed up.

NICHOLAS
Son of a bitch!

Christine rounds the corner, heading down the street.
Nicholas reaches the sidewalk, watches her go.

NICHOLAS
(shouts after)
I'm trying to... ask you...
(giving up)
I'm apologizing...

He heads back the way he came. A strangled CRY is HEARD.
Nearby, a HEAVY MAN falls to his knees, then falls face forward to the concrete. Nicholas looks around, alone...

NICHOLAS
Jesus...

DOWN THE SIDEWALK, Christine slows, looks back...

Nicholas bends, trying to see the man's face, keeps back, afraid to actually touch him.

NICHOLAS
This can't be...

Nicholas looks up to see Christine running back.

CHRISTINE
What's with him?

NICHOLAS
I don't know... he fell.

(CONTINUED)

Christine kneels, turns Heavy Man on his side and feels for a pulse. Heavy Man convulses.

CHRISTINE
Do you know what to do?

NICHOLAS
I don't think he's breathing.

Christine clears Heavy Man's airway, pulling saliva and mucus from his mouth with two fingers.

NICHOLAS
Oh, God... !

CHRISTINE
Don't just stand there, get help!

NICHOLAS
(taking out his CELLULAR)
This can't be real...

CHRISTINE
He's pissing his pants. Is that real enough for you? Call 911!

NICHOLAS
Alright... okay...

CHRISTINE
He's turning blue!

Nicholas is starting to believe, dialing, circling as Christine gives C.P.R. He listens to his phone -- STATIC.

NICHOLAS
Damn...

He backpedals in the street, cellular to his ear, trying to catch a signal, tilts his head. STATIC. A HORN BLARES -- a CAR barely misses Nicholas, DRIVER cursing.

Nicholas anxiously punches buttons. He spots a SQUAD CAR and runs toward it...

NICHOLAS Police!

SAME STREET -- TIME CUT...

An AMBULANCE is parked. PARAMEDICS pull a stretcher, helped by TWO COPS, hurrying to the prone Heavy Man. A crowd is gathered.

Nicholas and Christine watch the paramedics work. COP ONE hands Nicholas a clipboard, everything hurried, overlapped:

(CONTINUED)

COP ONE
You have to fill these out.

NICHOLAS
I don't know this man.

Christine takes the clipboard.

CHRISTINE
(to cop, of clipboard)
What do you need... ?

Paramedics hoist Heavy Man on a stretcher and take him to the ambulance. Cop Two goes to help them lift.

NICHOLAS
(to Christine)
I can't get involved in this.

Christine moves to climb in beside the stretcher.

COP TWO
(to Nicholas)
We'll have to detain you.

COP ONE
Report's got to be filled out. Ride with your wife. We'll meet at the hospital.

PARAMEDIC
(shouting to cop)
We're moving!

Cop One leads Nicholas to the back of the ambulance.

NICHOLAS
She's not my wife.

COP ONE
It's a few blocks. Help me out, huh, pal?

Nicholas reluctantly gets in.

EXT. CITY STREETS -- NIGHT

Busy streets. The ambulance rockets on...

INT. AMBULANCE -- NIGHT

SIREN WAILING. Paramedic works. Christine fills out forms. Nicholas tries to see where they're going, frustrated.

NICHOLAS
This is insane.

(CONTINUED)

CHRISTINE
(without looking up)
What is your problem?

NICHOLAS
(digging in his pocket)
Ten minutes ago, I'm looking forward to a quiet dinner. I get a note...

Nicholas slaps his CHECK on top of Christine's paperwork.

NICHOLAS
Suddenly I'm in an ambulance. Why am
I in an ambulance?!

He looks out the window. Christine studies the check:
"DON'T LET HER GET AWAY," finds it odd, looks to Nicholas.

NICHOLAS
(wincing, to paramedic of Heavy Man)
He's breathing, isn't he? Is the siren entirely necessary?

INT. UNDERGROUND EMERGENCY ENTRANCE -- NIGHT

"Emergency Vehicles Only." The ambulance races down a RAMP, moving across this big UNDERGROUND GARAGE, doing a u-turn...

Backs up toward a busy EMERGENCY ROOM ENTRANCE. MEDICAL PERSONNEL everywhere. Other ambulances. INJURED PEOPLE.
Our paramedics get out and unload Heavy Man.

Nicholas and Christine get out, disoriented. Heavy Man's rushed inside via automatic doors. Christine hands off the clipboard to Nicholas, following the stretcher...

CHRISTINE
Let's talk to whoever can get this over with...

NICHOLAS
(reading clipboard)
Hold on...
(of the clipboard)
They want your driver's license number.

Christine returns to look, and suddenly ALL THE LIGHTS GO OUT. Nicholas and Christine look up. In the surrounding darkness, we HEAR EVERYONE FLEEING...

FOOTSTEPS SCATTER... then, SILENCE.

NICHOLAS
You've got to be kidding.

(CONTINUED)

CHRISTINE
What... is... happening... ?

The only light is a BULB inside the ambulance.

NICHOLAS
(disgust)
I was trying to tell you... it's a game.

CHRISTINE
A game?

NICHOLAS
(tosses clipboard)
It's run by a company... they play elaborate pranks. Things like this. I'm really only now finding out myself.

CHRISTINE
What are you talking about?

NICHOLAS
The lights went out, one hundred people all ran away...

CHRISTINE
You mean, the guy who turned blue and wet himself... ?

NICHOLAS
I'm sorry, about this...

CHRISTINE
You should be.

Christine climbs into the ambulance, searching.

CHRISTINE
There's got to be a flashlight.

NICHOLAS
(quietly)
I don't understand why they're getting you involved.

IN THE AMBULANCE, she finds all drawers and cabinets EMPTY.

CHRISTINE
This is fucked. I thought that guy was gonna die. I gave him mouth to mouth!

She digs in her purse, finds a book of restaurant MATCHES. She lights a match, climbing out.

(CONTINUED)

CHRISTINE
See you around.

NICHOLAS
Where are you going?

CHRISTINE
Home.

NICHOLAS
How do you know that's the way?

She just keeps walking.

A distant "DING" is HEARD. Far away, an ELEVATOR OPENS with a light inside. Christine stops.

Christine changes direction, heading for the elevator. Nicholas hurries to follow. The match burns out. A moment, then Christine strikes another, lighting the way, barely. As they squeeze between parked cars, Christine searches...

CHRISTINE
Where'd you all go? Motherfucking frat boys. You better hide.
(to Nicholas)
Is your life so pathetic that this is something you're willing to pay for?

NICHOLAS
It was a gift... from my daughter.

CHRISTINE
How thoughtful. The gift of inconvenience.

Nicholas stumbles. A beer BOTTLE is HEARD SKITTERING away.

INT. ELEVATOR -- NIGHT

They reach the elevator. Nicholas pushes a button.

NICHOLAS
Ground floor.

He and Christine step back and wait, looking up. And wait... and wait, looking unhappily to each other.

Nicholas pushes all the buttons. Nothing happens. Christine opens the EMERGENCY PHONE door: NO PHONE. Nicholas touches his finger to a KEY HOLE below the buttons.

He takes out keys, finds the C.R.S. KEY, tries it... it fits. He turns it. DOORS CLOSE and the ELEVATOR MOVES. Nicholas is pleased, sees Christine wondering.

(CONTINUED)

NICHOLAS (of the key)
Long story.
(off her stare)
I found this key in the mouth of a wooden Harlequin.

CHRISTINE
Never mind.

The ELEVATOR LURCHES, DROPS, then HALTS. LIGHTS OUT, replaced by RED EMERGENCY LIGHT. A MOTOR is HEARD DYING.

CHRISTINE
I don't like that.
(pushing BUTTONS)
We're stuck.

Nicholas takes out his phone, puts it to his ear. STATIC.

NICHOLAS
(pockets phone)
No signal.

Christine pounds on the buttons and doors, frustrated. She tries to pry the doors open. Can't.

CHRISTINE
What's the going rate for the "trapped-in-elevator-adventure" these days?

Nicholas hits BUTTONS hard. Christine studies the ceiling, moving under the square seam of the TRAP DOOR, pointing.

NICHOLAS
Don't even think about it.

CHRISTINE
Why not?

NICHOLAS
Read what it says: "Do not attempt to open. Use the emergency... "

CHRISTINE
If there was one.

NICHOLAS
"... wait for help." Wait for help.
I'm not opening a door that specifically warns me not to.

CHRISTINE
Are you suggesting we wait till someone finds us?

Nicholas considers this, looks around.

INT. ELEVATOR SHAFT -- NIGHT

The trap door CREAKS open. Nicholas looks up from the elevator, standing on hand rails. He gets down.

IN THE ELEVATOR

NICHOLAS
I'll give you a boost.

CHRISTINE
You first.

NICHOLAS
This isn't an attempt to be gallant.
If I don't lift you, how are you going to get there?

CHRISTINE
You can pull me up.

NICHOLAS
It's much easier my way. Come on, step up...

CHRISTINE
No.

NICHOLAS
Please...

CHRISTINE
I'm not wearing underwear. Okay?
There, I said it. Satisfied?

NICHOLAS
(looks at her skirt)
Oh. Fine.

Nicholas starts climbing...

IN THE ELEVATOR SHAFT

Nicholas comes up, batting cobwebs, tentative. He grips a handful of grease, disgusted. He climbs thru, catching his jacket on a jutting screw, FABRIC RIPPPPPPPING...

CHRISTINE (o.s.)
Oops.

Nicholas stands in the shaft, pissed. He looks for a place to wipe his hand, wipes it on his jacket, looking up.

NICHOLAS
There's a ladder here.

IN THE ELEVATOR

CHRISTINE
My hero. Let's go.

Nicholas offers his grease covered hand from above.

CHRISTINE
I don't think so.

Nicholas withdraws that hand, offers the clean one.

CUT TO:

INT. BUILDING LOBBY -- NIGHT

Elevator doors shift, forced from inside. Nicholas climbs out, then pulls Christine out behind him. They're head-to-toe filthy, clothing ruined.

NICHOLAS
Damn. My briefcase.

He looks back down the shaft.

CHRISTINE
I'll wait.

NICHOLAS
(resigned sigh)
It's not like anyone could actually open it.

They walk, looking at the vast LOBBY and sky-lit ATRIUM.

NICHOLAS
This is C.R.S.

CHRISTINE
What's C.R.S.?

NICHOLAS
It's their building. They...

A BEEP is HEARD. Nicholas looks above...
Sees a MOTION SENSOR with a green light blinking.

NICHOLAS
Oh...

An ALARM SOUNDS; a loud RINGING BELL. Nicholas backs away.

NICHOLAS
When security gets here, we'll simply explain what happened...

(CONTINUED)

CHRISTINE
They'll love that.

NICHOLAS
Well...

FOOTFALLS. Nicholas turns to see Christine running away.

CHRISTINE
(over her shoulder)
Explain for both of us!

Nicholas looks around, unsure. He follows...

EXT. ALLEYWAY, BEHIND C.R.S. BUILDING -- NIGHT

Christine bursts thru "EMERGENCY EXIT" doors. Nicholas arrives. He grips her arm and they walk, out of breath.

NICHOLAS
Walk, slowly. Don't draw attention.
Out for a stroll...

TIRES SCREECH. A SPOTLIGHT HITS them from behind...

ANGRY VOICE (o.s.)
You! Stay where you are!

It's a SECURITY CAR on the other side of a fence.

CHRISTINE Run!

They run, down the alley.

ANGRY VOICE
Stop!

EXT. NARROW ALLEYWAY -- NIGHT

SIRENS HEARD. Christine and Nicholas sprint round a corner, all out... thru puddles, glancing back. Ahead, a SECURITY CAR skids, starting for them.

Christine and Nicholas double back. She takes the lead...

Christine spots something, stops, makes a choice, moving into a very NARROW ALLEY space.

NICHOLAS
Where are you going?
(looks in, worried)
You can't fit there.

She's making fine progress regardless.

(CONTINUED)

NICHOLAS

I can't!

Nicholas sees the SECURITY CAR bearing down. He must turn sideways to fit in the narrow alley, shuffling after.

BEHIND, the car stops and SECURITY GUARD gets out, club in hand. In the car, a GERMAN SHEPHERD barks.

Security Guard tries to fit down the space, but can't. His belly's too big, his utility belt catching. He runs back to the car, opens the door...

The German Shepherd shoots down the alley, a projectile...

DOWN THE TIGHT ALLEYWAY

Christine comes out into OPEN AREA, running on, looking up. Ruined buildings on all sides, CHAIN LINK FENCES everywhere. Nicholas arrives, pissed, trying to catch up...

NICHOLAS

You deserted me.

CHRISTINE

You're a grown man. I'm not responsible for you.

NICHOLAS

You're the one who started running.

CHRISTINE

Me? You're the one who... !
(sees something) Shit!

Christine runs faster. Nicholas looks back...

The German Shepherd's on its way...

Nicholas faces front, runs, arms pumping, terrified...

The German Shepherd's closing, growling...

Christine and Nicholas reach the CHAIN LINK FENCE ahead...

NICHOLAS

Climb!

Christine makes the leap first, scrambling up the fence. Nicholas climbs beside her, pulling himself up...

The German Shepherd leaps... bites Nicholas' leg...

Nicholas YELLS -- PANTS RIPPING. The dog falls with a mouthful of cloth.

(CONTINUED)

Christine and Nicholas reach the top of the fence, clinging, balanced on their elbows, looking back. The German Shepherd barks and leaps.

Christine and Nicholas start over the fence, beginning their climb down the other side...

ON THE OPPOSITE SIDE: three OTHER DOGS run from the shadows, Pit-Bulls and a Doberman, jumping and biting...

Nicholas and Christine scramble back to the top.

All the dogs hop up and down, snapping. They gnash at each other and bark at each other, frenzied.

Nicholas and Christine have no choice but to hang, stranded.

CHRISTINE

Now what?

Nicholas looks up, daunted. He spots something...

There's a place where the fence runs under a FIRE ESCAPE.

NICHOLAS

Follow me...

Nicholas gets a toe-hold, shifts his elbows, grunting, beginning the herky lateral climb toward the fire escape. Christine follows his example.

Slow going. DOGS BARKING NON-STOP, nipping at their heels.

CHRISTINE

Shut up, you stupid, fucking dogs!!

BARKING AND BARKING AND BARKING.

CHRISTINE

What are they guarding around here?
Each other?

Nicholas slips, keeps grip, but loses a SHOE...

The dogs catch the shoe in their jaws, fighting for it.

Nicholas watches the shoe get torn to pieces, keeps moving.

NICHOLAS

There goes a thousand dollars.

CHRISTINE

Your shoes cost a thousand dollars?

NICHOLAS

That one did.

(CONTINUED)

CHRISTINE
(to herself)
... two hundred dollars a toe.

Nicholas reaches the fire escape, balancing precariously to reach it. He climbs gracelessly up...

He helps Christine after him, bringing her on board. They lean against the rail, exhausted. Nicholas looks to the multi-leveled ladders above.

NICHOLAS
Let me guess. Me first?

CUT TO:

EXT. GARBAGE ALLEY -- NIGHT

ABANDONED BUILDING. Boarded-over windows are kicked open from inside. Nicholas and Christine look out.

They climb out onto ANOTHER FIRE ESCAPE, two stories up above a trash filled, dumpster crowded alley.

CHRISTINE
I didn't catch your name.

NICHOLAS
Nicholas. Nicholas Van Orton.

CHRISTINE
What are you, a czar?

Nicholas moves to the catch of the fire escape ladder, unhooks it. The LADDER DROPS to bridge the gap to the ground, KEEPS GOING, sliding free and disconnecting -- falls flat to the ground below with a LOUD, ECHOING CLATTER.

CHRISTINE
(pause)
That's classic.

NICHOLAS
(staring down, misery)
Why... ?

Christine crosses to the far edge of the railing, points.

CHRISTINE
We hang down here and drop. The garbage'll break our fall.

NICHOLAS
I think not.

Christine climbs over the fire escape railing...

(CONTINUED)

CHRISTINE Afraid you're going to ruin your one-legged suit?

She lowers herself down, hanging off, legs dangling...

NICHOLAS
Be careful...

A metal DOOR is THROWN OPEN below. TWO THAI BUS-BOYS come out, dumping garbage, smoking cigarettes, laughing.

Above, Christine looks up at Nicholas, mortified. She nods urgently for him to help her back up. Nicholas climbs the rail, beside her, trying to get a grip, none too effective.

Below, one bus-boy looks up, shouting. The other bus-boy looks. They back away, SPEAKING RAPID THAI, pointing.

CHRISTINE
What are they... ?

Christine realizes, lets go with one hand, pulling her skirt shut. Nicholas loses hold, drops her...

Christine lands hard in garbage.

NICHOLAS
Are you okay... ?!

Nicholas drops, alarmed... lands in broken plastic bags of wet garbage, slipping as he moves to Christine. Bus-boys are helping her up.

CHRISTINE
I'm okay... I'm okay, thank you...

Bus-boys keep questioning in Thai. Nicholas and Christine brush off. Nicholas takes off his spewed jacket, shakes it in disgust, straightens his tie. They stop...

At the doorway, all the COOKS, BUS-BOYS, WAITERS and DISH-WASHERS stare at Nicholas and Christine in wonder.

Nicholas and Christine stare back. Nicholas looks to Christine, brushing rotten lettuce off her shoulder, nods to the restaurant workers, clears his throat.

NICHOLAS
Two, please.

CUT TO:

EXT. CITY STREETS -- NIGHT

ONE CONTINUOUS LONG SHOT: Nicholas and Christine walk, taking their time, eating out of take-out boxes.

CHRISTINE
Where are we going?

NICHOLAS
(points at skyline)
That tall, bright building. Near there.

They walk a long time in silence. A POLICE CAR moves from behind. POLICEMAN shines a flashlight up and down Nicholas.

POLICEMAN
Everything okay, miss?

CHRISTINE
Yeah. How are you?

The police car keeps pace, then drives on.

CUT TO:

INT. NICHOLAS' OFFICE -- NIGHT

Nicholas enters, turning on lights, which dim to a warm glow. Christine takes in the impressive office. Nicholas crosses to a wall, opens a hidden closet, chooses a shirt.

NICHOLAS
There's a shower, if you'd like.

Christine leans to peek in the bathroom.

CHRISTINE
A shower in your office? Were you an athlete or something?

Nicholas puts on a new shirt.

Christine circles the desk, runs her fingers down his phone.

CHRISTINE
What exactly do you do?

NICHOLAS
Investment banking. Moving money from place to place.

Christine has wandered to the closed blinds, opening them to reveal a breathtaking view of the city.

(CONTINUED)

CHRISTINE
Nice.

NICHOLAS Hm?
(looks)
Oh, yes.

Nicholas takes out a SWEATSHIRT and offers it.

NICHOLAS
A fresh shirt...

CHRISTINE
(takes shirt, crossing)
If this was my office, I wouldn't keep that closed.

NICHOLAS
I don't spend much time looking out the window.
(goes to desk)
I'll call you a taxi.

Christine faces away, throws off her filthy shirt...

Nicholas, on the phone, looks to Christine's shapely back and RED BRA. He averts his eyes, embarrassed...

NICHOLAS
Oh! Uh...

Christine puts on the PENN STATE sweatshirt, straightens it.

CHRISTINE
Thanks.

Nicholas nods, phone to his ear.

CUT TO:

EXT. VAN ORTON BUILDING -- NIGHT

TWO CABS. Nicholas opens the door of the first for Christine. She faces him, close.

NICHOLAS
I know the owner of Tadich Grill. I could talk to him in the morning.

CHRISTINE
Don't. It was a shitty job. I overreacted.

Christine sits, keeps her legs out the door of the cab.
Nicholas stands waiting for her to pull her legs in.

(CONTINUED)

NICHOLAS
Goodnight.

CHRISTINE
I don't think I've ever spent this much time with someone who didn't even ask my name.

NICHOLAS
The maitre d' called you Christine.

CHRISTINE
(remembering) Right. Call me Christy.

NICHOLAS
Goodnight, Christy. It was nice meeting you.

CHRISTINE
Give me an address so I can send your shirt back.

NICHOLAS
Keep it.

She looks up at Nicholas, sits inside. He shuts the door and steps back. Christine rolls her window down.

CHRISTINE
I have a confession to make. Someone gave me four-hundred dollars to spill drinks on you, as a practical joke.

NICHOLAS
Seriously? What did they say?

CHRISTINE
They said three hundred. I said four. They said, "the guy in the gray flannel suit." I think I said, "the attractive guy in the gray flannel suit?"

Christine smiles, rolls up the window. The taxi leaves.
Nicholas watches it go. A twinge of regret.

EXT. TADICH GRILL RESTAURANT -- LATER NIGHT

Nicholas' cab pulls up at the closed restaurant, behind the Bentley. A restaurant VALET sweeps the sidewalk, waves to greet as Nicholas gets out of the cab.

CUT TO:

INT. VAN ORTON MANSION, MASTER BEDROOM -- NIGHT

Nicholas comes from the bathroom, just showered. He looks at CNN on TV. He walks to change channels: infommercials, B+W movies, cartoons. BUGS BUNNY. Nicholas leaves Bugs Bunny on, steps back, watching.

He sits on the bed.

CUT TO:

INT. VAN ORTON MANSION, MASTER BEDROOM -- DAY

Nicholas sleeps. Cordless PHONE RINGING. He stirs, awakens, face creased, hair mussed.

NICHOLAS
(in phone, voice cracks)
Hel... hello?

MARIA (v.o.)
(from phone)
Mr. Van Orton, it's Maria. I... I thought I should call...

NICHOLAS
(into phone)
What time is it?

Nicholas studies his CLOCK RADIO: 11:05. He picks it up and examines it, suspicious.

MARIA (v.o.)
(from phone)
Eleven o'clock. I took the liberty of rescheduling your nine a.m. with Allison and Dietrich. Are you... not feeling well?

NICHOLAS
I'll be in in an hour. I left my briefcase at fifteen-thirty-three Montgomery. Check with their lost and found.

MARIA (v.o.)
Alan Baer's in town, at the Ritz-Carlton.

NICHOLAS
Really?

MARIA (v.o.)
He's requesting dinner tonight.

(CONTINUED)

NICHOLAS
We'll let him know.

MARIA (v.o.)
Also, the Claremont Hotel called to say they have your American Express Card at the front desk. You left it last night?

Nicholas is confused. He crosses with the phone, finds and studies his wallet. He fingers an empty plastic pocket.

MARIA (v.o.)
Should I send someone... ?

NICHOLAS
No. Give me their number.

MARIA (v.o.)
Eight, four, three, three-thousand.

NICHOLAS
See you in awhile. Goodbye.

Nicholas hangs up, dials.

HOTEL MANAGER (v.o.)
(from phone)
Claremont Resort and Spa.

NICHOLAS
(into phone)
My name is Nicholas Van Orton. I'm told my American Express card...

HOTEL MANAGER (v.o.)
(from phone)
Yes, Mister Van Orton. Everything's in order. The concierge has arranged for the wine and flowers in the room.

NICHOLAS
Has he?

HOTEL MANAGER (v.o.)
And, a young woman phoned just now to say she's on route but running a little late.

NICHOLAS
(pause)
Did this young woman leave her name?

HOTEL MANAGER (v.o.)
I'm sure I don't know.

(CONTINUED)

NICHOLAS

Thank you.

Nicholas hangs up, interest piqued.

CUT TO:

EXT. BAY BRIDGE -- DAY

Nicholas drives the Bentley. PREVIOUS CONVERSATION:

SWITCHBOARD OPERATOR (v.o.)

There's no answer. Would you like voice mail?

NICHOLAS (v.o.)

Tell her her father called, and to call back soon as she can.

SWITCHBOARD OPERATOR (v.o.)

Yes, sir.

CELLULAR DISCONNECT. Nicholas looks in his rearview mirror. THRU MIRROR: a grimy BLACK SEDAN follows... keeps distance.

EXT. CLAREMONT HOTEL -- DAY

Grand hotel. Nicholas leaves his car with the valet.

INT. CLAREMONT HOTEL, LOBBY -- DAY

At the GLASS DOORS, Nicholas pushes thru. A THIN MAN in a plain suit isn't looking, BUMPS Nicholas.

THIN MAN

Sorry. My fault.

Thin Man exits. Nicholas crosses the opulent lobby to the desk. The grinning HOTEL MANAGER spots him coming.

HOTEL MANAGER

Ah, Mr. Van Orton. Here you go...

NICHOLAS

Have we met?

He hands over Nicholas' AMEX CARD, which Nicholas studies.

HOTEL MANAGER

I believe so. If you would just sign here...

The manager offers a CHARGE SLIP and pen. Nicholas looks at the manager, the slip, then signs. The manager hits a BELL. A BELLHOP arrives.

(CONTINUED)

HOTEL MANAGER
Show Mr. Van Orton to his room.

NICHOLAS
The key?

HOTEL MANAGER
Hm?

NICHOLAS
Is there a room key?

HOTEL MANAGER
Didn't I give you two?

NICHOLAS
No, you didn't...

Nicholas shakes his head and pats his pockets, stops, feeling one pocket... reaches in and takes out a GOLD KEY on a hotel key chain. Nicholas looks to the GLASS DOORS.

NICHOLAS
Cute.

INT. CLAREMONT HOTEL, HALL -- DAY

Long hallway. Nicholas follows the Bellhop. They arrive at the door to ROOM 277.

NICHOLAS
I'll take it from here.

He tips the Bellhop, who leaves, uses the key, entering...

INT. CLAREMONT HOTEL, ROOM 277 -- DAY

Nicholas shuts the door. There's a room-service cart with wine chilling. Nicholas moves down this short hall...

NICHOLAS
Hello... ?

His jaw drops. The room is TRASHED. Curtains shredded, furniture overturned, television imploded, mirror spiderweb-smashed, walls full of holes.

Nicholas moves forward, having spotted...
His battered BRIEFCASE on the ruined mattress.

The latch is undone. Nicholas opens it.

Inside: MANY PHOTOGRAPHS of blurry SEX acts. Bodies in motion. Limbs. Breasts. A NAKED WOMAN tied to the bed. One PHOTO shows two women entwined with a NAKED MAN who appears to be NICHOLAS. It's a so-so cut-and-paste job.

(CONTINUED)

A LOUD KNOCKING at the door startles Nicholas. He closes the briefcase, freaked.

He hurries to the door as POUNDING is HEARD again, puts his eye to the peephole.

THRU THE PEEPHOLE: a MAID gets out her keys.

MAID
(thru door)
Time to make up the room.

Nicholas fumbles with the SECURITY CHAIN, slides it in place as the door opens -- stopped. Nicholas keeps hidden.

NICHOLAS
Could you come back later?

MAID
Yes, sir. Sorry.

THRU THE PEEPHOLE: the maid moves away.

Nicholas crosses to retrieve his briefcase, and is crossing back when he stops in his tracks upon seeing...

On a dresser, a MIRROR covered in COCAINE lines and residue.

IN THE BATHROOM

Nicholas turns on the faucet, washing the cocaine down the sink, hands shaking. The mirror edge cuts his thumb and he gives a cry, drops the mirror, which SHATTERS on the floor.

Nicholas sucks his thumb, puts it under the faucet. He finds a hand cloth and wraps it round his thumb.

There are big blood droplets on the sink and floor.

Nicholas grabs wads of tissues from a box on the back of the toilet, using them to blot up the blood, throwing tissues in the toilet and flushing.

Nicholas keeps wiping blood. The toilet burps, OVERFLOWING. WATER SPILLS OUT...

Nicholas backs away, panicked, exiting...

INT. CLAREMONT HOTEL, HALL -- DAY

Nicholas looks out from Room 277. He sees a MAID CART, HEARS an O.S. VACUUM CLEANER. He run-walks down the hall, hugging his briefcase. He pushes thru a STAIRWELL door.

EXT. CLAREMONT HOTEL -- DAY

Nicholas takes his Bentley back from the valet, pulling out fast to the street. Further back, the grimy BLACK SEDAN moves from the curb.

INT. NICHOLAS' BENTLEY -- DAY

Nicholas' mind races. He wipes sweat off his face. He glances in his rearview...

THRU MIRROR: the black sedan, following again.

Resolve comes to Nicholas, and anger. He speeds up.

EXT. BERKELEY STREETS -- DAY

The Bentley weaves thru traffic, taking a corner sharp. Nicholas spins the wheel, heading...

DOWN AN ALLEYWAY

Nicholas brakes hard, gets out of the Bentley and heads for the mouth of the alley...

As the black sedan follows, blocked, stopping. Nicholas comes to pull open the car door, confronting the rumped, PLUMP GUY behind the wheel.

PLUMP GUY

What the fuck... ?!

NICHOLAS

Why are you following me?

PLUMP GUY

I don't know what you're talking about. I'm just driving...

He falters as he follows Nicholas' angry gaze to the seat beside him where a FILE is open to a PHOTO of NICHOLAS.

PLUMP GUY

(fumbling to close file)
Look... this is none of your business...

NICHOLAS

Is Alan Baer "the Game?" Is that what this is?

PLUMP GUY

(defiant pause)
Friend... why don't you back off.

He leans as he talks... inside his jacket, he wears a gun.

(CONTINUED)

Nicholas reaches across and pulls the gun, hefting it.

PLUMP GUY

Hey... !

NICHOLAS

(of the gun)

Nice touch. Does the game use real bullets... ?

Nicholas points the gun at the sedan's rear tire, FIRES!
The gun is SHOCKINGLY LOUD -- BURSTS the TIRE!

Nicholas looks to the smoking weapon, blanching.

Plump Guy leaps to the other seat, scrambling out the passenger door, submissive...

PLUMP GUY

Okay, I'm a private investigator.
Somebody hired me to keep tabs on you...

Nicholas lifts the gun, unsure, pointing it awkwardly...

NICHOLAS

Who... who hired you?

Plump Guy bolts, running away down the alley. Nicholas aims the gun after him, but catches himself, lowers it. He runs the other direction, back to the Bentley...

Nicholas gets in the car, drops the gun on the seat, drives.

INSIDE THE BENTLEY

Nicholas returns to the street, glancing back. He looks at the gun. He opens the glove compartment, throws the gun in. He takes out his CELLULAR PHONE, dialing...

MARIA (o.s.)

(from cellular)

Mister Van Orton's office...

NICHOLAS

(into cellular)

Maria. Have Sutherland meet me at the Ritz-Carlton. I'm on my way there now.

MARIA (o.s.)

May I tell him... ?

But, Nicholas is already pushing DISCONNECT.

CUT TO:

INT. RITZ-CARLTON HOTEL, LOBBY -- DAY

Nicholas enters with briefcase. Sutherland rises to follow.

SUTHERLAND
What's happened...

NICHOLAS
Follow me.

INT. RITZ-CARLTON, ALAN BAER'S SUITE -- DAY

A HOTEL EMPLOYEE rolls a room service cart out. Nicholas pushes past with Sutherland in tow. Alan Baer, his handsome WIFE and lovely DAUGHTER are seated at a table where a WAITER lays out a splendid meal.

ALAN BAER
Nicholas... this is unexpected.

Nicholas takes out the SEX PHOTOS, throws them on the table.

NICHOLAS
Do you actually believe that because you publish children's books, anyone's going to care about my reputation?

Wife and daughter are frightened. Alan Baer covers the photos with his napkin.

NICHOLAS
You could have pictures of me wearing nipple rings and butt-fucking Captain Kangaroo... all anyone would wonder was whether the stock was up or down.

Sutherland's nervousness grows by the second.

DAUGHTER Daddy... ?

ALAN BAER
It's alright, dear. Nicholas...

SUTHERLAND
Nicholas...

NICHOLAS
(still to Alan Baer)
That you've involved Grace... is unforgivable...

ALAN BAER
Are you finished?

(CONTINUED)

NICHOLAS

No. This is my lawyer, Samuel Sutherland. I thought you two should meet.

ALAN BAER

We met, this morning. I signed the termination contract for Baer/Grace. I accepted your settlement, Nicholas.

Nicholas opens his mouth, but no words come. He looks to Sutherland. Sutherland nods to confirm.

ALAN BAER

You were right. I'm going sailing. You're welcome to join our luncheon. Maybe we can straighten this out.

(motioning to...)

You remember my wife, Mary Carol, and my daughter-in-law, Kaliegh.

Wife and daughter give mumbled greetings, having no desire to meet Nicholas. Nicholas just stands stymied.

NICHOLAS

It seems I've... please, disregard my apparently misguided remarks.

Nicholas heads for the door, hurrying out. Alan, wife, daughter, the waiter and Sutherland exchange looks.

SUTHERLAND

Well...

Sutherland walks to retrieve the sex photos.

SUTHERLAND

Enjoy your lunch.

Sutherland smiles, exiting.

CUT TO:

INT. NICHOLAS' OFFICE -- DAY

Nicholas sits at his desk, opens his briefcase, checking the contents. Soon, Sutherland arrives, shutting the door. He watches Nicholas, deciding.

SUTHERLAND

How concerned should I be?

NICHOLAS

It was a misunderstanding.

Sutherland puts the SEX PHOTOS on the desk.

(CONTINUED)

NICHOLAS
Someone's playing hardball. It's complicated. Can I ask a favor?

SUTHERLAND
You know you can.

NICHOLAS
Find out about a company called Consumer Recreation Services.

SUTHERLAND
Sounds like they make tennis rackets. What do we know?

NICHOLAS
Just what I've told you.

SUTHERLAND
Nothing else?

Nicholas remembers. He opens up a file drawer in his desk.

NICHOLAS
Their... wait... they gave me their waiver...

Nicholas hands over a file, returning to his briefcase. He finds an ENVELOPE with a SMILELY-FACE on it. He opens it. He takes out a silver-plated METAL CRANK. Like a handle.

SUTHERLAND
What is this?

Nicholas looks up. Sutherland's looking in the file, quizzically, hands it back...

Nicholas studies PINK-TINTED PAGES; the pages Feingold gave him, once dense with words, now completely blank except for NICHOLAS' SIGNATURE and INITIALS several places.

NICHOLAS
(of the pages)
Christ... I can't believe it... invisible ink?

SUTHERLAND
You're joking.

NICHOLAS
It's what they do. I'm being toyed with by a bunch of...
(picks up SEX PHOTOS)
Depraved children.

Nicholas examines each photo. Sutherland goes to leave.

(CONTINUED)

SUTHERLAND
Very well. If you tell me not to worry...

NICHOLAS
Sam...
(as Sutherland stops)
Thank you.

Sutherland exits. Nicholas keeps examining the pictures.
He sits forward, finding something...

IN A PHOTO: the out-of-focus back of a NAKED WOMAN wearing only a RED BRA.

NICHOLAS
(INTO PHONE-INTERCOM)
Maria. The other night... last night, there was a woman here named Christine. I called a taxi, from that company we use...

MARIA (v.o.)
(FROM PHONE-INTERCOM) Elite?

NICHOLAS
What?

MARIA (v.o.)
Elite Taxi Company?

NICHOLAS
Look into it. Find out which car answered and where they took her.

Nicholas sits back. He picks up the METAL CRANK, twists it in his hands, frowning, pockets it.

CUT TO:

EXT. VAN ORTON MANSION, GARAGE -- NIGHT

The rapid SOUND of a PHONE OFF THE HOOK is HEARD OVER: BEEP
BEEP BEEP BEEP... The Bentley pulls in. Headlights out.

IN THE CAR, Nicholas takes the gun from the glove compartment and puts it in his briefcase.

INT. VAN ORTON MANSION, KITCHEN -- NIGHT

Dark. The PHONE OFF THE HOOK is LOUDER, grating: BEEP BEEP BEEP BEEP BEEP... Nicholas comes in the back door, peering into the weak moonlight.

(CONTINUED)

NICHOLAS

Ilsa?

Nicholas replaces the phone in its cradle. QUIET.

He reaches for a light switch, ZAP! -- BLUE SPARKS leap to his fingers. Nicholas YELPS and shakes his hand out.

The switch has been RIPPED OUT, leaving exposed wiring.

Nicholas goes to his briefcase, getting the gun and moving forward, wary, calling out...

NICHOLAS

Ilsa!?

INT. VAN ORTON MANSION, DEN -- NIGHT

In the blackness, Nicholas comes to stand at the doorway, levels the gun at someone across the room...

NICHOLAS

I've got a gun!

There's a roaring fire in the giant fireplace and a FIGURE in a chair. Nicholas eases forward...

It's the HARLEQUIN in the chair, with a GLOSSY B+W PHOTO between its teeth. Nicholas pulls out the picture...

A POLICE PHOTO of NICHOLAS' FATHER, his body sprawled. It's stamped "PROPERTY SFPD" in red.

There's a NOTE paper-clipped behind:
"Like my father before me, I choose eternal sleep." At the bottom, a RED SIGNATURE ARROW affixed, "Please Sign Here."

Suddenly, ALL LIGHTS SURGE TO LIFE, icy and ghoulish -- each and every bulb replaced by BLACK LIGHT...

Nicholas pivots slowly, taking in the horror...

The wrecked den is covered in FLUORESCENT SPRAY-PAINT GRAFFITI: "WELCOME HOME" "FUCK YOU" "NICHOLAS VAN COCKSUCKER" "SUCK IT!" "C.R.S. RULES" "HAVING FUN, RICH BOY?" Everywhere. Across windows, paintings and curtains.

The ceiling is covered in "MOMMA'S BOY" and OBSCENITIES.

Scaffolding's been left behind. Used SPRAY CANS on the splattered Oriental rug. A PAINT/AIR COMPRESSOR.

NICHOLAS

... fuckers...

INT. VAN ORTON MANSION, MASTER BEDROOM -- NIGHT

A glowing ANARCHY SYMBOL sprayed across the door which is thrown open by Nicholas as he enters.

It's all BLACK LIT here too. GRAFFITIED and DESTROYED. "HELTER SKELTER" in jolting letters. Nicholas backs out...

INT. VAN ORTON MANSION, VARIOUS ROOMS -- NIGHT

FOLLOW: Nicholas down the hall and around corners, BLACK LIGHTS above, walls covered in CURSES and MULTI-COLORED SQUIGGLES. Like a bad trip thru the Bat-Cave...

DOWN STAIRS

Past OTHER ROOMS likewise awash in vibrant slurs...

THRU THE KITCHEN

Now also revealed as ruined. Nicholas goes out the door...

EXT. VAN ORTON MANSION, BACKYARD -- NIGHT

Nicholas runs to the GUEST HOUSE.

INT. VAN ORTON GUEST HOUSE, FOYER -- NIGHT

BANGING on the FRONT DOOR. Ilsa comes to look thru the peephole, opens the door to a breathless Nicholas.

ILSA

Mr. Van Orton... ?

NICHOLAS

Ilsa... you're alright?

ILSA

Yes. What do you mean? What's wrong?

NICHOLAS

Did the alarm go off? The house... they... you didn't see... ?

ILSA

I don't know what you're talking about. What's happened?

NICHOLAS

There's been a break in. Lock this door and stay here. Don't move a muscle.

Nicholas runs back toward the house.

ILSA

Be careful!

EXT. VAN ORTON MANSION, BACKYARD -- NIGHT

Crossing the lawn, Nicholas pulls out his cellular phone, dialing as he runs, takes out his gun.

911 OPERATOR (v.o.)
(from cellular)
Nine-one-one, emergency...

NICHOLAS
(into cellular)
I need the police. There's been a break-in at my home...

911 OPERATOR (v.o.)
(from cellular)
Okay, sir. Stay on the line and give me your address...

INT. VAN ORTON MANSION, KITCHEN -- NIGHT

Nicholas enters, still on the phone, locking the door, beginning to punch the security code into the ALARM KEYPAD.

NICHOLAS
(into cellular)
Twenty-two Moore Street. At the corner of Moore and Buchanan.

911 OPERATOR (v.o.)
Now, sir, you said it was a break-in...

NICHOLAS
Yes...

911 OPERATOR (v.o.)
Are you sure they're gone... ?

As Nicholas finishes the security code, the KEYPAD BEEPS, and Nicholas straightens, worried.

911 OPERATOR (v.o.)
... are you sure there's not still someone somewhere in the house?

NICHOLAS
I... don't think so.

And with the DYING HUMMMMMMMM of POWER FAILING, all the BLACK LIGHTS GO OUT. Nicholas raises his gun...

NICHOLAS
Oh God...

Pointing it into the dark kitchen, backing, hand trembling.

(CONTINUED)

911 OPERATOR (v.o.)
Hello? Are you still there?

Behind, a DARK FIGURE outside rises against the kitchen door window, POUNDING FRANTICALLY! Nicholas leaps and spins, CRYING OUT in terror, dropping the gun...

The gun bounces across the linoleum.

It's GRACE at the kitchen door, haggard and scared, her pale face pressed against the glass, pointing frantically.

GRACE
Meet me out front!

Grace ducks away, moving on.

CUT TO:

EXT. CITY STREETS -- NIGHT

The Bentley takes a corner fast, heading downhill, moving from residential to mostly urban...

IN THE BENTLEY

Nicholas drives. Grace looks back over her shoulder, a woman on the run, big, dark circles under her eyes.

NICHOLAS
Tell me where we're going.

GRACE
(slumps low)
Just drive.

NICHOLAS
Grace, what's this all about?

GRACE
Shhhhhhh. Wait... wait...

Grace pulls the speaker-phone MICROPHONE from the ceiling, yanking it out, ripppppppping the fabric of the roof's interior as the mic's wire follows.

NICHOLAS
What are you doing?

GRACE
They're methodical. They're nothing if they're not that.

NICHOLAS
Who?

(CONTINUED)

GRACE
Who do you think? C.R.S. Jesus... to think what I almost got you into.

NICHOLAS
(miserable)
Yeah, almost...

GRACE
I'm so fucked.

NICHOLAS
How do you mean exactly?

GRACE
They fuck you and they fuck you and they fuck you. And then, just when you think it's done, that's when the real fucking begins.

NICHOLAS
Slow down, take a breath...

GRACE
It doesn't stop, dad. I paid the bill, I gave 'em their money, but it all started again. They won't leave me alone...

NICHOLAS
What have they been doing to you?

GRACE
Everything. I'm a goddamn human-pinata...

NICHOLAS
Calm down. Why would they keep playing after you've paid?

GRACE
I don't know. I paid them more to make it stop.

BOOM! -- the wheel jerks in Nicholas' hand, TIRES SCREAM...

GRACE
What was that... !?

ON THE STREET

A TIRE'S BLOWN-OUT. Riding the rim, the car jerks over...

INSIDE THE BENTLEY

Nicholas stops at the curb. Grace is turned in her seat.

(CONTINUED)

GRACE
They did this.

NICHOLAS
It's a flat.

GRACE
How do you know?

NICHOLAS
We're going to figure this out. Get a grip on yourself.

GRACE
Okay... okay.

Grace faces forward. Nicholas gets out to look at the wheel, using his cellular, then returns to the open window.

NICHOLAS
The phone's dead.

GRACE
Really?

NICHOLAS
Do you know how to change a tire?

GRACE
No. Do you?
(off Nicholas' frown)
It can't be too hard, can it? I don't think we should be here out in the open.

Nicholas rubs his temples, looks all around, frustrated.

NICHOLAS
Hit the Tele-track. It's in the glove box...

Grace OPENS the glove compartment: KEYS SPILL OUT. At least fifty, silver and gold, all stamped "C.R.S."

Grace's breath catches in her throat. She reaches to take a handful of keys, afraid... looks to Nicholas.

GRACE
You're with them...

NICHOLAS
What?

Grace climbs out, throwing keys across the car's roof...

(CONTINUED)

GRACE

You're part of this. You're doing it....!

NICHOLAS

I don't know what those are. Someone put those there.

GRACE

You're behind this whole thing, aren't you!?

NICHOLAS

What are you saying? Listen to what you're saying!

GRACE

What did I ever do to make you hate me like this...?

NICHOLAS

I don't...

GRACE

You've always resented me! Was I that much of a burden two weeks out of the year... ?

NICHOLAS

Stop this! It's not true...

GRACE

I didn't want to be your problem. It wasn't my fault...

NICHOLAS

Stop it, Grace! I did the best I could...

GRACE

You gave up on me! I was just a kid...

NICHOLAS

How many times do I have to say I'm sorry?!

GRACE

I was just a baby!

Grace runs. Nicholas follows, catches her and grabs her. Grace pulls away desperately, but he keeps a grip on her...

GRACE

Let go!

(CONTINUED)

NICHOLAS
Grace, listen... !

GRACE
I know mom used you. Maybe she deserves your hate, but I don't!
What happened to you?! Who fucked you over so bad that this is how you ended up... ?!

NICHOLAS
Don't talk to me like that!

GRACE
It wasn't me. Was it mother? Was it grandma? Was it Elizabeth?! Was it all of us... ?!

NICHOLAS
Shut up! You don't understand. You don't know anything about me!

GRACE
Whose fault is that?!

Grace pulls away and bolts, full tilt, into a nearby PARK and PUBLIC GARDENS. Nicholas gives chase, calling after.

AHEAD, Grace runs headlong, disappearing thru thick bushes.

Nicholas follows, downhill, falls and slides, gets up. At the bottom, he shoves thru vegetation...

On the other side, Nicholas looks all directions, gulping air. Grace is nowhere to be seen. Nicholas stops.

NICHOLAS
(shouting)
Grace!

Far off, there's a concrete path winding thru the park past a BANK OF PAYPHONES. ONE PAYPHONE starts RINGING. Nicholas goes back the way he came.

Behind, ALL THE PAYPHONES start RINGING. Nicholas halts.

He runs to the phones, answers one...

NICHOLAS
(into phone)
You sons-of-bitches...

MAN'S VOICE (v.o.)
(from phone)
Flippy? Is Flippy there? Flippy?

(CONTINUED)

Nicholas slams the phone down, picks up another...

RECORDING (v.o.)
(from phone)
If you'd like to make a call, please hang up and...

PHONES STOP RINGING. Nicholas hangs up, digging out his wallet. Rifling thru it, he comes up with the VALET TICKET with the C.R.S. EMERGENCY 800-NUMBER on it. He dials...

Puts the phone to his ear. BUSY SIGNAL. He slaps the headset-tongue, redialing, waiting...

RECORDING (v.o.)
(from phone)
We're sorry. The number you have dialed has been disconnected or is no longer in service...

He throws the receiver, tears the valet ticket in half and tosses it, then steps back -- KICKS the phone.

EXT. CITY STREET -- NIGHT

Nicholas returns to his car, looks down at the flat tire.

At the rear, Nicholas opens the trunk. He reaches in and takes out the car's JACK. He studies it like it's an alien thing, turns it over, tosses it into the street.

He closes the trunk, REMOTE's the ALARM, walking away. There's a TAXI heading this way. Nicholas hails it...

INSIDE THE TAXI

Nicholas gets in. GLASS separates him from the CAB DRIVER.

NICHOLAS
Twenty-two Moore Street.

The driver nods, hits the gas. The doors THUNK, locking.

EXT. CITY STREETS, FURTHER ON -- NIGHT

The taxi roars down the street.

INSIDE THE TAXI

Nicholas has his head back, eyes closed, loosening his tie. He looks out the window, narrows his eyes.

(CONTINUED)

NICHOLAS
 (pointing)
 Um... you want to turn here...
 (TAXI KEEPS GOING)
 Excuse me, you missed the turn.

The driver says nothing. We see the driver is the HOMELESS BUM from the airport. Nicholas knocks on the glass.

NICHOLAS
 Did you hear me? You're...

Nicholas stops, noticing the DRIVER I.D. on the other side of the partition. "California Regal Sedans." C.R.S.

NICHOLAS
 No... no, no, no. Stop the car!

The taxi HALTS at a LIGHT. Nicholas reaches for the DOOR HANDLE, but there isn't one. No WINDOW HANDLE either. Nicholas fingers the empty handles holes, pulls up on the door lock, but it won't give.

ON THE STREET

The cab PEELS OUT as the light turns green.

INSIDE THE TAXI

Nicholas tries the other door, panicky. Same result -- locked in. The taxi makes a SCREEEECHING TURN...

ON THE STREET

The taxi speeds up... heading for a WHARF AREA and PIERS.

INSIDE THE TAXI

Nicholas presses against the partition, urgent, calm...

NICHOLAS
 Listen. I am a very wealthy man.
 Whatever they're paying you, I'll double it!

The taxi driver simply opens his door and leaps out...

THRU THE WINDOW: the driver ROLLS, a perfectly executed stunt fall. Nicholas can't believe. He grabs frantically for his seatbelt, SNAPS it around him, looks up...

Opens his mouth to SCREAM...

ON THE WHARF

The taxi goes FLYING off a deserted pier... airborne...

SPLASHES DOWN! in the San Francisco Bay.

INSIDE THE TAXI

Nicholas is jerked forward, breath slammed out of him.

ON THE SURFACE OF THE WATER

The taxi goes under in an eruption of bubbles.

UNDERWATER

THRU THE TAXI WINDOW: Nicholas pulls off his seatbelt, extricates himself and starts kicking the window. Dashboard lights grow eerie as they submerge.

INSIDE THE TAXI

Nicholas stops kicking, trying to calm. He looks to the front: water's gushing in through two-inches of open window. The taxi's about half full.

NICHOLAS
(to himself)
It's a game... it's a game...

He tries the DOOR LOCK again, yanking, to no avail. He realizes something, searches his pockets...

UNDERWATER

The taxi sinks, headlights dimming in murkier depths.

INSIDE THE TAXI

Nicholas finds the METAL CRANK. He takes a deep breath...

SUBMERGING. He puts the crank in the WINDOW HANDLE HOLE, turns the crank. The WINDOW LOWERS, water flooding in...

UNDERWATER

Nicholas swims out the window, heading upwards...

EXT. SAN FRANCISCO BAY -- NIGHT

Nicholas bursts to the surface, sucking air. He treads water, catching his breath.

CUT TO:

EXT. C.R.S. BUILDING -- DAY

TWO POLICE CARS, marked and unmarked, pull to the curb. From the plainclothes car, a MALE DETECTIVE and FEMALE DETECTIVE get out. Nicholas and Sutherland get out.

INT. C.R.S. BUILDING, LOBBY -- DAY

Nicholas, Sutherland, Male and Female Detective cross the busy lobby with TWO UNIFORMED OFFICERS behind.

INT. C.R.S. BUILDING, OFFICES -- DAY

Nicholas enters, followed by the others. He stops short...
REVEAL: this huge room, once filled with cubicles far as the eye could see, is now entirely EMPTY. Trash. Dust. Fixtures jutting from the floor.

CUT TO:

INT. NICHOLAS' OFFICE -- DAY

Nicholas stands with hands in pockets, staring at the floor. Sutherland's here. Female and Male Detective stand together. She's checking notes.

FEMALE DETECTIVE

Management for the building says that space hasn't been officially rented yet. The county recorder has no listing for "Consumer Recreation Services" or any derivation thereof. Divers are looking for the taxi, and soon as they find it they'll pull the plates and V.I.N.

MALE DETECTIVE

Have you gotten in touch with your daughter?

NICHOLAS

She hasn't called back.

SUTHERLAND

What about the house?

MALE DETECTIVE

The graffiti was painted in an oil-based marine marking solution. Illegal in the states. Not impossible to trace, but it'll take time.

FEMALE DETECTIVE

The photos, gun, the clown, the ambulance, cable box, everything else... it's all pending.

(shuts notebook)

Breaking and entering we have, solid. Malicious mischief, vandalism, harassment. But, that's about all.

(CONTINUED)

SUTHERLAND
Illegal surveillance, reckless endangerment...

NICHOLAS
Attempted murder.

MALE DETECTIVE
Except... you said you hired these people.

SUTHERLAND
That's irrelevant.

MALE DETECTIVE
It's our job to let you know what we have. We haven't got motive.

FEMALE DETECTIVE
(to Nicholas)
You are who you are, so we know you're not making it up. But, we've never dealt with anything quite like this. Be appropriately cautious.
(pause)
Unless you think they're done with you.

CUT TO:

INT. VAN ORTON MANSION, KITCHEN -- NIGHT

Ilsa sets down a plate: sandwich with crust cut off, potato chips and carrot sticks. Nicholas eats, pondering.

NICHOLAS
Was I a bad father?

Ilsa's at the fridge, near where drop-cloths, paint cans and other repair preparations are piled.

ILSA
You were very young.

Ilsa comes to set down a glass, fills it with milk.

ILSA
It was a difficult time for everyone.

NICHOLAS
I never had much of an example.

Ilsa moves to put food back into the refrigerator.

(CONTINUED)

ILSA
Your mother loved your father very much. He just worked too hard.

NICHOLAS
Was he morose, or...? I mean...

ILSA
What I remember most was his manner was so... slight. It was easy to spend time in a room, and not realize he'd been there the whole time.

NICHOLAS
What I meant was...

ILSA
No. What happened... no one expected it.

NICHOLAS
I wonder how much of him there is in me.

ILSA
Not much, I think.

NICHOLAS
Did mom worry about him?

ILSA
Nobody worried about your father.

Nicholas stares at his milk. PHONE RINGS. He answers...

NICHOLAS
(into phone)
Hello.

MARIA (v.o.)
(from phone)
It's Maria. I found the address you wanted from Elite Taxi.

NICHOLAS
(picks up pen and paper)
Go ahead...

CUT TO:

EXT. SUBURBAN NEIGHBORHOOD -- NIGHT

Rows of lower-middle-class homes. Nicholas parks. A WHITE VAN sits near, a wrench-wielding WORKMAN painted on the side. "Cable Repair Specialists."

(CONTINUED)

Nicholas crosses the lawn of a WHITE HOUSE, to the porch. He rings the doorbell and waits. Finally, a woman, CHRISTINE'S ROOMMATE, opens the door with the chain on.

CHRISTINE'S ROOMMATE

Yes?

NICHOLAS

Hello. Is Christine in?

CHRISTINE'S ROOMMATE

She's sleeping.

CHRISTINE (o.s.)

Who is it, Amy?

INT. CHRISTINE'S LIVING ROOM -- NIGHT

Christine looks down from the top of the stairs. Below, Nicholas looks up thru the crack in the door.

NICHOLAS

Christine, it's Nicholas Van Orton.

CHRISTINE

What are you doing here?

NICHOLAS

Can we talk?

CHRISTINE

(to Amy)

It's okay.

Christine's roommate opens the door and heads away. Christine comes down, in a pajama top and shorts.

CHRISTINE

Didn't think I'd ever see you again.

NICHOLAS

Come here...

He watches to make sure the roommate's gone, leads Christine to the middle of the room, unfolding a PHOTOCOPY...

NICHOLAS

What can you tell me about this?

The SEX PHOTO of the woman in the RED BRA.

CHRISTINE

What is it?

NICHOLAS

Is this you?

(CONTINUED)

CHRISTINE
Where'd you get this?

NICHOLAS
It was left in my hotel room, well, not really mine. You're saying it's not you?

CHRISTINE
I think I would remember.
(hands it back)
What makes you think it's me?

NICHOLAS
Well... the red bra.

CHRISTINE
(like he's crazy)
Okay.

NICHOLAS
I thought...

He's at a loss, drained.

NICHOLAS
Do you mind if I sit?

CHRISTINE
Sure. You alright? Is this still that contest you're in... ?

NICHOLAS
(sits) I'm sorry, I should go. I've been enough of a nuisance.

CHRISTINE
Let me go get some clothes on.
We'll talk, okay? Be right back.

Christine hurries upstairs. Nicholas stands, calls after.

NICHOLAS
Do you have any aspirin?

Nicholas takes in the room, unhappy. He squints at a VIRGIN MARY figurine, picks it up... unscrews the head. It's a decanter. He sniffs it and puts it back. He sniffs the air, noticing...

A WISP OF SMOKE rises from a bright LAMP.

INSIDE THE LAMPSHADE: Nicholas peers inside. A PRICE TAG dangles against the bulb, turning brown, smoking.

(CONTINUED)

Nicholas reaches to remove the tag -- burns his finger on the bulb, jerking his hand away. He blows on his finger, sighs, walks to poke his head thru a swinging door...

INT. CHRISTINE'S KITCHEN -- NIGHT

Modest, cluttered. Nicholas goes to the sink, holds his finger under the faucet. NO WATER. He jerks the faucet handle, but gets nothing. He looks around...

Opens a drawer -- EMPTY. He opens another drawer -- EMPTY. He opens more EMPTY DRAWERS, a disturbing thought forming. Opens a cabinet -- EMPTY.

INT. CHRISTINE'S LIVING ROOM -- NIGHT

Nicholas returns, scanning the room. He picks up a FRAMED PHOTO of a LITTLE GIRL in a dress, takes the frame apart...

The picture is an ADVERTISEMENT from a glossy magazine, with TEXT folded behind and print on the back.

Nicholas takes a breath, quickly replaces the clipping just as Christine returns from upstairs. She's in a pull-over dress, putting her hair up.

CHRISTINE
Want anything to drink?

NICHOLAS
(holds up frame)
You?

CHRISTINE
Yeah. First Communion.

Nicholas offers the frame to Christine, fury showing...

NICHOLAS
Take the picture out.

CHRISTINE
What's wrong?

NICHOLAS
Take the picture out of the frame and show it to me.

CHRISTINE
I don't...

Christine tries to assess the situation... realizes he's onto her. She swallows, making a quick decision, drops her facade, her voice a desperate WHISPER.

(CONTINUED)

CHRISTINE
They're watching.

NICHOLAS
Wha... ?

CHRISTINE
(under her breath)
Not here! They can see.

Christine motions with her eyes. Nicholas looks...

ON THE CEILING, a red-bulbed SMOKE DETECTOR.

CHRISTINE
(cheery, in character)
So, what do you say we go for a drive? We'll take your car...

She takes his hand and pulls him. Nicholas yanks away...

NICHOLAS
No! I'm sick of this...

CHRISTINE
Nicholas...

Nicholas points up at the smoke detector, addressing it...

NICHOLAS
You can come out now, if you're there. Come on out!

Nicholas walks to the fireplace, picks up a FIREPLACE POKER.
He moves to SWING it up -- SWATS the smoke detector.

Christine runs to the picture window.

CHRISTINE.
Now you've done it!

THRU WINDOW: THUG 1 and THUG 2, muscle men, climb out from the CABLE REPAIR VAN, running this direction.

Nicholas comes to look, poker in hand.

NICHOLAS
What? Oh, and I suppose they're going to...

THRU WINDOW: Thug 1 and 2 draw guns, pointing...

Nicholas furrows his brow, unsure.

CHRISTINE
Get down!

(CONTINUED)

WINDOW'S BLOWN IN by GUNFIRE! as Christine tackles Nicholas.

Shattered glass showers down. KNICK-KNACKS FLY TO PIECES. Christine crawls. Nicholas follows. They flee, Nicholas gasping and glancing back, terrified...

IN THE KITCHEN

Christine pulls Nicholas thru a door...

INT. CHRISTINE'S GARAGE -- NIGHT

Christine and Nicholas come downstairs to the empty garage. Christine's roommate looks up from her Solitaire game at a card table, cigarette in mouth, a day player thrown off by this backstage intrusion...

CHRISTINE'S ROOMMATE

What the fuck... !?

Christine leads Nicholas out the REAR DOOR...

EXT. CHRISTINE'S BACKYARD -- NIGHT

They run along the back of the house...

NICHOLAS

What is this!?

CHRISTINE

God, wake up, it's a con!

Around a corner, toward the front, Christine stops, looking across the front lawn to Nicholas' Bentley.

INT. CHRISTINE'S GARAGE -- NIGHT

Thug 1 and 2 bluster in, guns up. Christine's roommate points to the open rear door, afraid. Thug 1 thinks quick -- SLAMS the GARAGE DOOR OPENER...

The OPENER'S MOTOR RATTLES to life, GARAGE DOOR RISING...

EXT. CHRISTINE'S FRONT LAWN -- NIGHT

Nicholas and Christine speed away in the Bentley. BEHIND, Thug 1 and 2 crawl under the garage door, giving chase, FIRING. Too little, too late. They run to the van.

EXT. SUBURBAN STREETS -- NIGHT

The Bentley roars onwards...

IN THE BENTLEY

Nicholas drives, white-knuckled. Christine watches behind.

ON THE STREET

The van pursues, far behind, but closing ground.

IN THE BENTLEY

Nicholas checks his mirror. Christine looks forward...

CHRISTINE

Look out!

ON THE STREET

The Bentley SIDESWIPEs another CAR as Nicholas runs a light.

The Bentley keeps going, the other car SPINNING...

The van BRAKES HARD to avoid the spun-out car. The van reverses, angling to get around...

FURTHER ON

The Bentley SKIDS into an alley, lights off, still moving.

The van, having lost half a block, misses this and continues straight, raging forward, then SCREEEECHING to stop...

In the middle of a FOUR-WAY INTERSECTION, stumped. The van chooses a direction, cutting a corner, roaring away...

INT. BENTLEY -- NIGHT

CHRISTINE

(looking back)

Okay... they're gone...

She's thrown forward as Nicholas SLAMS BRAKES. He reaches across and throws Christine's door open.

CHRISTINE

What are you doing... ?

NICHOLAS

Get out.

CHRISTINE

I could've handed you to them. They find me now, I'm dead...

NICHOLAS

Get out of my car!

CHRISTINE

No one else is going to tell you what's going on.

(CONTINUED)

Nicholas stares at her with hatred.

CHRISTINE
Do you want to know? If I'm gone, you never will.

Nicholas flips the headlights on, puts the car in gear and drives. She pulls the door shut.

NICHOLAS
Talk while I drive us to the police.

CHRISTINE
No cops. I've got a warrant out.
Mail fraud. They'll take me in, but you won't be able to prove anything else.

Christine takes out cigarettes, lights up.

CHRISTINE
I can't believe they didn't take the time to get the house right.

Nicholas grabs the cigarette, throws it out his window.

NICHOLAS
Who are "they?"

CHRISTINE
I don't know, nobody does. I'm an employee.

NICHOLAS
Then, what good are you?

CHRISTINE
I know things... like who you can trust. Like that your daughter was in on it from the beginning.

NICHOLAS
That's a lie...

CHRISTINE
Yeah? I was your waitress on your birthday. Grace told you about C.R.S. that day, remember? Had you ever seen me there before?

Nicholas looks to her, realizing the truth of it.
Christine's lighting up a new cigarette.

(CONTINUED)

CHRISTINE

It wasn't her fault. She thought it was her only way back. They fleeced her real good.

NICHOLAS

How? How could they have gotten anything?

CHRISTINE

They did the same to her as they did to you.

NICHOLAS

What are you talking about... ?

She gives him a pitying look.

CHRISTINE

Check your accounts. That night in your office, when we were there, I got the number to your private line and modem. That gave C.R.S. remote access to your computer. All those tests you took at C.R.S., you gave them everything else: handwriting, voice samples, psych-info.

Nicholas shoots her a glance; this is absurd.

CHRISTINE

They used it all to figure out your passwords. Feingold, the guy who signed you up... he did five years for hacking Citibank in eighty-four. They only had to keep you distracted while they broke into the network and transferred your holdings to dummy accounts.

Nicholas checks his watch, takes out his cellular, dialing with his thumb.

CHRISTINE

Why else would they be willing to shoot at you... ?

NICHOLAS

(into cellular)
Overseas operator? Please dial
Allgemeine Bank, Zurich.

CHRISTINE

They don't care anymore. Alive or dead is the same, as long as they bury you deep enough.

EXT. HIGHWAY -- NIGHT

The Bentley SPEEDS out a tunnel on the highway toward S.F.

INSIDE THE BENTLEY

NICHOLAS

(into cellular)

Guten tag. Vilen dank, Englisch.
Blue-two-backslash-five. Mother's maiden name: Miller. Six-nine-zero,
D as in David. Yes. The balance...

(listens)

That's impossible. When did... ?

Nicholas listens, scarcely breathing. Christine seems regretful. Nicholas lowers the phone, shuts it off.

CHRISTINE

They've already got it, Nicholas.
They got everything.

Lights flash across Nicholas' sweaty features.

CUT TO:

EXT. GAS STATION/CONVIEIENCE HUT -- NIGHT

Nicholas is in the car, on his cellular. Christine's in the background, talking to the cashier at the BULLETPROOF BOOTH.

NICHOLAS

(into cellular)

Call soon as you get this message,
Sam. I checked them all, I don't know how, but they drained my accounts. Now they're trying to kill me. You tell the cops, I've got one with me. We'll make her testify. I know how it must sound. Call on my mobile. Be careful.

Nicholas hangs up, looks to see Christine coming with armloads of food. Christine gets in the passenger seat.

CHRISTINE

She, uh... she cut your credit card in half. I had some cash.

Nicholas just stares at her, numb. She offers a coffee.

CUT TO:

EXT. DIRT ROADWAY -- NIGHT

The Bentley overtakes a logging TRUCK on this dirt road.

IN THE BENTLEY

QUIET NEWS RADIO. Nicholas drains coffee from a styrofoam cup, rolls his window and tosses the cup out, trying to stay awake. He looks beside him.

Christine's asleep against her door, placid and innocent-looking. Nicholas stares at her.

CUT TO:

EXT. LAKE, VAN ORTON CABIN -- NIGHT

Beautiful lake. Dense forest. The Bentley's parked near a relatively humble CABIN. LIGHTNING FLASHES across the sky.

INT. CABIN -- NIGHT

FIRE in the fireplace. Christine tends a metal pot over the flames. Nicholas is slumped in a low chair. Christine passes with the pot. Nicholas sits forward...

Christine enters the candle-lit kitchenette. He watches her, grim. She makes coffee. He sits back.

CHRISTINE

What?

Christine comes over and gives him a mug of coffee.

CHRISTINE

What did you say?

NICHOLAS

I didn't say anything.

He gets up, walks, sipping coffee. Christine watches him. Nicholas stares at FAMILY PHOTOS on the mantle.

CHRISTINE

(sad, unsure)

My name's not Christine. It's not my real...

NICHOLAS

Who the fuck cares?

He doesn't even look at her, picks up a PHOTO: YOUNG GRACE holding up a fish. Nicholas rubs dust off Grace's face.

CHRISTINE

It's just money. You should be glad you're alive.

NICHOLAS

It might be best if we didn't talk.

(CONTINUED)

CHRISTINE
All I mean is... someone like you...

NICHOLAS
How many times have you done this?
I'm interested.

CHRISTINE
What?

NICHOLAS
Scams, con games. How many?

CHRISTINE
I don't know. A lot.

NICHOLAS
Whatever kind of nickel-and-dime shit you're used to, this is more than just me. Your friends raided pension plans, and payrolls... they took just over six-hundred million. You ruined people's lives.

Christine looks sick and truly scared. The CELLULAR CHIRPS.
Nicholas goes to pick it up off a table.

NICHOLAS
(into cellular)
Yes.

SUTHERLAND (v.o.)
(from cellular)
I got your message. I was disturbed, to say the least...

Christine stands.

CHRISTINE
Who is it?

NICHOLAS
(into cellular)
What do we do?

SUTHERLAND (v.o.)
(from cellular)
I've been on the phone for an hour already. Nicholas, your funds are intact. Nothing's been touched.

CHRISTINE
(worried, insistent)
Who is it?

(CONTINUED)

NICHOLAS
(still into cellular)
What do you mean? I checked them myself. I made the calls...

SUTHERLAND (v.o.)
Nothing's changed. I'm telling you, not a cent is unaccounted for...

NICHOLAS (cups phone, to Christine)
My lawyer... says nothing's missing.

She shakes her head ominously.

CHRISTINE
(fear, whisper)
He's in on it...

Nicholas stares at Christine, trying to comprehend...

SUTHERLAND (v.o.)
I don't know what's happening, but stay where you are till I get to you.
Give me your precise location...

CHRISTINE
Sutherland's in on it.

SUTHERLAND (v.o.)
I'll come there. Hold on, Nicholas,
I have another call. Tell me where you are.

Nicholas lowers the phone, pushes DISCONNECT, afraid.

NICHOLAS
We have to get out of here.

The PHONE CHIRPS again. Nicholas looks at it, flicks a switch on the side, silencing it. He sits, sickened.

NICHOLAS
How did they get to him? Why didn't you tell me?

She lights a cigarette, backing toward the kitchenette.

CHRISTINE
Mm... I wouldn't worry about it.

NICHOLAS
What... what do you mean?

(CONTINUED)

CHRISTINE
It's out of your hands.

He looks up, trying to figure. His head lulls...
He takes a breath, looks at his trembling hands. Drugged.
He looks around, confused... spots the COFFEE CUP, realizes.
With a CRY of RAGE, he LUNGES toward Christine, but comes up short, toppling a shelf, contents CRASHING DOWN...
Nicholas rolls, pained, clutching his throat, taking air in RASPING GULPS. He crawls, swings his fist, slams a table...

CHRISTINE
Cellular calls can be intercepted,
you know.

Christine backs to avoid, hefts a heavy cooking POT in case.
She maneuvers, steps over him. He grabs, blindly...
She scoops up the dropped PHONE and crosses away.

CHRISTINE
(cigarette 'tween lips)
All those calls you made, to B of A, France, Switzerland... you were talking to my people.
(hits REDIAL on cellular)
You filled the blanks. Access codes, passwords, stuff even your lawyer didn't have -- but we have it now.

Nicholas tries to stand, falls, clutching his gut, CRYING OUT in pain, frothing at the mouth.

CHRISTINE
We're done, Nicholas. Goodbye.

THE ROOM SPINS round and round, spinning OUT OF CONTROL...

FADE TO BLACK

BREATHING... then a STRUGGLE... POUNDING, KICKING...

INT. CRYPT -- MORNING

A PARTICLE-BOARD LID SPLINTERS as Nicholas pounds his way out of a COFFIN, looking wildly around, eyes blood-shot...

A moldering MAUSOLEUM. Light seeps thru cracked walls. Piles of rotten flowers. Coffins. Hundreds of flies.

Nicholas gags on the air, climbing free and falling to the floor, legs weak. He's in a WHITE SUIT, dazed and afraid. There's a RED ROSE taped to his chest.

EXT. MEXICO CEMETERY -- MORNING

Pushing the plywood door of the MAUSOLEUM outward, Nicholas tumbles into dawn light. He's in a ramshackle GRAVEYARD. Tombs for miles. Misty, tropical vegetation. Third World.

Nicholas walks, trying to figure this. He notices the red rose, pulls it off and throws it. An OLD WOMAN sits at a grave with her rosary. She watches Nicholas, emotionless.

NICHOLAS

Where am I? What is this place?

The OLD WOMAN speaks SPANISH. Nicholas stares blankly. She seems to be asking questions. Nicholas finally realizes it's a foreign language, turns, walks away.

CUT TO:

EXT. MEXICO STREET -- MORNING

A busy downtown street. A sea of MEXICAN PEOPLE, many poor. Nicholas walks, caught in the flow of the crowd, JOSTLED, aimless. The world's a NOISY BLUR around him.

Nicholas pushes to the TRAFFIC JAMMED street, spotting a POLICEMEN directing traffic, heads for him...

NICHOLAS

Officer... officer...

HORNS BLAST. Nicholas comes to the officer, relieved...

NICHOLAS

Do you speak English? I'm an American.

The policeman scolds Nicholas in SPANISH, shoos him away. Nicholas searches his empty pockets...

NICHOLAS

Listen... they took my wallet...
(insistent, of himself)
American. I am an American citizen.

The policeman shouts angrily, grabs Nicholas' arm. Nicholas reflexively pulls away...

NICHOLAS

No, you don't understand, I'm an American...

The policemen unsheathes his baton -- STRIKES Nicholas. Nicholas hits the street, raising his arms in defense. The policeman SWINGS AGAIN...

(CONTINUED)

Hits Nicholas' skull. Nicholas runs, escaping thru traffic. The policeman curses after him.

CUT TO:

EXT. MEXICAN BUS STOP -- DAY

Hot. Nicholas sits on a bench, a dried blood trail down his face, holding balled-up newspaper to his bleeding head. Others on the BUSY SIDEWALK don't even take notice of him.

Nicholas checks to see if he's clotted, tosses the newspaper. He watches traffic pass, sits forward, elbows on his knees, staring at the sidewalk.

NICHOLAS

... fuck...

Tears forming in his eyes. He takes a deep breath, stops himself, swallowing back despair, deciding. Determined...

He gets up and walks. He picks up the pace, running...

LONG SHOT: Nicholas running, across one street, down another, a strange sight in his filthy white suit. Stopping now and then to ask questions of passerbys, moving on...

FOLLOW: Nicholas continuing, stopping in a SHOP DOORWAY.

NICHOLAS

(to SHOPKEEPER)

The embassy? Please... the American embassy, do you know it?

No answer. Nicholas continues, slowing. Ahead down the sidewalk, there's another MEXICAN COP, tough-looking. Nicholas hesitates, then, approaches...

NICHOLAS

Excuse me... Buenos Diaz, I'm looking for the United States embassy. U.S. embassy, please... pour fa vor?

The cop seems angry, eyeing Nicholas' appearance, deciding. The cop points down the street. Nicholas heads away...

NICHOLAS

Thank you. Thank you, sir.

Nicholas runs.

EXT. AMERICAN EMBASSY -- ESTABLISHING -- LATER DAY

"Embassy of the United States of America, MEXICO CITY."

INT. AMERICAN EMBASSY, OFFICE -- DAY

A secretary leads Nicholas in from a crowded hallway. An American COUNSELOR rises from his small desk in his small office, shaking Nicholas' hand, taking PAPERWORK.

COUNSELOR

Please, sit...

Nicholas sits in a metal chair. A fan blows, poor remedy in the heat. The counselor reads the paperwork.

NICHOLAS

Mister...

(sees desk name plate)

Mister Patterson. Some things have happened... it's important that I...

The counselor holds up his hand, still reading.

COUNSELOR

No money, no identification or passport. You are in a fix.

(looks up from papers)

What did happen to you?

NICHOLAS

Well, where to begin? It's complicated...

COUNSELOR

(matter of fact)

It always is.

Nicholas looks to the counselor, who sips a glass of water and looks at papers. Nicholas takes a moment, rethinks.

NICHOLAS

What happened was, I'm on vacation, alone... I was robbed, at gunpoint. They hit me and ran. Two men, a few blocks away. They took my wallet, money... all of it. So...

COUNSELOR

Robbed?

NICHOLAS

Yes.

COUNSELOR

Have you gone to the police?

NICHOLAS

I don't speak Spanish. All I need is to get back... just enough for that.

(CONTINUED)

The counselor taps his finger on desk's edge.

COUNSELOR

We'll help with the police, if you want to bother. As far as money goes... can I make a suggestion?

(off Nicholas' nod)

You say you were mugged?

NICHOLAS

Yes.

COUNSELOR

And, they didn't take that watch?

Nicholas looks at the ROLEX he's wearing, didn't realize it till now, having taken it for granted.

COUNSELOR

How much is it? A few thousand, at least. A Rolex like that... lucky for you they missed it.

NICHOLAS

Yes, very lucky.

CUT TO:

INT. MEXICO CITY PAWN SHOP -- LATER DAY

INSCRIBED on the back of Nicholas' ROLEX: "On your 18th birthday, your father's watch. Love, Mother"

The FEMALE OWNER examines the Rolex inside a rusty metal cage, makes a face. Nicholas is at the front of the long line in this impossibly cluttered pawn shop.

PAWN SHOP OWNER

Cincuenta dolares Americano. Fifty.

NICHOLAS

Fifty? Do you know...

(deep sigh)

It's a Rolex. It's gold. Not gold colored, actual gold.

PAWN SHOP OWNER

Si, oro. Cincuenta y cinco.
Cincuenta y cinco Estados Unidos.

Nicholas runs his hands thru his hair... resigned.

NICHOLAS

You see, all you had to do was get in the ballpark. Yes, fifty-five... si, senorita.

(CONTINUED)

The owner counts battered dollar bills from a cigar box.

CUT TO:

EXT. BUS STOP/TACO STAND -- DAY

At a faltering TACO STAND painted in peeling orange paint, Nicholas pays for tacos wrapped in paper and a bottle of Budweiser. A bus ticket sticks out his breast pocket.

Nicholas steps away, wolfing down the food, following it with guzzled beer. MANY PEOPLE are waiting for the bus, on and around benches, suitcases and belongings in piles.

Nicholas looks, still chewing, to THREE YOUNG MEXICAN CHILDREN staring at him. They stand with their plump MOTHER, just watching him. Nicholas faces away, eating.

CUT TO:

EXT. MEXICAN HIGHWAY -- DUSK

A repainted SCHOOL BUS zooms past, trailing exhaust.

INT. BUS -- DUSK

Not one empty seat. At the back, Nicholas' eyes flutter under their lids. He SNORES QUIETLY. The MOTHER of the three Mexican children is next to him, one child in her lap. She's asleep, leaning toward Nicholas. The child's awake.

The bus shifts, GEARS GRINDING, and Mother slides further over till her head rests on Nicholas' shoulder. Nicholas awakens, looking at Mother against him.

The child looks up at Nicholas. Nicholas looks at the child. Nicholas puts his head back, closes his eyes.

After a moment, the bus jerks and Nicholas opens his eyes, turning to look out the window, watching a far-reaching SUNSET. Crimson and gold clouds.

CUT TO:

EXT. MEXICO/UNITED STATES BORDER -- NIGHT

In the line of vehicles at the U.S. BORDER, the BUS' BRAKES HISS, doors swinging open for an AMERICAN BORDER OFFICER...

INT. BUS -- NIGHT

The BORDER OFFICER comes on, not a calming presence. The Mexican passengers know what to do, holding up GREEN CARDS and PASSPORTS for perusal...

The officer grunts at each passenger he approves, moving on.

(CONTINUED)

Nicholas slides lower in his seat. Mother, beside him, produces her GREEN CARD and holds it aloft, waiting. The officer comes to glare at Nicholas.

Nicholas looks back at him, unblinking.

The officer looks to Mother's card. He says something in SPANISH. Mother responds in SPANISH. The officer grabs her card, speaking, dissatisfied. He shouts for Mother to get off... hurrying her up, moving her out...

Mother moves, carrying the child in her lap, hastening the other two children seated in front of her.

Mother protests about her rope-bound SUITCASES in the overhead shelf, trying to grip one, arms full of child. The official pulls her along, ignoring...

Nicholas watches. He rises...

OUTSIDE THE BUS

Mother and three children are unloaded. The official waves the bus on to the border, despite Mother's protest.

The bus sets in motion...

AT THE BACK OF THE BUS, the rear emergency door is forced open. Nicholas is there, dropping one suitcase...

Following with a second suitcase, tossing it to the ground gently as the bus' motion allows. Mother spots this, moving to collect the suitcases, children following...

ON THE BUS

The BUS DRIVER shouts a complaint in SPANISH.

At the rear, Nicholas pulls the door shut and latches it, watching thru the window as Mother and children drag their suitcases out of the path of other vehicles.

CUT TO:

EXT. CALIFORNIA HIGHWAY -- NIGHT

Nicholas walks backwards, exhausted, hitchhiking on the freeway shoulder. TRAFFIC absolutely SOARS PAST.

EXT. BOB'S BIG BOY RESTAURANT -- NIGHT

Highway in the b.g., Nicholas hikes across the parking lot of this 24-hour DINER, past many parked TRACTOR TRAILERS.

INT. BOB'S BIG BOY RESTAURANT -- NIGHT

There's a heavy duty TRUCK DRIVER clientele elbow to elbow at the counter, eating, drinking coffee. The BELL above the door TINKLES as Nicholas enters.

NICHOLAS

Pardon me...

Nicholas moves to the end of the counter, louder...

NICHOLAS

Excuse me, please, if I could have your attention...

Conversations stop. Everyone looks to Nicholas. He's scruffier than ever; a hobo freak in white suit, fed up.

NICHOLAS

Thank you. If anyone's heading to San Francisco, I need a ride.

Met with silence. Nicholas clears his rough throat.

NICHOLAS

There's...

(digs in pocket...)

There's all the money I've got left in it for you... eighteen dollars and seventy-nine cents...

Nicholas puts his crumpled bills and coins on the counter. One penny falls. You can hear it hit the floor and roll.

CUT TO:

EXT. UPSTATE CALIFORNIA HIGHWAY -- DAY

BRIGHT DAY. A big, Baskin-Robbin's TRUCK rumbles by...

INT. BASKIN-ROBBIN'S ICE CREAM TRUCK -- DAY

ENGINE and ROADWAY ROARING. Windows open, wind whipping. Beside the DRIVER, Nicholas sleeps wrapped in a blanket.

CUT TO:

EXT. SAN FRANCISCO -- EARLY EVENING

The Baskin-Robbin's tractor trailer keeps on truckin'.
AHEAD: the San Francisco skyline.

EXT. WAREHOUSE DISTRICT -- NIGHT

Nicholas climbs down from the Baskin-Robbin's truck, thanks the driver. The truck lurches away. Nicholas walks.

CUT TO:

EXT. VAN ORTON MANSION -- NIGHT

The gate is WRAPPED IN CHAINS. Nicholas arrives, trudging. He pulls to test the chains. There's a "PUBLIC AUCTION" SIGN hung. Nicholas tears it down, begins climbing...

INT. VAN ORTON MANSION, KITCHEN -- NIGHT

A ROCK SMASHES a glass pane in the door. Nicholas reaches thru to let himself in. No electricity. Graffiti's gone. There's scaffolding. Work in progress. Appliances gone.

Nicholas checks the PHONE, finds it dead.

INT. VAN ORTON MANSION, DEN -- NIGHT

Nicholas looks in. Furniture's wrapped in thick plastic. Curtains and paintings are gone. Like the kitchen, this room's repainted. Cold and bare.

INT. GUEST HOUSE, FOYER/LIVING ROOM -- NIGHT

The front door's ajar. Nicholas pushes it open slow, entering darkness. The living room is completely empty.

NICHOLAS
(calling upstairs)
Ilsa.

Pitch dark at the top of the stairs. Nicholas moves forward into another EMPTY ROOM. It's creepy quiet.

INT. VAN ORTON MANSION, GARAGE -- NIGHT

Nicholas enters the moonlit garage. THREE EMPTY SPACES.

INT. MANSION, MASTER BATH -- NIGHT

IN THE SHOWER, Nicholas scrubs his hair with a bar of soap, huddled under the cold spray, shuddering.

INT. MANSION, MASTER BEDROOM -- NIGHT

In the stripped bedroom, Nicholas, in a baggy t-shirt and jeans, pulls a paper wrapped package from a dresser. On the bed, he tears open the paper, pulling out a long OVERCOAT.

INT. MANSION, KITCHEN -- MORNING

Dawn light. BIRDS HEARD SINGING. Nicholas opens drawers. He finds a mason jar with CASH inside, unscrews the lid.

INT. MANSION, LIBRARY -- MORNING

Moving boxes. Half the shelves of this impressive library are emptied into high stacks of books on the floor.

(CONTINUED)

Nicholas moves to search a section still lined with books...
... looking for one in particular, reading spines...

"To Kill a Mockingbird" by Harper Lee, leather bound.
Nicholas takes it down.

INT. MANSION, FOYER -- MORNING

Nicholas heads for the front door. He halts, noticing...
An ENVELOPE on a table: "TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN."

Nicholas opens the envelope, unfolding a letter... "Like my father before me, I choose eternal sleep." Still with the RED SIGNATURE ARROW affixed below.

INT. MANSION, KITCHEN -- MORNING

The "suicide note" lands in the sink, BURNING.

CUT TO:

EXT. UNION SQUARE, GEARY STREET -- DAY

A MUNI BUS halts at a corner. Nicholas is the second rider off, paranoid, book under his arm. He moves down the sidewalk... toward the FOUR SEASONS HOTEL.

INT. FOUR SEASONS HOTEL, FRONT DESK -- DAY

Unkempt, unshaven Nicholas is a blight in this flawless hotel. At the desk, he gets the CLERK'S attention.

NICHOLAS

I'm here to see Grace Van Orton.
Ring her room.

The desk clerk gives a pause while Nicholas scans the lobby.

DESK CLERK

One moment, please...

The desk clerk crosses to a gray, elder statesman MANAGER, huddling to speak in hushed tones. Nicholas watches them, concerned. The manager walks over...

NICHOLAS

What's the trouble?

MANAGER

You're here for Grace Van Orton? I'm the hotel manager...

He offers a handshake which Nicholas ignores.

(CONTINUED)

NICHOLAS

Pleasure to meet you, I'd like to see my daughter, thank you.

MANAGER

(worry, guiding Nicholas)
Your daughter. Will you come with me?

NICHOLAS

What's this about?

MANAGER

It's a private matter, for you... I think you'll be more comfortable...

NICHOLAS

Where's my daughter?

The manager looks around, feeling indiscreet, voice low.

MANAGER

There were complaints by other guests, and damage to her room. We did the best we could to accommodate her behavior.

NICHOLAS

Her behavior... ?

MANAGER

She couldn't, or refused to pay. We extended credit...

NICHOLAS

Look, where is she?!

MANAGER

There was an incident a few days ago... a nervous breakdown, they said. The police took her. They left this address, in case anyone...

Nicholas struggles to absorb this while the manager takes out a BILLFOLD of business cards, offers a SLIP OF PAPER...

MANAGER

It's a hospital in Napa. I'm terribly sorry. If you'd have been here, you'd have seen, there was nothing else to do.

Nicholas regards the paper, disbelieving, sorrow welling up.

CUT TO:

EXT. ELIZABETH'S HOME (SAUSALITO) -- DAY

ELIZABETH, Nicholas' ex-wife, bends to kiss her young DAUGHTER. The daughter runs to a waiting, luxury MINI-VAN. The female driver waves as the van pulls away.

Across this suburban street, Nicholas stands watching.

Elizabeth is about to go back inside, but she sees Nicholas. She's surprised, smiling at first instinctively, but then she looks concerned.

INT. RESTAURANT -- DAY

BUSINESS PEOPLE chat over breakfast. A TV at the bar shows GOOD MORNING AMERICA. Nicholas and Elizabeth are seated near. He's edgy, fingering a spoon, hand on his book.

NICHOLAS

I need your car, Elizabeth.

ELIZABETH

What happened to you, Nick? I mean, look at yourself...

NICHOLAS

I know, look at me, well...

(short laugh)

What happened? I don't know. I don't even really know. I have some things to try to take care of... I need the car a little while.

ELIZABETH

Of course you can have it if you need it. Can I get you something to eat?

She starts working the CAR KEY off her keychain.

NICHOLAS

You're the only person I can trust. Everyone else...

(pause)

If Sam Sutherland calls, don't tell him you saw me. Lie to him. And, whatever you hear, whatever anyone tells you when this is over...

Nicholas straightens as a PALE WAITRESS arrives. He studies her. She notices his fixation, tries to ignore.

PALE WAITRESS

(serving...)

There we go... coffee and English muffin... water...

(MORE)

(CONTINUED)

PALE WAITRESS (cont'd)

(smiles)

So, if there's anything...

Nicholas picks up his bottled water, examining the broken plastic SAFETY SEAL around the cap.

NICHOLAS

This is open. Someone opened it.

PALE WAITRESS

Yes, sir, I...

NICHOLAS

I can't have this open.

(gives it back)

I'd like another, unopened. And I don't want ice. I need a glass without ice.

The waitress leaves, glad to get away from this weirdo. Nicholas keeps looking all around the restaurant and over his shoulder. Elizabeth takes Nicholas' hand, worried.

ELIZABETH

Nick, talk to me. You're scaring me. I don't even know what you're saying.

He faces her, looks down at her hand in his.

NICHOLAS

I'm sorry, Liz... I don't mean to.

Nicholas clasps her hand, caresses it, looks at her.

NICHOLAS

The last few days, um... I've been thinking... had a lot of spare time.

(pause, sad)

I want to tell you... I'm starting to understand why you left me. I've been resenting you for it, maybe, but ... I want to apologize, for all of it. For shutting you out, for not being there. I...

(swallows)

Anyway, I hope you can forgive me.

ELIZABETH

There's nothing to forgive.

NICHOLAS

It would mean a lot to me... if you and I could be friends. If I could have you back in my life... in some small way. It would be important.

(CONTINUED)

ELIZABETH
Of course, Nick...

Nicholas tries to smile. He glances away for a second, and he lets out a STRANGLED CRY because he SEES SOMETHING...

NICHOLAS
No... no!

He stands, agonized, looking across to the...
TELEVISION, where JIM FEINGOLD is ON SCREEN in C.U.

NICHOLAS
(to television)
You fucking bastard!

ON TELEVISION: Feingold looks menacing, the top of his HEAD REDDENING and beginning to THROB. CHEESY SOUND EFFECTS...

NICHOLAS
(still to t.v.)
How did you find me here?!

Obviously, everyone's watching Nicholas, Elizabeth included.

FEINGOLD (v.o.)
(ON TELEVISION)
Honey, my head is killing me!

WIFE'S VOICE (v.o.)
(from t.v., o.s.)
Did you take anything, sweetie?

FEINGOLD (v.o.)
(on television)
I took aspirin, but it's not working!

ON TV: a FEMALE HAND appears, offering a BOTTLE OF PILLS.

WIFE'S VOICE (v.o.)
(from television)
Try Ambutol, you silly goose. It's stronger than aspirin and...

Nicholas is starting to understand, stunned.

NICHOLAS
He... he's an actor...

ON TV: Feingold, now cured, holds up the pills and smiles.

FEINGOLD (v.o.)
Thanks to Ambutol, I've got my head back together.

JINGLE MUSIC. Nicholas looks to Elizabeth, points to t.v.

(CONTINUED)

NICHOLAS
It's just t.v. He's just an actor.

ELIZABETH (slowly)
Yes.

Nicholas realizes how he must look. He picks up the car key, gives Elizabeth a kiss on the forehead.

NICHOLAS
I'll explain someday.

ELIZABETH
I hope.

She watches Nicholas hurry away. She sits forward, wondering, shaking her head.

NEAR THE CASH REGISTER, Nicholas moves to the door, but stops. He goes to the CASHIER.

NICHOLAS
Can I borrow your Yellow Pages... ?

The cashier digs under the counter, comes up with the PHONE BOOK. Nicholas takes it, leaving...

NICHOLAS
Thanks.

Nicholas goes out the door, gone. The cashier does a double-take, about to say something, confused, dour.

CUT TO:

EXT. URBAN STREET -- DAY

A run-down neighborhood. Nicholas drives Elizabeth's VOLVO, erratically, distracted...

INSIDE THE VOLVO

He steers with one hand while paging thru the YELLOW PAGES open on the seat. He gets to RESTAURANTS, trading glances between the book and the street.

ON THE STREET

Red light ahead. The Volvo stops.

INSIDE THE VOLVO

Nicholas finds ads for CHINESE RESTAURANTS, running his finger down, flipping the page. His finger hits it -- a grinning CARTOON PANDA. "TUNG HOY Chinese Restaurant."

(CONTINUED)

NICHOLAS
Tung Hoy. Tung Hoy... best in Chinatown.

He tears the page out and studies it like a pirate with a treasure map. Suddenly, an arm reaches in thru the window, putting a KNIFE to Nicholas' throat...

MALE VOICE (o.s.)
Get out of the car, fucker...

Nicholas holds still, eyes shifting to look at the wasted, skittish TEEN THUG threatening.

TEEN THUG
Open the door and climb out. Leave it running.

Nicholas is twitchy calm, motionless.

NICHOLAS
You're making a mistake...

The knife presses harder against Nicholas' throat.

TEEN THUG
Get out of the car.

NICHOLAS
You don't understand...

TEEN THUG
Get out of the car, motherfucker!
Get out of the car... !

Nicholas' hand finds and opens the book "To Kill a Mockingbird" beside him. It's HOLLOWED-OUT with a GUN hidden inside, a revolver, which Nicholas grips...

Nicholas brings the gun across, into the thug's face...

NICHOLAS
You have no idea how fragile I am
right now.

The thug backs off... runs away. Nicholas watches him go, puts down the gun, drives.

CUT TO:

EXT. TUNG HOY -- DAY

A festive Chinatown neighborhood. At "TUNG HOY," ducks hang behind the CARTOON PANDA painted on the window.

INT. TUNG HOY -- DAY

Cramped. Walls covered in CELEBRITY HEADSHOTS. Nicholas faces an OLD CHINESE WOMAN behind the counter.

NICHOLAS

He's an actor. He does television commercials...

CHINESE WOMAN

Do you know how many customers we have? Hundreds. Thousands.

NICHOLAS

I know he orders from you. He had his food delivered to Montgomery Street. Fifteen-thirty-three...

The woman just shakes her head, continues bagging orders. Nicholas realizes it's futile. He bends over the counter.

NICHOLAS

Is there anyone else I could ask? Maybe they'll remem...

Nicholas stops, eyes locked....

Low on the wall, amongst the grease-browned pictures of pseudo-celebs, there's a newer GLOSSY of FEINGOLD, smiling big, labeled "William Fisher."

Nicholas looks to woman who's shouting into the kitchen. He jumps up on the counter, reaching with his fingertips for the "Feingold" PHOTO, straining, almost has it...

EXT. CHINATOWN STREET -- DAY

On a PAYPHONE, Nicholas looks at the BACK OF THE HEADSHOT -- credits, phone number -- flips it to show Feingold/Fisher.

NICHOLAS

(into phone)

... I know it's short notice Mrs. Fisher, but we were hoping your husband could audition today. He's perfect for the part...

MRS FISHER (v.o.)

(from phone)

Oh, this will break his heart...

NICHOLAS

Isn't there any way we can get in touch with him?

(CONTINUED)

MRS FISHER (v.o.)
His beeper's here on the table. He took the kids to the zoo.

NICHOLAS
The zoo. How sweet. Which zoo?

CUT TO:

EXT. ZOO -- DAY

ANIMALS lounge in their cages. TOURISTS wander, mostly families. Here comes Nicholas, running, searching...

Ahead: Feingold's in casual clothes, eating ice cream, doing his best to supervise THREE OBNOXIOUS CHILDREN. Nicholas moves in, slows when he's close...

NICHOLAS
Bill Fischer, I love your work...

Feingold turns, smiling... till he sees Nicholas and recognition sets in. He goes pale, sheepish.

FEINGOLD
Okay, please... I got my kids...

Nicholas casually shows him the gun.

NICHOLAS
Get rid of them.

FEINGOLD
Hey, everyone -- snack time! Here... here you go...

Feingold takes out cash and dispenses it. KIDS CHEER and run to a nearby SNACK CART.

FEINGOLD
Look, it was just a job. Nothing personal, ya know? I play my part, improvise a little. That's what I'm good at.

NICHOLAS
I'm tired of dealing with peons. I need to get to whoever's in charge.

FEINGOLD
Nobody knows, pal. Nobody gets the big picture...
(looking away)
Jason, Tommy, cut it out!

(CONTINUED)

His BOYS are THROWING ROCKS at the MONKEYS. They look to their father, drop the rocks and saunter away.

FEINGOLD
Goddamnit, why do they do that?

NICHOLAS
(grips Feingold's shirt)
How do I find them? Their offices are empty.

FEINGOLD
They own the whole building. They just move from floor to floor.

Nicholas releases him.

NICHOLAS
They know you... you worked for them. You can get me in.

FEINGOLD
No I can't. I'm sorry and all, but...

NICHOLAS
Tell them the cops are after you... tell them you've got to talk to someone, I'm threatening to blow the whistle.

FEINGOLD
What whistle? There's no fucking whistle. This is fucking dangerous.

Nicholas gets in Feingold's face, furious.

NICHOLAS
You don't seem to understand. Right now -- I'm dangerous.

Feingold gets the message.

CUT TO:

EXT. C.R.S. BUILDING -- EARLY EVENING

Dusk. LIGHTS OFF in the towering building. A battered STATION WAGON rounds a corner, PAUSES at the GARAGE RAMP.

IN THE STATION WAGON

Cluttered car. Feingold at the wheel, tense, appears alone.

FEINGOLD
We're here.

(CONTINUED)

BEHIND THE SEAT, Nicholas peeks from under a blanket.

NICHOLAS

Drive in.

FEINGOLD

What are you gonna do anyway? You won't get your money back.

NICHOLAS

(muffled, under blanket)

I don't want money. I'm pulling back the curtain. I'm here to meet the Wizard.

INT. C.R.S. UNDERGROUND GARAGE -- NIGHT

The station wagon comes down the ramp to a closed GATE. A BEEFY GUARD looks from his booth. Feingold waves timidly. The GATE RISES and the station wagon moves on...

IN THE STATION WAGON

IN THE REARVIEW MIRROR: Beefy Guard watches, suspicious.

FEINGOLD

(under his breath)

He's eyeing us like Tiffany Towers.

NICHOLAS (o.s.)

Just go. Park where he can't see.

IN THE UNDERGROUND GARAGE

ACROSS THE GARAGE, near elevators, the station wagon parks. Feingold gets out, scared. Nicholas climbs out, crouched, gun in hand, points for Feingold to go first.

Feingold goes to push the elevator button, sweating. Nicholas remains hidden between cars.

A few elevators down, ELEVATOR DOORS open and a fierce C.R.S. SECURITY GUARD gets off, spots Feingold, murmurs into a WALKIE-TALKIE while taking out a gun.

C.R.S. GUARD

You're not allowed to be here.

FEINGOLD

No, they called me back... I have a fitting...

Behind, Nicholas puts his gun to the guard's neck.

NICHOLAS

Give me the gun.

(CONTINUED)

Security Guard gives it up, an automatic, which Nicholas throws across the garage. Nicholas forces the guard to the open elevator, takes the WALKIE-TALKIE and pockets it, pulls Feingold along...

IN THE ELEVATOR

Nicholas frisks the Guard... pulls out HANDCUFFS.

FEINGOLD
You don't need me...

NICHOLAS
Shut up. Cuff him to the rail.

Feingold takes the handcuffs and obeys. Nicholas jams the gun against the guard's neck.

NICHOLAS
What floor?

C.R.S. GUARD
Fourteen. But, this elevator ain't gonna get you there, college boy.

Nicholas pulls off the guard's KEYCHAIN, sorts keys...

He uses a GOLD C.R.S. KEY on the control pad, turns it and hits 14. DOORS CLOSE. The elevator sets IN MOTION.

C.R.S. GUARD
You'll never get away with this.
These people will fuck you up.

Nicholas ignores. Feingold whimpers.

INT. C.R.S. BUILDING, 14TH FLOOR HALLWAY -- NIGHT

ELEVATOR OPENS. Nicholas peers out. No one in the hall. He pushes Feingold ahead, pushes ALL THE FLOOR BUTTONS.

C.R.S. GUARD
You're fucked. You're both...

ELEVATOR SHUTS. Nicholas and Feingold move on.

NICHOLAS Where?

FEINGOLD
I told you, they hired me over the phone. I never met anyone.

NICHOLAS
Where'd you pick up your checks?

(CONTINUED)

FEINGOLD
It was a different floor then...

NICHOLAS
Guess!

FEINGOLD
Like, this way... sort of...

Nicholas nudges Feingold ahead with the gun.

INT. COMMISSARY -- NIGHT

Door swings open. Nicholas and Feingold enter...
A BUSTLING, NOISY COMMISSARY. A cafeteria counter along one wall. People CHATTING and LAUGHING at rows of long tables.

Nicholas keeps a grip on Feingold, walks forward, stunned...

EVERYONE FROM THE GAME IS HERE: the PARAMEDICS eat with the HEAVY MAN who faked the heart attack. CHRISTINE'S ROOMMATE is seated near the airport HOMELESS BUM, BIKINI GIRL and the MEXICAN MOTHER with her THREE CHILDREN from the bus.

PLUMP GUY, the P.I. who followed Nicholas and had his gun taken, comes off the cafe line with a soda, spotting Nicholas... spotting the gun, quaking. He flees...

Nicholas and Feingold continue. BUSINESSMAN 1 and 2 from Nicholas' club sit near AMBULANCE ATTENDANTS. The TAXI DRIVER and the FEMALE DETECTIVE chat.

There's the HOTEL MANAGER from the Claremont... the BELLHOP... the CHINESE WOMAN from Tung Hoy... the DESK CLERK from the Four Seasons and TEEN THUG. Every incidental character from Nicholas' recent life.

Nicholas inches into the room. A few of the players begin to notice him, some trying to place him, others pointing him out to their dining partners. Nicholas halts, sees...

CHRISTINE rising, picking up her dirty tray, in mid-conversation till she turns and sees...

Nicholas, who raises his gun.

CHRISTINE
Oh, fuck...

People notice the gun. SOME SCREAM. Everyone goes HUSHED.

CHRISTINE
What are you doing here?

NICHOLAS
I'm back from the dead.

(CONTINUED)

CHRISTINE

Nicholas, okay... you're not about to shoot anyone...

Nicholas moves to grab Christine. She drops her tray...

NICHOLAS

You're coming with me!

MALE VOICE (o.s.)

Everybody down!

Nicholas spins. At a far entrance, TWO SECURITY GUARDS aim guns. PEOPLE SCREAM. Some run. Many dive for cover. PANIC. Nicholas gets behind Christine...

He uses Christine as a shield, arm round her throat, pulling her backwards. Feingold's frozen, hands held high...

SECURITY GUARD 1

Don't move!

Nicholas glances at the door, moving for it, dragging Christine. Feingold's still got his hands up...

Nicholas and Christine near the doors...

Feingold bolts another direction, leaping tables...

Security Guard 1 shifts aim to Feingold...

SECURITY GUARD 1

Stop!

Security Guard 1 FIRES...

INT. 12TH FLOOR HALLWAY -- NIGHT

Nicholas shoves out into the hall with Christine just as GUNSHOTS ECHO behind. MORE horrified SCREAMS HEARD and TABLES TOPPLING and PLATES CRASHING.

Nicholas shoves Christine ahead, searching desperately...

NICHOLAS

Get us out of here...

CHRISTINE

Nicholas...

NICHOLAS

Get us out!

He shoves. She falls. He pulls her back up...

INT. STAIRWELL -- NIGHT

They enter. He makes her climb at gunpoint...

NICHOLAS
Move, move, move!

They climb stairs... up towards the "HELIPORT..."

EXT. ROOFTOP -- NIGHT

Air ducts, etc. A MUFFLED ALARM SOUNDS as Christine comes out the door onto the windy rooftop, followed by Nicholas. She backs against the railing that borders the huge BLACK PIT at the center of the building; an atrium SKYLIGHT.

Nicholas SLAMS the door, throws the HEAVY BOLT, searches to make sure the rest of the roof is clear.

CHRISTINE
What do you think you're doing?

NICHOLAS
You tell me... I want to know who's behind this. Who did this to me... how, why... ?

CHRISTINE
How deluded can you be? There's no why...

NICHOLAS
Who's responsible?!

CHRISTINE
It wasn't you. It wasn't personal...

NICHOLAS
You call them...

Nicholas pulls out the WALKIE-TALKIE, throws it to her.

CHRISTINE
It could have been any asshole with a couple hundred million in the bank.

NICHOLAS
Call them, tell them to get the boss up here. Tell them I'll kill you...

POUNDING is HEARD from the other side of the roof DOOR. MUFFLED VOICES. Nicholas reacts.

CHRISTINE
They won't...

(CONTINUED)

NICHOLAS

They will! You tell them if they don't come now, I will shoot you!

STATIC and GARBLED ORDERS HEARD from the WALKIE-TALKIE.

CHRISTINE

I'm telling you... they'll let me die first. You're not in a position to threaten them. You're trapped.
You're the one who...

Christine freezes, thrown...

CHRISTINE

... wait a minute...

She's taking notice of the revolver Nicholas brandishes...

CHRISTINE

Where'd you get that... ?

NICHOLAS

... what... ?

CHRISTINE

That gun. That... that's not automatic. The guard had an automatic...

POUNDING is LOUDER against the nearby door.

NICHOLAS

What the fuck are you... ?

CHRISTINE

Where'd you get that gun?

NICHOLAS

It's mine...

CHRISTINE

We searched the house.

NICHOLAS

Guess you missed it.

CHRISTINE

(suddenly very afraid)
Just... wait. Just wait! Okay... please, I'm not kidding anymore...

Christine brings the WALKIE-TALKIE to her mouth...

(CONTINUED)

CHRISTINE
(into walkie-talkie)
He's got a gun. Everyone, he's got a real gun up here! Real situation!
(switching channels)
... damn it...

NICHOLAS
What are you doing?

CHRISTINE
Nicholas, this is fake. It's all part of the game...

NICHOLAS
Fuck you.

THUMP-THUMP-THUMP against the DOOR...

CHRISTINE
Listen very carefully, I'm telling the truth... this is the game. This was all the game.

NICHOLAS
Bullshit. They killed him.
Feingold, Fisher, whoever... they shot him...

CHRISTINE
No, now wait... think about it. What did you see... ?

NICHOLAS
I saw them kill him!

CHRISTINE
What did you really see? This whole time... special effects, squibs, like in the movies. Please, you've got to believe me...
(into walkie-talkie)
He's got a gun, with real bullets!

NICHOLAS
Stop talking to them!

CHRISTINE
Okay... okay...
(drops walkie-talkie)
I put it down. Now, open that door.
Mister Fisher's right on the other side of that door. He's an actor...

NICHOLAS
Stop talking...

(CONTINUED)

CHRISTINE
Nicholas...

NICHOLAS
Shut up!

CHRISTINE
Let me show you...

She takes a step toward the door.

NICHOLAS
No! You take another step, I'll shoot! They're trying to kill me...

CHRISTINE
You're wrong. You're about to make the biggest mistake of your life.
Put that gun down.

POUNDING on the DOOR is DESPERATE. Nicholas falters...

CHRISTINE
Think about it! They followed you every step of the way. There was always a safety net. The taxi, there was a diver. At my house, the window was rigged... they shot at us with blanks...

NICHOLAS
That's not true...

CHRISTINE
It is. It's what you hired us for.
Nobody touched your money. Nobody stole anything. They're waiting on the other side of that door with champagne... all your friends... it's a celebration...

NICHOLAS
No...

CHRISTINE
Open that door, you'll see. Your daughter's there... Grace. She's there. It's your birthday party...

NICHOLAS
Stop it!

CHRISTINE
Please, Nicholas, let me show you...

She takes a tentative step towards the door...

(CONTINUED)

NICHOLAS
Don't move, you bitch... !

CHRISTINE
(still moving)
I have to show you...

NICHOLAS
No!

And from the staticy WALKIE-TALKIE on the ground:

MALE VOICE (v.o.)
(thru WALKIE-TALKIE)
... Take him down! Take him down...

CHRISTINE
(shouts to door)
He's got a gun!

With a CLANK! -- the DOOR is POUNDED OPEN, swinging...

Nicholas turns, aims at the door...

CHRISTINE
Don't!

Nicholas FIRES, gunshot DEAFENING... !

In the doorway, Grace, in EVENING GOWN and PARTY HAT, is startled as the magnum of CHAMPAGNE she holds EXPLODES and throws foam and glass in a wide spray...

The smile falls from Grace's face as BLOOD spreads across her chest. She looks to Nicholas, confused, collapsing...

A collective cry of horror comes from the gaily dressed PARTY-GOERS behind as Feingold catches Grace and eases her to the ground, cradles her...

Nicholas lowers his gun... realizing...

NICHOLAS
Grace...

Feingold clutches Grace, trying to stop the bleeding, feeling for a pulse. Blood flows out Grace's mouth.

FEINGOLD
Jesus... you shot her... !
(back to others)
Someone call an ambulance!

Grace's eyes are closed. She's motionless. She's dead.

Christine lets out a hysterical sob, hands to her mouth.

(CONTINUED)

FEINGOLD
Oh, God... oh, God...

Nicholas drops the gun, moves forward, stunned, numb...

FEINGOLD
She's dead... she's dead... !
(to Nicholas)
You killed her!

Nicholas falls to his knees in front of Feingold and Grace.
Christine's eyes fill with tears...

CHRISTINE
(to Nicholas)
Why?! I told you... I told you. Why didn't you listen?

Feingold releases Grace to the floor, rising, bloody...

FEINGOLD
We're going to jail. We're all going to jail for the rest of our lives...

People start clearing out of the stairwell, heading down.

FEINGOLD
(to Nicholas)
We thought you knew! How could you let this get so out of hand?

Nicholas just remains kneeled there, breathing unevenly, staring at his daughter's corpse...

CHRISTINE
Why wouldn't you listen to me? What is wrong with you? You killed your own daughter!

Nicholas looks to the dark sky, tears streaming down his face. He looks all around.

Christine stops, looking down at the corpse, crying out of control. Feingold comes to attempt to comfort her.

Nicholas gets to his feet, unsteady, backing away, looking to the GLASS SKYLIGHT. He wipes his tears.

Nicholas stands motionless for the longest time. Calm.

Nicholas moves forward... a goal in mind...

Christine turns, sees...

Nicholas arrives at the edge of the SKYLIGHT...

(CONTINUED)

Christine screams...

Nicholas leaps...

INT. C.R.S. BUILDING -- NIGHT

Nicholas CRASHES thru the SKYLIGHT, FALLING...
SPARKLING SHARDS surround him like stars as he PLUMMETS...

The WORLD BELOW is PITCH DARK. Nicholas turns in the air, head thrown back, closing his eyes...

FLASHBACK/GRAINY HOME MOVIES -- FLASH FRAMES

QUICK IMAGES: the CLOWN, CHRISTINE'S FACE, YOUNG NICHOLAS, NICHOLAS holding YOUNG GRACE, Nicholas' FATHER impacting the ground... IMAGES so RAPID they're hard to process.

BACK TO SCENE

As Nicholas falls...
FALLING forever...

He lets out a CRY as the end rushes closer...
BRILLIANT LIGHT suddenly illuminates him. Nicholas throws his eyes open, gasping in the brightness...

LIGHTS come on from all sides to show NICHOLAS' IMPACT as he lands on his back, arms outstretched, SWALLOWED by an ENORMOUS, INFLATED LIFESAVING CUSHION that covers the entire floor of the atrium...

AIR is HEARD RUSHING. Nicholas sinks, coming to rest as the cushion DEFLATES. Harmless bits of BREAKAWAY GLASS shower down. Nicholas doesn't move...

He can't comprehend. Motionless.
DOORS are HEARD OPENING. FOOTSTEPS RUSHING FORWARD.

VARIOUS VOICES
... let's go! ... make sure he's alright... see if he's okay...

TWO E.M.S. WORKERS wade into the billowing cushion, heading to Nicholas. STUNT COORDINATORS in C.R.S. jumpsuits follow.

The E.M.S. WORKERS kneel, checking Nicholas over, taking his pulse, shining a penlight in his eyes...

ONE E.M.S. WORKER
Can you hear me? How are you... ?

NICHOLAS
... where am I... ?

The worker finishes with the penlight, looks to the other.

(CONTINUED)

ONE E.M.S. WORKER

He's okay.

(smiles, turns to others)

He's okay...

Stunt coordinators join in helping Nicholas up, careful. Nicholas just blinks at them, quaking, lips trembling...

He's led out from the cushion, barely standing, sees...

Grace runs from the elevators, covered in blood but very much alive. She smiles, eyes filling with tears...

GRACE

Happy Birthday, dad.

Grace reaches Nicholas, throwing her arms around him, embracing him. Nicholas is still not all there, staring forward, far from comprehending, tears in his eyes.

NICHOLAS

(weakly)

What is this?

GRACE

This is your birthday present.

She whispers in Nicholas' ear...

GRACE

Wear you a hat or wear you a crown...

NICHOLAS

(quietly)

All that goes up, must surely come down.

Emotion overwhelms Nicholas. He laughs and cries at once, putting his arms around Grace and holding tight, hands balled into fists, clinging gratefully.

ACROSS THE ATRIUM, DOORS OPEN and people flow out, cheering: Sutherland, Ilsa and Elizabeth at front, looking unsure, forcing smiles, led by C.R.S. ESCORTS. And behind, DOZENS and DOZENS of C.R.S. WORKERS, ASSISTANTS and TECHNICIANS.

At the bank of ELEVATORS, DING, DING, DING... DOORS OPEN and the CAST OF CHARACTERS emerges, Feingold leading, holding Christine's hand, everyone elated and shouting victoriously.

The crowd encircles Grace and Nicholas as they climb back out of the cushion. HUNDREDS of WELL-WISHERS gathering...

Grace climbs stairs, pulls Nicholas, wiping her tears...

(CONTINUED)

GRACE
 Ladies and gentlemen...
 (pause, motions)
 My father... Nicholas Van Orton! He thought he had it all!

THUNDEROUS APPLAUSE. Nicholas looks out over them, flush, awed, unable to catch his breath.

CUT TO:

INT. C.R.S. BUILDING, ATRIUM/LOBBY -- TIME CUT -- NIGHT

LOUD MUSIC. COCKTAIL PARTY IN PROGRESS. A huge CAKE is being cut. Tables surround a PACKED dance floor area where Feingold dances crazily. Everyone's drinking, eating...

IN THE CROWD, FIND: Nicholas with a bottle of champagne in hand, watching Ilsa embrace Grace.

ILSA
 I hope we'll be seeing more of you.

GRACE
 Count on it.

Ilsa reaches to straighten Grace's hair. She regards
 Nicholas with affection, kisses his cheek.

ILSA
 Goodnight. See you home.

NICHOLAS
 Goodnight.
 (watches her go, to Grace)
 Where was she?

GRACE
 In a hotel. Ordering room service and watching pay-per-view. She was a real sport.

BUSINESSMAN 1 and HEAVY MAN come thru the crowd to Nicholas.

BUSINESSMAN 1
 Hey, congratulations! You did great... really kicked ass...

HEAVY MAN
 Amazing, just wanted to tell you...

Nicholas thanks them, shaking hands as they move on.

(CONTINUED)

NICHOLAS

(to Grace)

You know... how'd you manage the gun?
I mean...

GRACE

They were all over the house with metal detectors. They switched your gun with a look-alike, rigged barrel, loaded with blanks. Pop-gun.

MAN'S VOICE (o.s.)

(from behind)

Miss Van Orton... ?

Nicholas and Grace both turn to face a C.R.S. ACCOUNTANT, a nebbish who holds a CLIPBOARD.

ACCOUNTANT

Grace Van Orton?

GRACE

Yes... ?

Grace steps aside with the accountant. Nicholas takes a swig off his champagne, nods in response to C.R.S. WORKERS who slap his back as they pass.

Nicholas realizes something, begins searching the crowd as Elizabeth arrives with HUSBAND and DAUGHTER hand in hand.

ELIZABETH

We have to head out... just wanted to say goodbye.

NICHOLAS

You're going? Well, thanks again.

(to DAUGHTER)

Good to see you, Rachel...

(shakes HUSBAND'S hand)

Thanks for coming, Mel. I'll get your car back. Right now it's, uh... at the zoo. Sorry.

ELIZABETH

Happy Birthday, Nicholas.

NICHOLAS

I'll call. I really will.

ELIZABETH

I know.

She kisses his cheek. Nicholas waves as they go...

(CONTINUED)

NICHOLAS

Bye, guys.

Nicholas searches the crowd. He walks, receiving more random congratulations, heading to a table where Sutherland sits puffing a cigar. Nicholas sits.

SUTHERLAND

Bravo, young man. You have to tell me what this was all about sometime. I want you to know... when it looked there for awhile like you were...

(blows cigar smoke)

I was fully prepared to have you committed to the finest mental-health facility available. I mean that sincerely, don't thank me.

NICHOLAS

You warm my heart.

Sutherland smiles, raises his glass. Grace deposits herself in a seat, holding an inch-and-a-half thick stack of COMPUTER PAPER, studies the last sheet, thumbs the pages.

NICHOLAS

What?

GRACE

This... ? Oh, this is just... this is the bill.

Grace tries to laugh, daunted.

NICHOLAS

Really?

GRACE

(none too happy)

Yeah.

NICHOLAS

Split it?

GRACE

Oh God yes please. Thanks, dad. I'll take you up on that.

Nicholas reaches to squeeze Grace's hand, happy.

INT. C.R.S. ATRIUM/LOBBY -- TIME CUT -- NIGHT

A little later, the party's still going strong. Nicholas moves through, still searching. Feingold's coming off the dance floor still dancing, drunk, bumps Nicholas.

(CONTINUED)

FEINGOLD
Hey, hey... congratulations, Van
Orton!

NICHOLAS
Thank you. You were terrific, by the way.

Feingold gives an "aw shucks" shrug.

NICHOLAS
Listen... have you seen Christine?
(off Feingold's look)
The waitress.

GRACE
Huh? Oh, yeah. She called a cab.
Said something about catching a plane.

NICHOLAS
Did she?

EXT. C.R.S. BUILDING -- NIGHT

Nicholas comes out the building to the street, hurried, looks both ways. Down the block, a TAXI arrives.
Christine's getting in.

Nicholas runs to catch it...

NICHOLAS
Excuse me... Christine... !

She looks out, waiting with the door open.

NICHOLAS
Hi. Didn't get a chance to say goodbye.

CHRISTINE
That's my fault. I get too worked up at these. You do know... that's not my name.

NICHOLAS
I didn't know what else to call you.

CHRISTINE
Claire.

NICHOLAS
Claire. Pleased to meet you.

He holds out his hand. She shakes.

(CONTINUED)

CHRISTINE
I have to get to the airport...

NICHOLAS
Where are you going?

CHRISTINE
I have another game starting in Saudi Arabia. It's just a walk-on this time though. Bit-part.

NICHOLAS
What about dinner sometime, when you get back? Would that be... ?

CHRISTINE
(pause)
Is this something you're interested in? I'm not really that person I was.

NICHOLAS
I realize. Maybe you could... tell me a little about yourself.

CHRISTINE
Like, what... my favorite color... ?

NICHOLAS
Where are you from?

CHRISTINE
Originally, Connecticut.

NICHOLAS
Big family... small?

CHRISTINE
One brother, one sister.

NICHOLAS
Studied acting, I assume?

CHRISTINE
Julliard, yeah.

NICHOLAS Single?

CHRISTINE
Yes.

NICHOLAS
Boyfriend?

CHRISTINE
No.

(CONTINUED)

NICHOLAS
Underwear?

CHRISTINE Always.

NICHOLAS
See how much I've learned already?

Nicholas smiles. Christine smiles.

NICHOLAS
Will you let me keep you company to the airport?

She considers.

She moves over. Nicholas gets in beside her, shuts the door. The cab drives away, into the nighttime city.

THE END